Survey Shows Rhinebeck Feels Span Great Tie With Kingston

Steel Work Is to Start Soon on Link Seen as Boon to Both Sides of River

By CHARLES R. DOUGLAS

Neighborly sentiment and a general feeling of optimism for the years ahead after opening of the Kingston-Rhinebeck bridge were noted in northern Dutchess county this week as workmen progressed toward completion of the sub-structure and trusswork is under way.

Form of the span now shows all the way across from west to east abutment, and soon, enough work will be done in the river to allow steelwork to continue across.

Meanwhile, a random survey of opinion in the Rhinebeck area indicated that people there, much the same as those on the west side of the Hudson, are looking toward mutual progress in the region.

BOTH RHINEBECK and Kingston and the areas around them, many agreed, will find new interest in each other because the bridge will facilitate travel and open the way for new community growth on both sides of the river.

Super-structure has progressed to the riverfront on the west side and work on the eight river piers has reached the point where they are expected to be completed by the end of October, Jess Comer, project manager for the Merritt-Chapman & Scott Corp., of New York, sub-structure contractor, said this week.

All of the east-side piers are under construction and four are about completed, to date. All sub-structure work is due to be finished in November. The bridge is scheduled to be finished in November, 1956.

Mayor Walter F. Wheeler, of Rhinbeck, appeared to tap sentiment as well as anyone this week when he said that he has no doubt of a "substantial population increase," in northern Dutchess county soon after the bridge is opened.

A SURVEY conducted by Malcolm Pirnie, of New York, in conjunction with Rhinebeck's negotiations for its own water supply system, the mayor said, indicated a population increase of 100 per cent for the northern Dutchess area in five years.

This find, he noted, was based on studies and statistics in other regions under similar conditions. Rhinebeck seeks to acquire a water system from a privately operated company and hopes to take it over by Dec. 1, he said.

THE MAYOR noted increases in real estate values in the Rhinebeck area, and said, "People are buying up land." The region also hears "talk of new developments" in the section north and northwest of the village.

Walter J. Harder, operator of Beekman Arms, the nation's oldest hotel, which today stands as an attractive landmark in the village, said: 'I think the bridge will be a big help. It will be a great asset to developing this section as a residential area."

Various areas, Harder felt, would be taken over by housing developers, who would build "homes of substantial character, and in keeping with the historical value of the vicinity."

RHINEBECK, he said is a fine residential community and he felt it should and would remain so. He foresaw trade increases in retail stores, and believed there would be great increases in travel both ways because of the shorter distance by road between the Kingston and northern Dutchess regions.

A. R. Sherman, a Beekman Arms employe, said he thought the bridge would be a big help to both areas. "I'm for it 100 per cent," he said.

MAJORIE COSTAS, manager of the Village Restaurant, felt the bridge would be helpful to both the Rhinebeck and Kingston areas, especially "during the winter when the ferry isn't running. She could see much benefit to the community of Rhinebeck in the years to come, she said.

William Wilson Savage said "I don't see how it can fail to help. There will be more people in the area, and property values will rise as Rhinebeck becomes more residential." Persons working at IBM, he said as an example, will be able to live in the Rhinebeck area and be to work in 15 minutes. He noted that many in the area now work at the Poughkeepsie IBM plant.

Mrs. Foster Teator, of the Hudson Valley Department Store, Rhinebeck, said "I think it's a wonderful thing. I don't see how it can do anything else but promote good will on both sides of the river." She also felt it would be handy for IBM workers.

Harriet Schaehrer, of the same store, considered the bridge "a good idea," and felt that time would tell its full value to the region. "We will see the other side more often," she said.

A RESIDENT of Rhinebeck, who withheld his name, said he felt that since Kingston is the larger community, it would gain much more than Rhinebeck, but he feld both would gain.

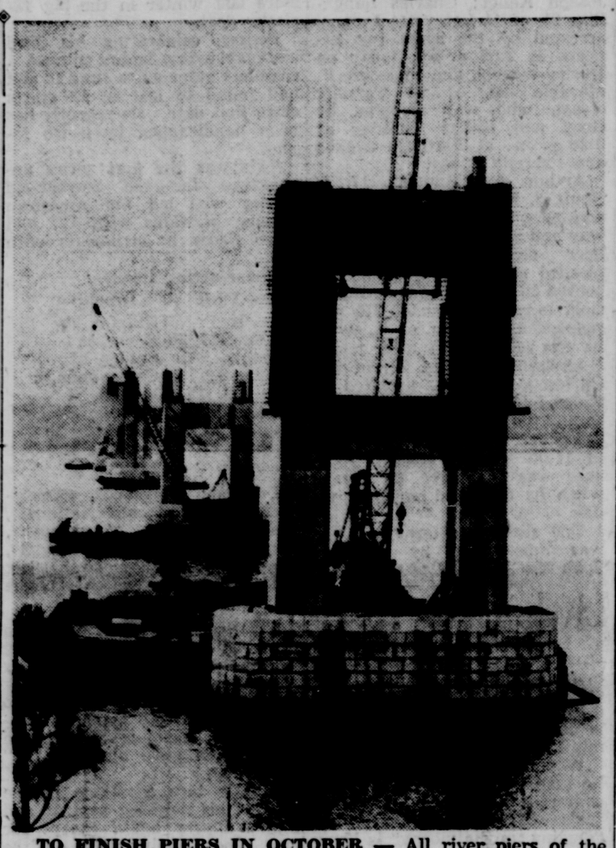

"We'll get more Sunday visitors, and there'll be more on the other side, undoubtedly," he said. Another, who did not want to be identified with the statement, said he felt opening of the bridge "Will make real estate here go sky high."

A RESTAURANT employe, who said she preferred not to be quoted, said she felt the bridge would offer opportunities similar to those in the days when the ferry operated until late night. In this respect, she felt, it would be helpful to those who worked on the west side of the river.

Elizabeth Tybus, of the Rhinecliff Hotel, was not so optimistic as to how the bridge would affect the Rhinecliff area. She didn't feel it would be of any immediate help to the hotel, but added, "maybe eventually."

OTHER REPORTS in the area indicated a new interest in real

Sultan Would Quit, Names Conditions

Rabat, French Morocco, Sept. 30 (AP)—Embattled Sultan Mohammed Ben Moulay Arafa offered today to quit the Moroccan throne if he can turn his powers over to a member of his own family.

The first public break in the 74-year-old ruler's determination to keep the post the French gave him two years ago came after French Resident General Pierre Boyer De Latour Du Moulin ordered the arrest of his chief aide, Protocol Chief Abder Rarahman El Hajoui.

EL HAJOUI sped off in his white Cadillac before dawn toward Casablanca, two jeeploads of police in hot pursuit. Boyer De Latour charged the protocol chief, a Europeanized man in his mid-thirties, had exercised "inadmissible pressure" on the Sultan who refused to quit.

Although Moulay Arafa attempted to put conditions on his long expected departure, his troubled hold on the throne appeared to be drawing rapidly to an end.

FRENCH PREMIER Edgar Faure's government has promised Moroccan Nationalists to remove the old man as the first step in a settlement to end the violence in the North African protectorate and give it some measure of self-rule.

Moulay Arafa has been the chief Nationalist target since the French exiled his nephew, Sultan Hohammed Ben Youssef, and put the old man on the throne.

Moulay Arafa's offer to quit was contained in a letter to

2 in Kidnap Case Are Free in $10,000 Bail

Greenwood, Miss., Sept. 30 (AP)—Roy Bryant and John W. Milam, charged with kidnaping the 14-year-old Chicago boy they were found innocent of murdering, walked free under $10,000 bonds today.

County Judge Charles Pollard set the bonds after the two men waived the expected preliminary hearing.

Bryant, 24, and his 36-year-old half-brother strode from Leflore county jail with their attorneys. Bryant carried a paper sack containing personal effects. Milam carried nothing.

The men's wives did not appear at the jail when the men gained freedom.

Leflore County Judge Charles Pollard ordered the hearing after defense attorneys for the two storekeepers failed to agree with the district attorney on the amount of bond needed.

An all-white male jury at Sumner in neighboring Tallahatchie county took 67 minutes last week to find the half-brothers innocent of murdering Emmett Louis Till.

Two Leflore county deputies testified at the murder trial that Bryant and Milam admitted kidnaping Till from the farm of his share-cropper uncle, Mose Wright, on Aug. 28 but insisted they released him unharmed when it turned out he was not the one who allegedly whistled and made an indecent proposal to Bryant's pretty 21-year-old wife.

Three days later a body found in the muddy Tallahatchie river was identified as Till's, but defense witnesses said it showed

Open House Monday Marks Start of 75th Anniversary of Kingston Phone Service

Making a telephone call nowadays is a relatively simple task.

But behind this simple operation lies a whole world of complex telephone equipment and well-trained specialists acting in concert to make telephoning easier.

Kingston area residents will get a fascinating behind-the-scenes glimpse of telephone equipment and personnel during an open house at the central office building, 11-15 West O'Reilly street, Monday through Thursday, from 4 p. m. to 9 p. m.

The open house is part of the telephone company's observance of the 75th anniversary of telephone service in Kingston.

Leonard W. Herrick, local manager for the telephone company, has invited all area residents to visit the telephone building and meet the folks who provide their service. "We will be honored to be your hosts and make your acquaintance," he said.

Because of work going on in the building Mr. Herrick requested visitors to use the West O'Reilly street entrance.

Telephone girls in period costumes will welcome guests to the building and escort them through the structure. Others will be stationed at strategic locations to explain the operation of equipment and answer questions.

Aiding Mr. Herrick during the four days of open house will be Miss Florence A. Bogovich and Mrs. Isabell M. Schoonmaker, chief operators; William Stopher, Jr., plant chief, and Francis H. Law, chief testman in Kingston for the American Telephone and Telegraph Company.

Visitors will see the intricate equipment and thousands of feet of wire that is the "heart" of Kingston's telephone service, and

Stang Salutes U. S. Press Week

Mayor Frederick H. Stang today issued a proclamation in behalf of National Newspaper Week to be observed from Oct. 1 to 8, and noted that Oct. 8 is to be observed as Newspaper Boy Day.

The mayor noted that the slogan of this year's observance of the week is, "Your newspaper fights for your right to know," and this he said, "expresses well the responsibility which our press corps has undertaken, and which it performs so well."

Of the newspaper boy, he said, it is fitting that they should have a day on which to be honored as "the Junior merchants," who perform a valuable public service in distributing newspapers.

Camp's Homer Gives Brooks Two in First

Brooklyn, Sept. 30 (AP)—Roy Campanella, held hitless in the first two games, slammed a 360-foot home run into the right center field stands in the first inning today to give the Dodgers a 2-0 lead over the Yankees in the third game of the World Series. The Yanks had won the first two series games.

THE YANKS went down in order in the first inning but Brooklyn again scored first.

Turley walked Pee Wee Reese, the second man he faced, and fanned Duke Snider. Then Roy Campanella drove a home run into the left center field stands to put the Dodgers ahead. It was his first hit of the series. Furillo flied out to end the inning.

In a surprise switch, Manager Casey Stengel of the Yankees named Mickey Mantle, his injured center fielder, to start today's third World Series game against the Dodgers.

Stengel made the switch after he had given newsmen a starting lineup that had Bob Cerv in center and batting in third position.

MANTLE MISSED the first two games because of a leg injury.

Cerv was switched to left field and led off the batting order. Mantle went into the clean-up fourth spot in the order with catcher Yogi Berra moving up to third. Irv Noren, who played center and left field in the first two games, was benched.

There was a threat of scattered showers as the teams took the field with righthander Bob Turley of the Yankees trying to make it three straight against Brooklyn's lefthanded Johnny Podres.

The skies were heavy when the Brooks took the first batting

Denver, Sept. 30 (AP)—The direction of government shifted back to Denver today as President Eisenhower continued to improve from his heart attack and his chief deputy flew here from Washington.

At the same time, one of his principal physicians added to the growing evidence Eisenhower will retire at the end of his present term by saying if he were the President he "wouldn't want to run again."

Dr. Paul Dudley White, asked whether it would be possible for the President to run again, told a national television audience:

"MANY THINGS are possible that may not be advisable. It is up to him to make the decision. He may or may not have complete recovery. . . . If I were in his shoes I wouldn't want to run again, having seen the strain."

A bit later, in its customary 7 a. m. (MST) medical bulletin, Eisenhower's doctors at Fitzsimons Army Hospital here reported he enjoyed "an excellent night"—their first use of that word since his heart attack last Saturday. Previously they have termed his nights "comfortable" or "very comfortable."

For the first time also, the medical men said the President spent the night outside an oxygen tent, sleeping "almost continuously from 9 p. m. to 6:30 a. m." Heretofore he has been spending most of the day outside the oxygen tent but returning to it for assurance of nightly rest.

"HIS PROGRESS continues to be satisfactory without complication," the medical bulletin added.

The Boston heart specialist, who attended Eisenhower here and now receives twice-daily telephone reports in Boston on his condition from the President's medical staff, was interviewed on the NBC show "Today."

The decision of Sherman Adams, the assistant to the President, to join the Denver White House party, spelled the virtual end of any possible plans to delegate any of Eisenhower's authority during his illness.

ADAMS IS DUE here between 6 and 6:30 p. m. (MST) from a cabinet meeting in Washington over which Vice President Nixon is presiding.

Dr. White said it remains to be seen how active the President can be in the future. He said signs from the bedside are "very encouraging" and that the President's morale is good.

President Eisenhower's personal friends said the arrival of Adams will dispel any doubt that the reins of government will be kept firmly in hand until he is able to assume active direction of policy.

That the date when the President will be at the helm of his administration is not far off was indicated in the latest bulletins from his doctors, relayed to

Po'keepsie Police Claim Man in Shoplifting Ring

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Sept. 30 (AP)—A New York city man was booked on grand larceny charges today in the theft of two expensive men's suits from a local store. Police say he is part of a shoplifting ring operating in the area.

William Murphy, 31, an unemployed cook, of the Hotel Hanover, 43rd and 6th avenue, New York city, was arrested last night as he walked along the street carrying a briefcase. In the case, police said, were two expertly folded suits of clothes valued at $115 each.

At least five local merchants complained last night that articles were being taken from their stores, open until 9 p. m., on Thursday nights.

Articles claimed to be missing included an electric heater, typewriters, a radio, radio parts, and hearing aids.

Murphy was held without bail for a hearing later today.

Police sent out an eight-state alarm for the apprehension of three other men said to be part of the shoplift ring.

Little Help Is Seen To Balance Budget

Washington, Sept. 30 (AP)—If Secretary of the Treasury George Huhphrey realizes his ambition to balance the federal budget, it looks like he will have to do it without any more big help from the heavy-spending Pentagon.

Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson, who has been nudged steadily in recent weeks by Humphrey and budget director Rowland Hughes to come up with a billion dollar savings in spending this fiscal year, quashed that idea yesterday in a letter to a senator and in news conference comments.

WILSON, answering some pointed questions by Sen. Lyndon Johnson (D.-Tex.) about what was behind reports of administration insistence on more savings in military spending, said:

1. A new and "very complete review" now indicates that spending for the year ending next June 30 will total 34½ billion dollars. That is above the 34 billion goal originally sought, though Wilson says that goal still is kept in mind. There are no plans to go below the 34 billion level (which means that the Humphrey-Hughes hope is out, as far as Wilson's department is concerned).

2. Wilson knows of no one in the executive branch of government "who advocates cutting the bone and muscle of the nation's defenses for any purpose."

WITHIN two hours after publication of Wilson's letter to Johnson, Humphrey hastened to issue a statement for the press. He said he was "in full accord with the program outlined" by Wilson and that "a reduction in expenditures which would require an alteration of that (basic military) program was never in contemplation."

Then Humphrey added that, as he had said before, "our hope of balancing the budget lies in the combination of two things: First, the possibility of increasing government revenue; second, the continual, day-after-day and everyday effort of everyone in the government to eliminate every expenditure which properly can be saved."

Wilson, without the benefit of Humphrey's statement, already had expressed a somewhat similar view in his news conference. Said he:

"THERE'S NO WAY of balancing the budget and carrying

MAYOR URGES SUPPORT OF COMMUNITY CHEST—Mayor Frederick H. Stang today proclaimed October as Red Feather Month, and urged all citizens "to be generous" in support of the Community Chest drive. The mayor noted that eight agencies have joined in the united drive and he felt expansion of the area "will increase the demands upon these voluntary agencies." Left to right are George B. Matthews, president of Kingston Area Community Chest, Inc., George Silkworth, advance gifts chairman, Mayor Stang and Christopher D. Morris, general campaign chairman. (Freeman photo)

57 Acres in Area To Be Used for Electronic Study

New York, Sept. 30 (Special)—Fifty-seven acres of land in Hunter and Catskill, to be used for field studies in radar and radio, have been acquired by Columbia University for its School of Engineering, Dr. John R. Dunning, dean, announced today.

The Hunter-Catskill area, which includes one of the taller peaks of the Catskill Mountains, together with a laboratory in Alpine, N. J., and the university's engineering camp near Litchfield, Conn., will form a triangular range to launch the extensive studies.

THE 57-ACRE site and the Alpine laboratory were acquired from the estate of the late Major Edwin H. Armstrong, the inventor of FM radio and long a professor of electrical engineering at Columbia. The three installations will enable the university to conduct research in radiation and propagation of various types of radio waves, particularly with respect to their behavior in the atmosphere, ionosphere and upper atmosphere.

Dean Dunning said the new set-up would be made available for projects of both the armed services and industry and that it will provide a valuable extension of laboratory facilities in radio and electronics research.

Survey Shows Rhinebeck Feels Span Great Tie With Kingston

Steel Work Is to Start Soon on Link Seen as Boon to Both Sides of River

Po'keepsie Police Claim Man in Shoplifting Ring

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Sept. 30 (AP)—A New York city man was booked on grand larceny charges today in the theft of two expensive men's suits from a local store. Police say he is part of a shoplifting ring operating in the area.

William Murphy, 31, an unemployed cook, of the Hotel Hanover, 43rd and 6th avenue, New York city, was arrested last night as he walked along the street carrying a briefcase. In the case, police said, were two expertly folded suits of clothes valued at $115 each.

At least five local merchants complained last night that articles were being taken from their stores, open until 9 p. m., on Thursday nights.

Articles claimed to be missing included an electric heater, typewriters, a radio, radio parts, and hearing aids.

Murphy was held without bail for a hearing later today.

Police sent out an eight-state alarm for the apprehension of three other men said to be part of the shoplift ring.

Little Help Is Seen To Balance Budget

Washington, Sept. 30 (AP)—If Secretary of the Treasury George Huhphrey realizes his ambition to balance the federal budget, it looks like he will have to do it without any more big help from the heavy-spending Pentagon.

Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson, who has been nudged steadily in recent weeks by Humphrey and budget director Rowland Hughes to come up with a billion dollar savings in spending this fiscal year, quashed that idea yesterday in a letter to a senator and in news conference comments.

WILSON, answering some pointed questions by Sen. Lyndon Johnson (D.-Tex.) about what was behind reports of administration insistence on more savings in military spending, said:

1. A new and "very complete review" now indicates that spending for the year ending next June 30 will total 34½ billion dollars. That is above the 34 billion goal originally sought, though Wilson says that goal still is kept in mind. There are no plans to go below the 34 billion level (which means that the Humphrey-Hughes hope is out, as far as Wilson's department is concerned).

2. Wilson knows of no one in the executive branch of government "who advocates cutting the bone and muscle of the nation's defenses for any purpose."

WITHIN two hours after publication of Wilson's letter to Johnson, Humphrey hastened to issue a statement for the press. He said he was "in full accord with the program outlined" by Wilson and that "a reduction in expenditures which would require an alteration of that (basic military) program was never in contemplation."

Then Humphrey added that, as he had said before, "our hope of balancing the budget lies in the combination of two things: First, the possibility of increasing government revenue; second, the continual, day-after-day and everyday effort of everyone in the government to eliminate every expenditure which properly can be saved."

Wilson, without the benefit of Humphrey's statement, already had expressed a somewhat similar view in his news conference. Said he:

"THERE'S NO WAY of balancing the budget and carrying

MAYOR URGES SUPPORT OF COMMUNITY CHEST—Mayor Frederick H. Stang today proclaimed October as Red Feather Month, and urged all citizens "to be generous" in support of the Community Chest drive. The mayor noted that eight agencies have joined in the united drive and he felt expansion of the area "will increase the demands upon these voluntary agencies." Left to right are George B. Matthews, president of Kingston Area Community Chest, Inc., George Silkworth, advance gifts chairman, Mayor Stang and Christopher D. Morris, general campaign chairman. (Freeman photo)

57 Acres in Area To Be Used for Electronic Study

New York, Sept. 30 (Special)—Fifty-seven acres of land in Hunter and Catskill, to be used for field studies in radar and radio, have been acquired by Columbia University for its School of Engineering, Dr. John R. Dunning, dean, announced today.

The Hunter-Catskill area, which includes one of the taller peaks of the Catskill Mountains, together with a laboratory in Alpine, N. J., and the university's engineering camp near Litchfield, Conn., will form a triangular range to launch the extensive studies.

THE 57-ACRE site and the Alpine laboratory were acquired from the estate of the late Major Edwin H. Armstrong, the inventor of FM radio and long a professor of electrical engineering at Columbia. The three installations will enable the university to conduct research in radiation and propagation of various types of radio waves, particularly with respect to their behavior in the atmosphere, ionosphere and upper atmosphere.

Dean Dunning said the new set-up would be made available for projects of both the armed services and industry and that it will provide a valuable extension of laboratory facilities in radio and electronics research.

Cragan Gets 3 Months, Warion Pays $100 Fine

Joseph A. Cragan, 65, of 105 South Manor avenue, charged with a violation dealing with possession of policy slips, was sentenced to three months in jail and Edward A. Warion, 55, of 124 Newkirk avenue, was fined $100 and was given a suspended sentence of a month in jail on a similar charge in county court Thursday.

The two were among several picked up by officials last May in a raid on a lottery operation involving Kingston and Poughkeepsie men.

Attorney William A. Kaercher appeared for the two. It was noted that because of it was Warion's first offense, he drew the fine and suspended sentence.

Judge William A. Kelly indicated that he imposed the jail sentence on Cragan because of a previous conviction. Kaercher said Cragan was ill and asked leniency, and held that a severe sentence would have serious health results.

Bail was exonerated in each case.

Four Speeders Fined by Gold

Four drivers were fined on speeding charges in city court Thursday.

Special City Judge Harry Gold fined three of them $15 each and imposed a suspended fine of $10 on the other after trial.

Those who paid the $15 fines were Robert L. Marks, 29, of Tillson, who was arrested on the Boulevard at 9:41 p. m., yesterday by Officers Gilbert Gray and Joseph Keller; Charles Sangaline, 21, of 44 Lafayette avenue, arrested by the same two officers at 2:09 a. m., today on Hurley avenue, and Theodore F. Marable, 20, of 90 Farrelly street, who was arrested by Gray and Keller Tuesday at 9:48 p. m., at Flatbush avenue and Farrelly street.

Arthur J. Granquist, 17, of Route 2, Box 81, Kingston, who was arrested Sunday at Broadway and St. James street by Officer Gurnsey Burger, Jr., pleaded not guilty when he appeared in court Monday. Judge Gold imposed a fine of $10 and suspended payment of it, when he was found guilty after trial.

Lawrence Shultis, 31, of 248 Clifton avenue, was arrested by Helen Shultis on a third degree assault charge, following a call for police to 248 Clifton avenue at 11:50 p. m. yesterday. The case was put over to Oct. 6 when he appeared in court today.

The district attorney's office was represented by Attorney John E. Gotelli.

on all the activities unless there's more income than has been forecast or something else happens differently. I think the big thing is that we have not changed our military program."

Woven into other comments he made at other points in the conference, Wilson observed that: The responsibility for "digging up the money" is Humphrey's; he has "never seen any forecast of income;" he doesn't know what other departments of government can do in meeting Humphrey's request for finding little economies that add up to a big savings.

The Pentagon leader said "no one disputes our figures." He said he gave Humphrey and Hughes "the facts as I saw them." And, when newsmen pressed him with questions, Wilson declared:

"I'VE NO disagreement with George Humphrey. . . . George takes the position that if this is the best we can do, why, he accepts it."

In his letter to Johnson, chairman of the Senate Armed Services Preparedness subcommittee, Wilson referred to "changes" made in the budget after its submission to Congress last January. One of these changes included Congress' addition of extra funds to increase marine corps strength to 215,000 men. Wilson subsequently ordered the extra funds impounded while the Pentagon reviews the need for using the extra money.

He said yesterday that "there's no sense in going up to 215,000 if we're going right down again" a little later, indicating that the study is still under way.

Yankee to Wed

New York, Sept. 30 (AP)—Yankee first baseman Eddie Robinson and a pretty school teacher, Betty Jane Farlow, got a marriage license today — but don't plan to wed until the World Series ends. He said they plan to be married in a civil ceremony Oct. 6 at Monroe, N. Y. Robinson, 34, a native of Paris, Tex., was previously married to Elayne Elder. They were divorced in Florida in 1952. It will be the first marriage for Miss Farlow, 23. She was born in Pittsburgh.

Zimmer Benched

Brooklyn, Sept. 30 (AP)—Don Zimmer, Brooklyn Dodger second baseman benched because the New York Yankees are using a righthanded pitcher today, declared "if I can't play here I want to play somewhere else." The infielder did not conceal his irritation at the action of Manager Walter Alston in benching him. "I'm sick of sitting around, playing one week, sitting out the next," he snapped.

Allen in Cairo

Cairo, Egypt, Sept. 30 (AP)—Assistant Secretary of State George Allen arrived today for urgent consultations on Egypt's plans to buy arms from the Soviet bloc. "I have come to understand Egyptian policy and to clarify American policy," Allen said. "I expect to have talks with American officials and I also expect to meet Egyptian officials."

Camp's Homer

practice but they had cleared before the Yanks started to warm up, it was warm and muggy, something like Wednesday.

Manager Walter Alston made one shift in the Dodger lineup that lost the first two games at Yankee Stadium. He benched second baseman Don Zimmer, moved Junior Gilliam in from the outfield to play second and started Sandy Amoros in left field. Amoros, a lefthanded hitting Cuban had a season batting average of .247.

THE BENCHED Zimmer didn't take his demotion too well. He complained that he had to hear the news second-hand from the club's road secretary telling newsmen.

"If I can't play here, I want to play some place else," he said. "I'm sick of sitting out a week, playing a week and sitting out another week."

Amoros had been placed in the lineup to give the Dodgers more lefthanded batting power against Turley, a fire-balling righthander with a 17-13 season record.

Alston revealed that his order would be the same as in the first two games, with Amoros batting eighth in Zimmer's place.

ALSTON SAID tomorrow's Brooklyn pitcher at Ebbets Field would be Carl Erskine (11-8) the clever righthander who struck out 14 Yanks in the third game in 1953 to set a series record. Erskine has been bothered by arm trouble or he would have started one of the earlier games.

For tomorrow's fourth game, Stengel nominated Don Larsen (9-2) another righthander, who came to the Yanks from Baltimore last winter in the big 18-player deal.

Podres, celebrating his 23rd birthday today, hadn't pitched a complete game since June 14 and had failed to last in 13 starts since that date. He recently has been handicapped by a rib injury.

This was the first series appearance for the 25-year-old Turley who led the American League in walks with 177 and Herb Score in strikeouts with 210.

The starting lineups:

New York	Brooklyn
Cerv, lf	Gilliam, 2b
McDougald, 3b	Reese, ss
Berra, c	Snider, cf
Mantle, cf	Campanella, c
Skowron, 1b	Furillo, rf
Howard, rf	Hodges, 1b
Martin, 2b	Robinson, 3b
Rizzuto, ss	Amoros, lf
Turley, p	Podres, p

Umpires: Honochick (American), plate; Dascoli (National), first; Summers (American), second; Ballanfant (National), third; Flaherty (American), left field; Donatelli (National) right field.

STENGEL'S DECISION to use Mantle was made shortly before the Yankees finished their pre-game workout. Mantle came to him and said he felt ready to play. The Yankee manager tested Mantle running around the bases, then gave him the "go" sign.

Mantle tore a muscle in the back of his right leg Sept. 16 and didn't appear again except for two pinch hitting jobs on the final day of the regular season. He insisted he could swing freely but was troubled running.

The U. S. mint at Phinadelphia, Pa, has been in continuous operation since its establishment in 1792.

No Rush Is Seen For Renewal of Operator Licenses

Deadline day to renew motor vehicle operator licenses which expire at midnight today found traffic at the Motor Vehicle Bureau office, 32 Main street, "moderately light," according to Ralph Post, deputy county clerk.

The office staff was kept fairly busy issuing the renewals this morning, Mr. Post said, but it was "not the usual rush." He said a line of about 15 or 20 persons kept moving steadily to the windows before 12 o'clock noon.

APPROXIMATELY 15,000 license renewals have been processed in the last two months, Mr. Post reported.

He said he felt news stories in the Freeman requesting operators to review licenses early and avoid the rush "had done a very good job" in curtailing the usual last minute crush at the bureau's office.

The office was scheduled to remain open until 5 p. m. today but under a new state law the office will be closed Saturday.

Operators whose licenses expire Sept. 30 must secure renewals before 5 p. m. today in order to legally drive a car over the weekend.

Trailer Case Is Put Over to Oct. 5

City Judge Raymond J. Mino today adjourned until Oct. 5, the case of Christine Oliver, 43, of 39 Taylor street, who was arrested Sept. 22 on a charge dealing with alleged failure to license a trailer camp.

The adjournment was permitted, it was indicated, on condition that the case be disposed of at that time.

Attorney Thomas F. Saccoman appears for the defendant and John E. Gotelli for the district attorney's office.

Authorities said the defendant operates a camp of three trailers at Taylor street and Hurley avenue.

James Johnson, of 920 Mooney Road, Burlington, N. J., who was arrested at 1:20 a. m., today by Officers Joseph Kivlan and Joseph Keller on a charge that he was speeding on Broadway, forfeited $15 bail through failure to appear in city court.

Jurors to Meet On Monday Night

Final plans for the annual fall banquet scheduled Wednesday, Oct. 5, at the Flamingo, Route 9W, will be made during the regular monthly meeting of the Ulster County Grand Juror's Association Monday night at the Court House. The meeting starts at 8 p. m.

President Thomas J. Murphy said motion pictures of a tour of the state of New Jersey will be shown.

Assistant District Attorney John Schick will address the October 5 banquet. Reservations must be made by Saturday, Oct. 1.

Body of Vermont Man, 52, Found; Death Accidental

The body of Armand Joseph La Course, 52, of Burlington, Vt., was discovered in the bath of a Kerhonkson apartment he occupied alone at 7 p. m., Thursday, according to Ellenville state police.

Troopers said that Mr. La Course apparently was coming out of the shower stall when he slipped on the wet floor and struck the back of his head. The body was found by a neighbor, Vernon Coddington of Kerhonkson.

CORONER Dr. Charles Rosenstock of Ellenville and Dr. William R. Galeota of Kerhonkson investigated. A verdict of accidental death caused by head injuries was issued by Dr. Rosenstock.

Mr. La Course's relatives were notified and the body was removed to the Humiston Funeral Home, Kerhonkson.

Two in Kidnap

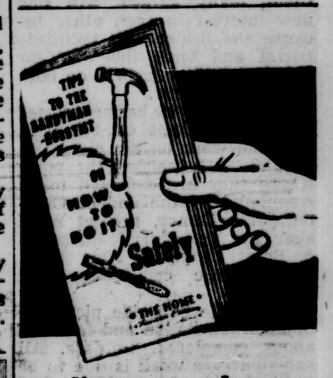

signs of having been in the water anywhere from eight to 25 days and therefore could not be his.

The verdict left hanging the question of Till's whereabouts and gave rise to rumors that he might still be alive. Sheriff H. C. Strider in nearby Charleston said he heard Till was in Detroit but added: "As far as knowing anything definite, I don't know it."

At Detroit, Mrs. Mamie Bradley, the boy's mother, called the rumors a "cruel hoax" and said she was willing to have the body exhumed for an examination.

Church Buys Land

Philadelphia, Sept. 30 (AP)—The United Lutheran Church in America announced today the purchase of a 16-acre tract of land in Germantown as the site for a new $1,500,000 headquarters. Dr. H. Torrey Walker, executive secretary of the church's board of publications, said an agreement had been entered into with Albert M. Greenfield & Co., to purchase the site for $210,000. In addition to the board of publication's office the center will provide space for the board of parish education, board of deaconess work, Women's Missionary Society, Lutheran League of America and several offices of the National Lutheran Council. They have a total of more than 300 workers.

Think It Through

By EDWARD F. HUTTON

Chief Justice Warren, of the Supreme Court, said that some thoughtful persons had begun to wonder "whether ratification of the Bill of Rights could be obtained today if we were faced squarely with the issue." He thought it could, but was not "prepared to dispute with those who believe the issue would provoke great controversy."

Mr. Hutton

What we need is a clear understanding of the Bill of Rights. It confers no powers on Government. Actually, it is a Bill of Restrictions on powers granted when the Constitution was adopted; and we should insist upon Government adhering to its concepts as rigidly as a locomotive clings to its rails.

Under the Sixteenth Amendment, Government can seize our pay checks — without restriction.

Unless this power is limited, Socialism is inevitable. With control of the taxing power, Socialism is impossible.

Mother Asks Return

Houston, Tex., Sept. 30 (AP)—The mother of Dilmus T. Kanady, Houston cotton broker released this week by the Chinese Reds, wired her son today to "please come home." Kanady got off a Pan American Airways plane on Wake Island last night while en route to San Francisco. He refused to board the plane again. "My wife sent Dilmus a wire, asking him to get on the plane and please come home," said Kanady's father, D. T. Kanady. "She signed the telegram 'Love, Mother.'"

Cragan Gets 3 Months, Warion Pays $100 Fine

Joseph A. Cragan, 65, of 105 South Manor avenue, charged with a violation dealing with possession of policy slips, was sentenced to three months in jail and Edward A. Warion, 55, of 124 Newkirk avenue, was fined $100 and was given a suspended sentence of a month in jail on a similar charge in county court Thursday.

The two were among several picked up by officials last May in a raid on a lottery operation involving Kingston and Poughkeepsie men.

Attorney William A. Kaercher appeared for the two. It was noted that because of it was Warion's first offense, he drew the fine and suspended sentence.

Judge William A. Kelly indicated that he imposed the jail sentence on Cragan because of a previous conviction. Kaercher said Cragan was ill and asked leniency, and held that a severe sentence would have serious health results.

Bail was exonerated in each case.

Four Speeders Fined by Gold

Four drivers were fined on speeding charges in city court Thursday.

Special City Judge Harry Gold fined three of them $15 each and imposed a suspended fine of $10 on the other after trial.

Those who paid the $15 fines were Robert L. Marks, 29, of Tillson, who was arrested on the Boulevard at 9:41 p. m., yesterday by Officers Gilbert Gray and Joseph Keller; Charles Sangaline, 21, of 44 Lafayette avenue, arrested by the same two officers at 2:09 a. m., today on Hurley avenue, and Theodore F. Marable, 20, of 90 Farrelly street, who was arrested by Gray and Keller Tuesday at 9:48 p. m., at Flatbush avenue and Farrelly street.

Arthur J. Granquist, 17, of Route 2, Box 81, Kingston, who was arrested Sunday at Broadway and St. James street by Officer Gurnsey Burger, Jr., pleaded not guilty when he appeared in court Monday. Judge Gold imposed a fine of $10 and suspended payment of it, when he was found guilty after trial.

Lawrence Shultis, 31, of 248 Clifton avenue, was arrested by Helen Shultis on a third degree assault charge, following a call for police to 248 Clifton avenue at 11:50 p. m. yesterday. The case was put over to Oct. 6 when he appeared in court today.

The district attorney's office was represented by Attorney John E. Gotelli.

Little Help . . .

on all the activities unless there's more income than has been forecast or something else happens differently. I think the big thing is that we have not changed our military program."

Woven into other comments he made at other points in the conference, Wilson observed that: The responsibility for "digging up the money" is Humphrey's; he has "never seen any forecast of income;" he doesn't know what other departments of government can do in meeting Humphrey's request for finding little economies that add up to a big savings.

The Pentagon leader said "no one disputes our figures." He said he gave Humphrey and Hughes "the facts as I saw them." And, when newsmen pressed him with questions, Wilson declared:

"I'VE NO disagreement with George Humphrey. . . . George takes the position that if this is the best we can do, why, he accepts it."

In his letter to Johnson, chairman of the Senate Armed Services Preparedness subcommittee, Wilson referred to "changes" made in the budget after its submission to Congress last January. One of these changes included Congress' addition of extra funds to increase marine corps strength to 215,000 men. Wilson subsequently ordered the extra funds impounded while the Pentagon reviews the need for using the extra money.

He said yesterday that "there's no sense in going up to 215,000 if we're going right down again" a little later, indicating that the study is still under way.

Yankee to Wed

New York, Sept. 30 (AP)—Yankee first baseman Eddie Robinson and a pretty school teacher, Betty Jane Farlow, got a marriage license today — but don't plan to wed until the World Series ends. He said they plan to be married in a civil ceremony Oct. 6 at Monroe, N. Y. Robinson, 34, a native of Paris, Tex., was previously married to Elayne Elder. They were divorced in Florida in 1952. It will be the first marriage for Miss Farlow, 23. She was born in Pittsburgh.

Zimmer Benched

Brooklyn, Sept. 30 (AP)—Don Zimmer, Brooklyn Dodger second baseman benched because the New York Yankees are using a righthanded pitcher today, declared "if I can't play here I want to play somewhere else." The infielder did not conceal his irritation at the action of Manager Walter Alston in benching him. "I'm sick of sitting around, playing one week, sitting out the next," he snapped.

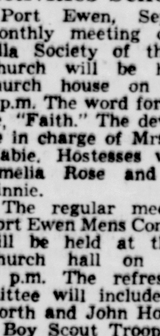

Allen in Cairo

Cairo, Egypt, Sept. 30 (AP)—Assistant Secretary of State George Allen arrived today for urgent consultations on Egypt's plans to buy arms from the Soviet bloc. "I have come to understand Egyptian policy and to clarify American policy," Allen said. "I expect to have talks with American officials and I also expect to meet Egyptian officials."

Think It Through

By EDWARD F. HUTTON

Chief Justice Warren, of the Supreme Court, said that some thoughtful persons had begun to wonder "whether ratification of the Bill of Rights could be obtained today if we were faced squarely with the issue." He thought it could, but was not "prepared to dispute with those who believe the issue would provoke great controversy."

Mr. Hutton

practice but they had cleared before the Yanks started to warm up, it was warm and muggy, something like Wednesday.

Manager Walter Alston made one shift in the Dodger lineup that lost the first two games at Yankee Stadium. He benched second baseman Don Zimmer, moved Junior Gilliam in from the outfield to play second and started Sandy Amoros in left field. Amoros, a lefthanded hitting Cuban had a season batting average of .247.

THE BENCHED Zimmer didn't take his demotion too well. He complained that he had to hear the news second-hand from the club's road secretary telling newsmen.

"If I can't play here, I want to play some place else," he said. "I'm sick of sitting out a week, playing a week and sitting out another week."

Amoros had been placed in the lineup to give the Dodgers more lefthanded batting power against Turley, a fire-balling righthander with a 17-13 season record.

Alston revealed that his order would be the same asin the first two games, with Amoros batting eighth in Zimmer's place.

ALSTON SAID tomorrow's Brooklyn pitcher at Ebbets Field would be Carl Erskine (11-8) the clever righthander who struck out 14 Yanks in the third game in 1953 to set a series record. Erskine has been bothered by arm trouble or he would have started one of the earlier games.

For tomorrow's fourth game, Stengel nominated Don Larsen (9-2) another righthander, who came to the Yanks from Baltimore last winter in the big 18-player deal.

Podres, celebrating his 23rd birthday today, hadn't pitched a complete game since June 14 and had failed to last in 13 starts since that date. He recently has been handicapped by a rib injury.

This was the first series appearance for the 25-year-old Turley who led the American League in walks with 177 and Herb Score in strikeouts with 210.

The starting lineups:

New York	Brooklyn
Cerv, lf	Gilliam, 2b
McDougaid, 3b	Reese, ss
Berra, c	Snider, cf
Mantle, cf	Campanella, c
Skowron, 1b	Furillo, rf
Howard, rf	Hodges, 1b
Martin, 2b	Robinson, 3b
Rizzuto, ss	Amoros, lf

Umpires: Honochick (American), plate; Dascoli (National), first; Summers (American), second; Ballanfant (National), third; Flaherty (American), left field; Donatelli (National) right field.

STENGEL'S DECISION to use Mantle was made shortly before the Yankees finished their pre-game workout. Mantle came to him and said he felt ready to play. The Yankee manager tested Mantle running around the bases, then gave him the "go" sign.

Mantle tore a muscle in the back of his right leg Sept. 16 and didn't appear again except for two pinch hitting jobs on the final day of the regular season. He insisted he could swing freely but was troubled running.

No Rush Is Seen For Renewal of Operator Licenses

Deadline day to renew motor vehicle operator licenses which expire at midnight today found traffic at the Motor Vehicle Bureau office, 32 Main street, "moderately light," according to Ralph Post, deputy county clerk.

The office staff was kept fairly busy issuing the renewals this morning, Mr. Post said, but it was "not the usual rush." He said a line of about 15 or 20 persons kept moving steadily to the windows before 12 o'clock noon.

APPROXIMATELY 15,000 license renewals have been processed in the last two months, Mr. Post reported.

He said he felt news stories in the Freeman requesting operators to review licenses early and avoid the rush "had done a very good job" in curtailing the usual last minute crush at the bureau's office.

The office was scheduled to remain open until 5 p. m. today but under a new state law the office will be closed Saturday.

Operators whose licenses expire Sept. 30 must secure renewals before 5 p. m. today in order to legally drive a car over the weekend.

Trailer Case Is Put Over to Oct. 5

City Judge Raymond J. Mino today adjourned until Oct. 5, the case of Christine Oliver, 43, of 39 Taylor street, who was arrested Sept. 22 on a charge dealing with alleged failure to license a trailer camp.

The adjournment was permitted, it was indicated, on condition that the case be disposed of at that time.

Attorney Thomas F. Saccoman appears for the defendant and John E. Gotelli for the district attorney's office.

Authorities said the defendant operates a camp of three trailers at Taylor street and Hurley avenue.

James Johnson, of 920 Mooney Road, Burlington, N. J., who was arrested at 1:20 a. m., today by Officers Joseph Kivlan and Joseph Keller on a charge that he was speeding on Broadway, forfeited $15 bail through failure to appear in city court.

Jurors to Meet On Monday Night

Final plans for the annual fall banquet scheduled Wednesday, Oct. 5, at the Flamingo, Route 9W, will be made during the regular monthly meeting of the Ulster County Grand Juror's Association Monday night at the Court House. The meeting starts at 8 p. m.

President Thomas J. Murphy said motion pictures of a tour of the state of New Jersey will be shown.

Assistant District Attorney John Schick will address the October 5 banquet. Reservations must be made by Saturday, Oct. 1.

Body of Vermont Man, 52, Found; Death Accidental

The body of Armand Joseph La Course, 52, of Burlington, Vt., was discovered in the bath of a Kerhonkson apartment he occupied alone at 7 p. m., Thursday, according to Ellenville state police.

Troopers said that Mr. La Course apparently was coming out of the shower stall when he slipped on the wet floor and struck the back of his head. The body was found by a neighbor, Vernon Coddington of Kerhonkson.

CORONER Dr. Charles Rosenstock of Ellenville and Dr. William R. Galeota of Kerhonkson investigated. A verdict of accidental death caused by head injuries was issued by Dr. Rosenstock.

Mr. La Course's relatives were notified and the body was removed to the Humiston Funeral Home, Kerhonkson.

Two in Kidnap

signs of having been in the water anywhere from eight to 25 days and therefore could not be his.

The verdict left hanging the question of Till's whereabouts and gave rise to rumors that he might still be alive. Sheriff H. C. Strider in nearby Charleston said he heard Till was in Detroit but added: "As far as knowing anything definite, I don't know it."

At Detroit, Mrs. Mamie Bradley, the boy's mother, called the rumors a "cruel hoax" and said she was willing to have the body exhumed for an examination.

Church Buys Land

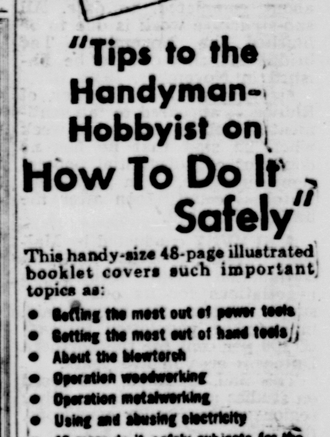

Philadelphia, Sept. 30 (AP)—The United Lutheran Church in America announced today the purchase of a 16-acre tract of land in Germantown as the site for a new $1,500,000 headquarters. Dr. H. Torrey Walker, executive secretary of the church's board of publications, said an agreement had been entered into with Albert M. Greenfield & Co., to purchase the site for $210,000. In addition to the board of publication's office the center will provide space for the board of parish education, board of deaconess work, Women's Missionary Society, Lutheran League of America and several offices of the National Lutheran Council. They have a total of more than 300 workers.

Market Reports On Apple Harvest And Other Crops

According to a report issued from the Newburgh Branch of the State Bureau of Markets, growers report harvesting of McIntosh apples are about completed. Crop estimates may be somewhat less than previously anticipated. This is probably due to the heavy drop reported the last few weeks.

IN MOST OF THE controlled-atmosphere storages, many operators report the rooms have been filled with McIntosh and have been sealed. Those not completely filled with McIntosh expect to seal the rooms this week. Delicious are just starting to be put in these rooms, but will be at least another week before these rooms are sealed.

Crop estimates will be slightly less than first anticipated. Quality is excellent with good color, but prices have been low. Movement is reported good, with shipments to Florida, North and South Carolina, Chicago, Cleveland and for export to South America. Few shipments were made for processing plants to Pennsylvania and Maryland.

GROWERS HARVESTING grapes for processing have reported quality poor to ordinary. Prices are still unconfirmed.

Late Variety Bosc pears are being harvested with quality and good size.

Harvesting of peaches is completed but a few are still in storage. They will be moved out by the end of this week.

It has been brought to the attention of the department that second hand apple boxes are appearing on the markets and being stored with old marks. According to the state law regarding used containers, all old markings should be removed or obliterated.

THE DEPARTMENT has requested the cooperation of all handlers in proper branding and removal of old marks in order to improve the marketing of New York state products.

It was reported that approximately 1,200 carloads of onions remain in the onion areas of Orange county. Movement is reported fair with the market firm to slightly stronger in New York city.

Gets Alaskan Post

Washington, Sept. 30 (AP)—Secretary of the Interior McKay today announced the appointment of Jesse M. Honeywell, a veteran of 22 years government service, as Alaska area administrator for the Bureau of Land Management (BLM). Fred J. Weiler, land officer on the staff of the BLM director here since Oct. 31, 1954, will succeed Honeywell as Washington state supervisor. The changes are effective Nov. 1.

THE RUMINATOR

By HUMPHREY B. NEILL

A Column of Contrary Opinion

Those of us who live in Vermont will doubtless be particularly struck by the strange coincidence in "time" between President Eisenhower's shocking and regrettable heart attack (which would seem to remove him as a candidate next year) and former President Coolidge's crypt message, of August 2nd, 1927, "I do not choose to run for President in nineteen twenty eight."

Aside from the personal aspects of Ike's most unfortunate and lamentable coronary thrombosis (which should not prevent his having many years of enjoyable and well-earned retirement), there are several similarities and differences with the Coolidge era that might be of interest to review.

THE YEARS 1927 and 1955 are frequently mentioned as being somewhat comparable. If you read comments written in late 1927 and during 1928 you find similarities with today's discussions. For example, the farmers' plight was emphasized then, as it is now; while the industrial and stock-market booms were given running headlines.

Just as a minor matter, the Ruminator was struck by the manner in which the New York Times handled the news. In last Sunday's paper, the Times ran a single-column head over the story of Ike's misfortune, while on August 3rd, 1927, the Times ran a three-line heading full across the top of the front page, concerning Cal's 12-word announcement. (The Ruminator is fortunate to have bound editions of the Times for the extraordinary era of "Coolidge to Truman.")

The effect of President Eisenhower's illness might be more lasting than Mr. Coolidge's withdrawal from the political scene because of the significant difference in the socio-political "climate."

SEVERAL STRONG Republican candidates were available in 1928 (Governor Lowden of Illinois, Vice President Dawes, Commerce Secretary Hoover, and other lesser-knowns). In the Democratic field Governor Al Smith was the most conspicuous contender. (Smith ran against Hoover, as you recall.)

There were no radicals or left-wing liberals likely to "cut much ice" in the race. While the stock market naturally felt the surprise of Coolidge's withdrawal (by immediately breaking a number of points, both in August and again late and more seriously in October when Coolidge re-emphasized his refusal to run) there was no prolonged decline. Business activity was jarred "monentarily" but it, too, recovered and forged ahead into the boom years of '28 and '29.

ALL POSSIBLE successful candidates were looked upon as being more or less "friendly to business and Wall Street" so there was no lasting depressing influence in President Coolidge's decision.

Also, it should be mentioned that the Federal Reserve Board stimulated both business and speculation by lowering the rediscount rate and generally adopting an easy money policy. (This, by the way, is looked back upon today as having been an ill-advised strategy. In the light of the subsequent speculative orgy and terrific bust-up, it would have been better if the monetary authorities had not aided the up-surge. It is a complicated story, however, because the Bank of England was pressuring us for easing up in those days, in order to help them in their depressed problems. It is too long to go into here.)

Today, things are quite different, as well as being partially similar.

In the socio-political sphere, there is a vastly greater number of voters who favor a "liberal" candidate. Democratic voters greatly outnumber Republicans.

Secondly, both business and the stock market have been in a towering boom area for sometime. It seems probable to this contrary observer that (as you know from his previous comments) it is about time for a reversal in trends, regardless of events.

WHEN ECONOMIC conditions are in either a boom or in a depression stage, it often takes little more than some psychological disturbance to shift the balance.

It is, of course, too early to attempt any outright predictions of what may arise from Ike's setback in health, but surely it would be prudent to take into consideration that it could be the straw which proved to be the final weight on the boom's back.

Speaking of predictions, it is interesting to note how forecasts can go haywire unexpectedly. Countless predictions, based upon President Ike's second term, will now have to be re-examined in the light of his heart attack. Surely, one is reminded again not to attempt to predict the unpredictable.

Business Association Hears Center Report

Woodstock, Sept. 29 — The Woodstock Business Association met recently at Pinecrest. A report was received concerning the operation of the new information center which was judged highly successful in that it had served the entire community rather than merely being of service and benefit to the Business Association members. It was stated that this was the prime objective not only of the information center but of the Woodstock Business Association itself. The Association is continuing to advance the idea through various media that Woodstock is not a resort, but rather an all-year-'round community. The information center will be closed until the spring. If there is sufficient demand for information, the Association will have it manned around the Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's holidays.

The next meeting of the members will take place on Monday, Oct. 17, when instead of having an evening meeting as has been the custom, the meeting will be held at Deanie's upstairs dining room at 12 noon, for luncheon. Members will be able to order whatever they wish from the regular menu rather than having a special pre-arranged meal. The guest scheduled for the luncheon meeting will be Arnold Blanch who will discuss in detail the proposed "Artists Village" in which he and several friends are interested.

After the meeting members enjoyed a short social hour during which further ideas for the betterment of the association and its work were informally discussed. Ideas will soon be submitted for the new brochure which will have to be published for next year. The association has distributed almost 35,000 of the present brochures which were designed, published and paid for by the Woodstock Business Association. It was stressed that if any business or service wished to become members they will be welcomed and applications can be directed to either Ed Bauman, secretary; Warren Hutty, president; or Joseph Deutsch, treasurer.

Church Service

Woodstock, Sept. 29 — There will be a service of evening prayer and sermon at St. Gregory's Episcopal Church, Route 212, conducted by the Rev. Herald C. Swezy, vicar, Sunday, Oct. 2, at 4 p. m.

Members of the congregation are urged to get on the charter list of builders by subscribing to the building fund now.

Stauble Heads Township Ticket

Sawkill, Sept. 29—Leo Stauble was renominated for the office of supervisor for the town of Kingston at the Republican caucus held in Upper Sawkill school on Saturday. He defeated Michael Haggerty who was also proposed for the post.

George Leedecke, unopposed was nominated for the post of Town Clerk and Herman Schreivogel ,also unopposed was named for the office of Tax Collector.

THE POSITION of Superintendent of Highways was filled by the incumbent, Sylvester Myers.

Others named were Joseph Carcaramo, assessor who defeated Carl Schuerzinger who was also proposed. Mrs. Ludwig Ritzhaupt was designated for the post of School Director.

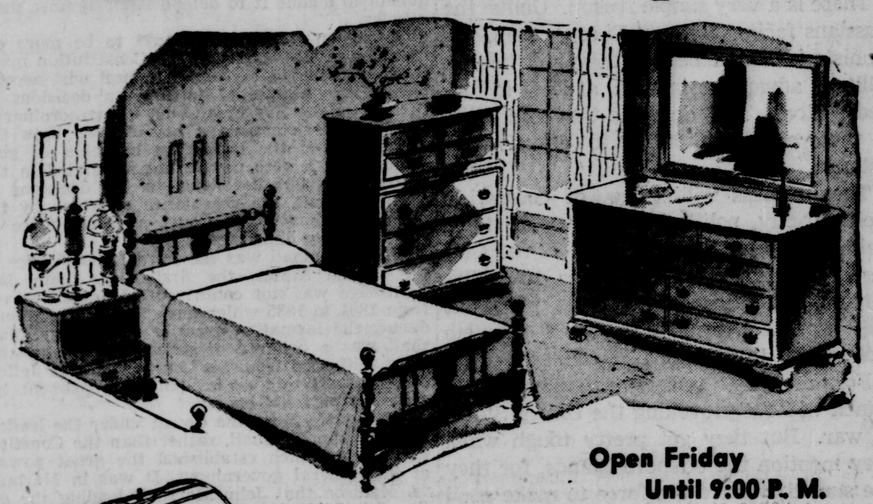

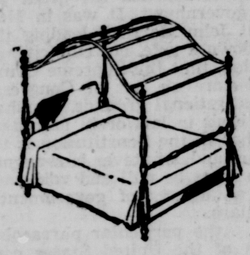

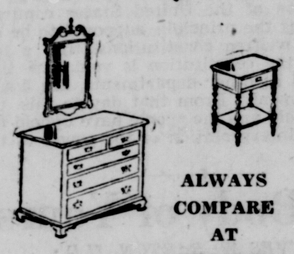

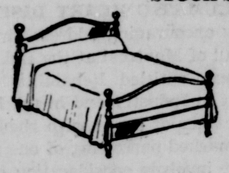

Bernard Smith was named chairman of the meeting and Mrs. Frederick Beecher secretary. A total of 72 enrolled voters attended.

UNRECONSTRUCTED AGGRESSOR

China's Communist leaders must at times feel great annoyance at the "sweetness and light'" campaign being conducted by their Red brethren in Moscow. For it puts the Chinese in an embarrassing spotlight as the world's principal unreconstructed aggressors.

To be sure, the Chinese Reds are making "gestures of good will" by releasing American civilians they never should have held prisoner in the first place. But they have not really altered their basic outlook on the Asian situation.

There is a very simple reason. Unlike the Russians facing Western Europe, the Communists in China believe they still have a military advantage in Asia, at least in limited sectors. They imagine they can move in these areas without really effective resistance.

They profess willingness, of course, to seek strictly political solutions of their claims to Matsu and Quemoy off the Chinese mainland, and to Formosa 100 miles distant. But the only specific proposals they are likely to make are for a complete yielding by the Nationalist Chinese.

Formosa they understand they cannot attack without provoking the United States to war. But they get pretty tough when they mention the offshore islands, for they are sure they have the force to make good their claims if all else fails.

Furthermore, in the vital Indochina sector of Southeast Asia, they sense a soft condition among anti-Communist elements. They are confident, again, that the right kind of help—whether subversive tactics or surreptitious military assistance—can be made to pay off by widening the zone of Communist control.

Confidence born of such convictions as these does not make the leaders of Peiping easily amenable to the quiet tactics of the council table. They are a pretty swaggering lot. And they don't want to lay down the bludgeon so long as they think it might work for them.

But their brothers at the other end of the Red axis are making it difficult. If the Soviet campaign goes much farther, the Chinese may be forced in spite of themselves to seek a genuinely softer line. For the alternative might be to alienate seriously the millions of fence-sitting Asians whose cause they profess to champion.

It's a little hard to sell even a small "just" war when everybody else is for peace.

WEATHER IN THE MAKING

Australia is about to launch a series of experiments to increase its rainfall. It is planning to seed clouds above the watershed of its giant new Snowy Mountains power project with silver iodide. If this method works, the economic consequence will be that rain can be produced at comparatively low cost. Preliminary results will be known in six months.

Producing rain by cloud-seeding has been tried successfully in the United States. But heretofore individual clouds were seeded. This is impractical for producing rain over a large area because the cost of individually treating a large number of clouds is too high.

If the Australian method works maybe meteorologists will turn their attention to making pleasant weather the year round. It would be nice if they could find a method for sealing up clouds so that rain would not fall during weekends. After they learn how to make rain, maybe they'll try to figure out how to produce sunshine.

On second thought, except for helping farmers and industry perhaps it would be better if scientists could not churn out weather too easily. It's rather futile to argue with nature, but imagine the hullabaloo if the weatherman were to mix orders and give Mrs. Jones the weather ordered by Mrs. Brown.

Why is it that those autumn leaves that look so beautiful on the trees can make such a mess of your lawn?

'These Days'

JOHN MARSHALL'S ANNIVERSARY

The celebration of the 200th Anniversary of the birth of John Marshall (born September 24, 1755) this year ought to focus attention upon the peculiar role which the Supreme Court plays in the governmental structure of the United States. No other country possesses a similar institution. No court in Great Britain, for instance, can declare an act of Parliament unconstitutional, although Parliament can and does place restraints upon the monarch.

The nature of the Supreme Court, as defined in the Constitution and as it developed over the years, is a product of our Federal system and the historic fact that each state is sovereign by its own right. Former Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes states this in most cogent language:

". . . The proposed Federal government was of necessity, in view of the existence of the States and of the sentiment which supported them as autonomous within their spheres, to be one of limited powers . . ."

Obviously an arbiter, an umpire, had to be established to protect each state in its rights and at the same time to prevent the Federal government from collapsing from want of authority. There was great difference of opinion among the Founding Fathers as to how much power was to be delegated to the Federal government. Those who followed the ideas of Alexander Hamilton, James Madison and John Jay favored a powerful Federal government; those who followed the judgment of Thomas Jefferson supported the idea of a weak Federal government with considerable emphasis on states' rights.

Hamilton, in "The Federalist," described the Supreme Court, as it appeared in the Constitution, as follows:

". . . The judiciary, on the contrary, has no influence over either the sword or the purse; no direction either of the strength or of the wealth of the society; and can take no active resolution whatever. It may truly be said to have neither force nor will, but merely judgment; and must ultimately depend upon the aid of the executive arm even for the efficacy of its judgments.

"This simple view of the matter suggests several important consequences. It proves incontestably, that the judiciary is beyond comparison the weakest of the three departments of power; that it can never attack with success either of the other two; and that all possible care is requisite to enable it to defend itself against their attacks. . ."

Hamilton wanted the Court to be more effective and stronger than the Constitution made it. That task fell to John Marshall who accomplished it by a series of fundamental decisions. In these days the Supreme Court is extraordinarily powerful; it exercises a power over both the executive and the legislative branches of government by a veto power, not stipulated in the Constitution but developed in the decisions of John Marshall, the acceptance of which by the people has given the Court a moral force of extraordinary dimensions.

John Marshall was the third Chief Justice of the United States, the first being John Jay. (Rutledge was not confirmed.) Marshall served from 1801 to 1835 which gave him a long tenure during the formative years of our history. Marshall was a believer in strong Federal government, differing from his cousin, Thomas Jefferson, who starting as his political opponent became his personal enemy.

It was the Supreme Court, under the leadership of John Marshall, rather than the Constitution itself, which established the great powers of the Federal government. It was in Marbury vs. Madison that John Marshall leading the entire Court laid down a rule, not explicitly stated in the Constitution, that the Supreme Court had the power to declare an Act of Congress null and void on constitutional grounds. Marshall did not establish a basis in law or in precedent; he rather argued that as the Constitution is the supreme law of the land, whatever is repugnant to the Constitution must be null and void and that there must be an agency of government with power so to declare.

He said: ". . . the particular phraseology of the Constitution of the United States confirms and strengthens the principle, supposed to be essential to all written constitutions, that a law repugnant to the constitution is void, and that courts, as well as other departments, are bound by that instrument." From that day to this, the Court has so held and the people have upheld the Court in that interpretation of the power of the Court.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

GIRL WITH RHEUMATIC HEART DISEASE

In an extremely encouraging address given by Dr. Harold N. Segall of Montreal at the Industrial Medicine Conference, entitled Rehabilitation of the Cardiac Patient in Industry and in the Home, we read that the career of a girl with rheumatic heart disease and marked narrowing of one of the valves in the heart involves consideration of her fitness for marriage and motherhood. The plans for life of such a girl are drawn on the assumption that she will live the normal span or very little less. From the statistics it has been found that such young women remain free of symptoms of a disabling degree until they reach the early thirties. This appears to be true no matter what kind of work they do and not uncommonly good tennis players are found among them. Congestion of the heart with swelling of the lower limbs tends to appear in the forties or early fifties. Modern methods of treatment, especially with the drugs which drive excess fluid out of the tissues and so reduce swelling, greatly reduce the degree of illness and prolong life at this stage which may continue well into the sixties or seventies.

Dr. Segall says that he would give such a girl the following advice: "Young lady, one of the four valves in your heart is narrowed. This sounds very bad but it is not as bad as it sounds. The body has wonderful powers of adjustment and your body is making the necessary corrective adjustments. You know this because you now feel well. And now is a good time to plan your career so as to conserve and prolong this sense of well-being. You will be well advised to marry at a young age, close to about 20. Until about 30 or 35 your strength will be at its best. By having your children, usually two, in the first years of marriage, you make good use of your best years to rear them. Then when they can do things for themselves and also for you, the adjustments which you may have to make in your thirties, because you will tend to feel tired more readily than before, can be achieved easily and gracefully. Moreover, the life of a wife and mother is a better one for you than that of a career girl in one of the professions or in business. At home you can do your work at your own speed and take rests whenever you please. At work you must punch a clock and conform to rules which are made for stronger members of the group."

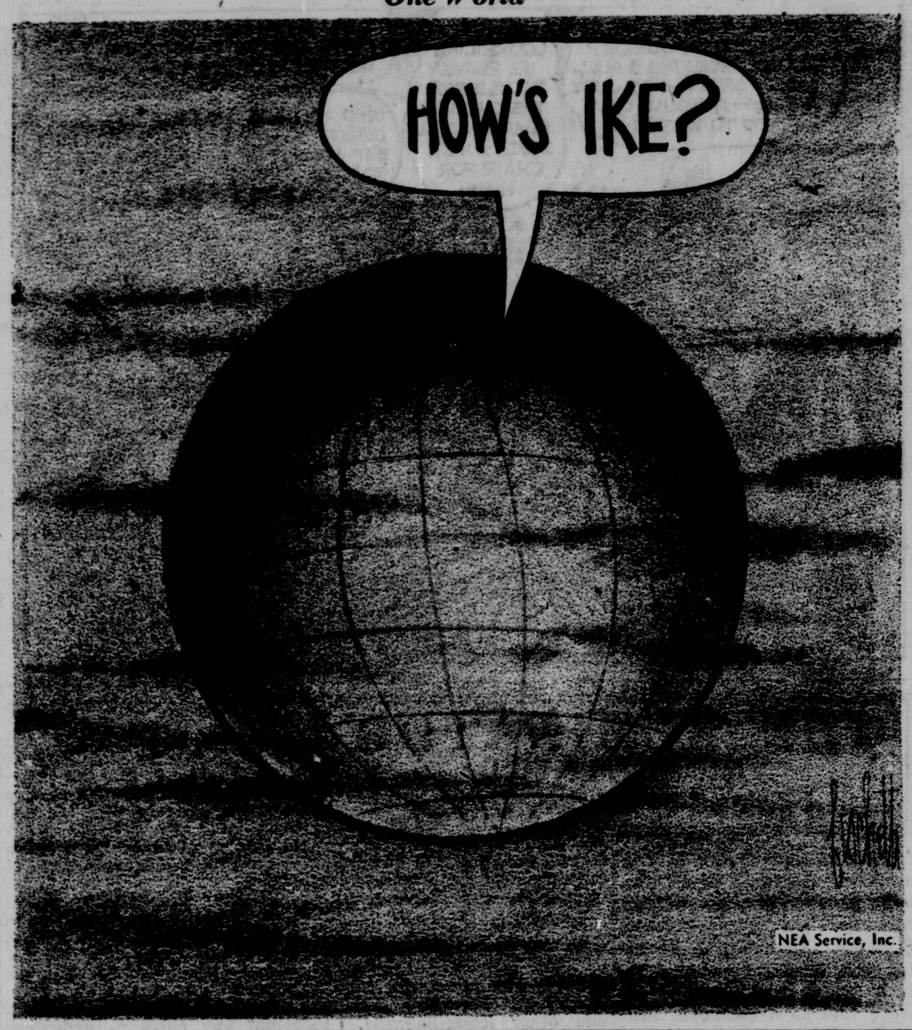

Although modern surgical techniques on correcting defects of the heart valves are becoming increasingly successful, Dr. Segall believes that in such cases as the above girl, operation might be indicated in her early thirties but not until then because even in its present form, the operation involves no greater risk at between 30 and 35 than under 30 years of age.

Larsen's Washington News Notebook

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

Denver — (NEA) — There has been an interesting regressive revolution in aviation.

Remember how those pioneer pilots used to claim that they flew "by the seat of their pants?"

Well, I can report firsthand—more accurately stated as first-seat—that modern flying is right back where these early fliers originally picked it up.

The seat of the pants has returned as the most vital, omnipresent factor in flying in a jet, as any air force "hot pipe" jockey will readily confirm.

This unpremeditated rear-end research project began when I ran into my friend, Lt. Col. Bob Clark, recently in Reno, Nev., and mentioned that I was in a hurry to get to Denver next morning.

He said he had to ferry a T-33 jet trainer back to his home base at Scott Field, Ill., and that I was welcome to ride in the back seat. He had to refuel at Lowery Air Force Base at Denver, anyway.

That is, if I had the necessary Pentagon papers and had taken the special high-altitude physical exam required of all air force jet passengers, he qualified.

I TOLD HIM I HAD the papers and had taken the exam several months ago for a jet trip which never came off.

In light of the flight that physical exam turns out to be a big joke.

They put me in a pressure chamber to make sure that my lungs and stomach could take high altitude. Then they checked my heart to determine that it was ticking in the neighborhood of a normal rate and with life-like gusto.

The laugh, of course, is the fact that they completely ignored that part of my anatomy which suffered the greatest strain from the fast, two-hour ride. Unless they silently approved it from the obvious natural padding it sports.

In preparation for the flight they carefully fit a white helmet to your head and an oxygen mask to your face. Then they adjust a seat-type parachute to you. And that's where the trouble really starts.

Parachutes are made out of nylon and when nylon is packed tightly it's hard. Harder than concrete or diamonds, as a matter of fact.

It took Bob and a mechanic about a half-hour to strap me in, brief me on the various jobs a passenger in a T-33 must perform for the flight, and then to check the fuel tanks, the instruments and go through take-off procedure.

JUST BEFORE WE GOT ready to whisk down the long runway into that old wild blue yonder Bob told me through the intercom to push the button on the lower left side of the cockpit which locks the shoulder harness.

I obeyed with all the swift precision of a trained airman. But then a few experimental squirms told me just what I'd done. I'd reduced my total bodily squirm-range to about one eighth of an inch. Only my legs, arms and head were movable.

At that moment I first became aware of the hard fact that there wasn't the remotest resemblance between packed nylon and foam rubber.

Aside from what it does to your posterior, jet flying is everything they say it is. Smooth, quiet. You don't hear anything except the pilot's conversation through the intercom. The vast, free view through the plexiglass canopy is breathtaking.

THE SENSE OF SPEED on landing and take-off is exhilirating. Actually, the excitement of the whole thing is so intense you're only conscious of your seating situation one-quarter of the time.

And during one of these periods after about an hour out I thought I had the problem licked by sticking one leg far to the right and tightening up a muscle in my left hindquarters. I figured I'd come up with a new development which was pinching off a nerve because the ache was suddenly gone.

When I reported this to Bob he replied:

"Notice that lake about 40 miles in front of us. When we're over that you'll find your development is obsolete."

He was so right.

Today in Washington

Now That Public Knows, Ike May Be Persuaded by Party

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Sept. 29—It may sound paradoxical, but there is some ground for believing that President Eisenhower now may be more readily persuaded to run for a second term than he was before the heart attack came.

This theory was expounded to the writer by a politician of national standing who happens to be a Democrat. It is based on the fact, which my informant knew about, that Mr. Eisenhower has had one or two experiences over the years with what have been called digestive disturbances of more than ordinary severity but which are believed to have made him feel uneasy about accepting a second nomination. One of these occurred while Ike was in military service. It gave him and those who knew about it considerable concern. The medical record says these were not heart attacks, but they were enough to make him a bit dubious about his future health.

THE IMPORTANT point in the theory is that Dwight Eisenhower has been worried over accepting a second term without public knowledge about his possible impairment. Few men in robust health at the age of sixty-four talk about getting old and how they might not be able to accept responsibility in public life which might carry them to the age of seventy. Yet Ike has made several refernces to this without amplification.

With the knowelge that Winston Churchill went back to the post of prime minister in his late 70s and that Adenauer is functioning as chancellor though eighty, it is hardly plausible that Ike, at sixty-four, would have talked publicly about his own health as a possible barrier if he had not been mindful of his previous experience with what he was told were digestive illnesses. With a secret like that on his conscience, he naturally would want the people to know about it before they considered him for a second term.

But now that the heart attack of last weekend has been given the widest publicity, the basic question is out of Ike's hands and off his mind. Do the people want him for a second term despite what they know about his health? It is for the people to answer.

SEN. BARKLEY ran for office in Kentucky at the age of seventy-six after leaving the vice presidency. His age was an issue in the campaign but it didn't prevent his victory at the polls. Sen. Green of Rhode Island, Democrat, now eighty-seven, won relection only last year. Age was also an issue in that campaign.

If the ticket were Eisenhower and Nixon—and up to the time of the President's illness this was accepted as the probable slate and the commentators generally were saying it would be a winner — then the electorate would be in somewhat the same position anyhow but with the added knowledge it has now about the President's health. The voters would know that, in the event anything happened to Mr. Eisenhower during a second term, his successor would be Richard Nixon. If they were willing to accept that setup before the illness—as the public-opinion surveys showed—it will be asked why they wouldn't accept it now?

THE APPRAISAL must then turn on what effect the awareness of the President's heart condition would have on the voters. Would they preferably vote for a robust Democrat who might "rock the boat" and bring on a depression by a reckless attitude toward business? Or would they favor continuance of Ike even with a heart condition that might, if it took a fateful turn, bring Nixon into the White House to continue the Eisenhower policies? The chances are that personalities would not in those circumstances influence the voters as much as would the assurance of a continuity of the Republican administration which had brought them peace and prosperity.

There remains the other question: would Ike himself consent to run and wouldn't the members of his family strongly urge him to retire? But would he be happy to go into retirement? Would the psychological effect of this on an active man be harmful?

The decision most certainly will be made by Ike himself. He is a soldier. All his life he has obeyed the call of duty. A soldier who volunteers to go to war and face death leaves behind as a rule a much younger family than Ike has, but he goes nevertheless and takes the risks because of a sense of duty.

AND WHO is to say that the situation today is any different? More perilous than any "hot war" in history is the "cold war" of today and the duty of any man is to try to prevent the "cold war" from becoming a nuclear war.

The American people want to have the benefit of Ike's mind and judgment—they are not asking him to engage in physical combat. They accepted four times at the polls the mind and judgment of Franklin D Roosevelt though he was able to walk but a few steps and then only with the aid of braces.

KNOWLEDGE is widespread of the many persons throughout the world active in their professions despite earlier heart attacks. If Ike consents to run, the issue will not be whether he could serve out a full term but whether there was a chance of such signal service to the world as would warrant the risk of continuing him in the Presidency for as long a time as the Lord might spare him. The electorate also is well aware that Presidents have died in office and Vice-Presidents have come in to take hold and continue their predecessor's program without harm to any vital policy of national or international importance.

As the President's recovery and convalescence recede into the background, the sentiment to draft Eisenhower to run again will come into the foreground. What reason, it will be asked, is there for assuming that a man who is planning to serve from now until Jan. 20, 1957—a period of more than fifteen months—would not be able to serve all or the greater part of a second term?

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Rome—It would be hard to imagine more insulting impudence toward the millions of Americans who admired Senator Robert Taft and shared his patriotic principles than the culture fest in Rome which I have been discussing in recent essays. These Americans with few exceptions, finally voted for Eisenhower only to repudiate Truman, his gutter-snipe tactics expressed in the term "give 'em hell" and the diluted patriotism of the Roosevelt-Truman reign.

Ike was not acceptable to real Republicans. The New York Times and Henry Luce began the ballyhoo for Ike. The Times is a Democratic paper and Luce has no known political principles.

Paul Hoffman, now of the Ford Fund for the Republic, was one of many spectacular opportunists in the conspiracy to ride off Taft. Hoffman had spent billions for the glorification of General George Marshall who could not remember where he was when the Pearl Harbor warning was trying to catch up with him and 3,000 American service men were sitting ducks. After Chicago, Hoffman actually horrified Taft's following with an abusive outcry against a citizen incomparably finer than himself which sounded as though it had been written by Truman about General MacArthur.

There is mystery about this culture fest. It did not just happen. It was put over by the American embassy where Luce's wife, Clare, tends bar and the American culturists were all typical of Henry Luce's political associations. Hoffman is a director of Luce's jerked English freak called "Time" and a director as well of the Encyclopedia Britannica and Encyclopedia Britannica films, a propaganda project.

Robert M. Hutchins, like Hoffman, a director of the Ford Fund for the Republic, also is a director of both Britannica propositions and so are William Benton and Chester Bowles, Connecticut politicians, but Democrats and close associates of Luce and his wife. Bowles is a director of the Fund for the Republic. It was Joe McCarthy who personally, knocked Benton out of the Senate with speeches in Bridgeport and Danbury. There has been no more abusive voice than Luce's in the whole grand clamor against the principal opponent of cultivated treason in the government.

So, all of a sudden, we get an attack of culture and the grand lady of the scenario is Luce's wife, a gamin of destiny who revealed her own culture in an unusually smutty Broadway show called "The Women." And Luce, himself, by miraculous coincidence, finds himself on the program for a speech so unimportant that the title was not given. But who is the bull of the woods in this rodeo? It is Paul Hoffman. He never went beyond first year at the University of Chicago where Hutchins was president and Benton is still a director, but he holds more than 30 synthetic or phoney degrees. His selection for this exercise was not only an affront to the Americans whose character was so grossly misrepresented by this political exploit of the American embassy.

In Who's Who, both Hoffman and Hutchins claim that they are still trustees of the Ford Foundation. This is not true because, as Hoffman admitted here, they both got out in 1953 and both are now with Ford's Fund for the Republic. This is a relatively minor layout but a menace nevertheless in the agreed opinion of reputable citizens whose conduct suffers nothing by comparison with theirs.

I asked Mrs. Elena Postios, the secretary of the Italian-American Association, what person picked Luce and Hoffman and why from 160 million Americans as representatives of our culture. She said, "I don't know." Could she name one other American journalist who was suggested when Erwin Canham, of the Christian Science Monitor, was picked? Mrs. Postios said "perhaps" thousands were suggested but she wasn't sure. She definitely did not know who picked Canham, Luce, Hoffman, Eric Johnston or Herbert Agar.

It turns out now that Irving Brown, the fabulous beachcomber of the Dubinsky international political conspiracies, first caught the brass ring in Europe in Hoffman's economic cooperation administration which is still doing business on a reduced scale. The very day Hoffman sounded off in Rome, the Daily Worker in New York praised 19 "awards" by the Fund for the Republic to authors of books and scripts and added: "One can see that some of these works represent the finest thinking of the American people. It is urgent that the public immediately throw its support behind the production of some of these on TV and in the movies."

This is not our embassy. This embassy belongs to Henry Luce and his wife for the promotion of some exceedingly off-color Republicans.

New York, Sept. 30 (AP)—Resignation of Kenneth C. Royall from a part in the forthcoming White House conference on education is sought by the American Jewish Congress. Congress President Israel Goldstein has written to Gov. Averell C. UNRECONSTRUCTED AGGRESSOR

China's Communist leaders must at times feel great annoyance at the "sweetness and light'" campaign being conducted by their Red brethren in Moscow. For it puts the Chinese in an embarrassing spotlight as the world's principal unreconstructed aggressors.

To be sure, the Chinese Reds are making "gestures of good will" by releasing American civilians they never should have held prisoner in the first place. But they have not really altered their basic outlook on the Asian situation.

There is a very simple reason. Unlike the Russians facing Western Europe, the Communists in China believe they still have a military advantage in Asia, at least in limited sectors. They imagine they can move in these areas without really effective resistance.

They profess willingness, of course, to seek strictly political solutions of their claims to Matsu and Quemoy off the Chinese mainland, and to Formosa 100 miles distant. But the only specific proposals they are likely to make are for a complete yielding by the Nationalist Chinese.

Formosa they understand they cannot attack without provoking the United States to war. But they get pretty tough when they mention the offshore islands, for they are sure they have the force to make good their claims if all else fails.

Furthermore, in the vital Indochina sector of Southeast Asia, they sense a soft condition among anti-Communist elements. They are confident, again, that the right kind of help—whether subversive tactics or surreptitious military assistance—can be made to pay off by widening the zone of Communist control.

Confidence born of such convictions as these does not make the leaders of Peiping easily amenable to the quiet tactics of the council table. They are a pretty swaggering lot. And they don't want to lay down the bludgeon so long as they think it might work for them.

But their brothers at the other end of the Red axis are making it difficult. If the Soviet campaign goes much farther, the Chinese may be forced in spite of themselves to seek a genuinely softer line. For the alternative might be to alienate seriously the millions of fence-sitting Asians whose cause they profess to champion.

It's a little hard to sell even a small "just" war when everybody else is for peace.

JOHN MARSHALL'S ANNIVERSARY

The celebration of the 200th Anniversary of the birth of John Marshall (born September 24, 1755) this year ought to focus attention upon the peculiar role which the Supreme Court plays in the governmental structure of the United States. No other country possesses a similar institution. No court in Great Britain, for instance, can declare an act of Parliament unconstitutional, although Parliament can and does place restraints upon the monarch.

The nature of the Supreme Court, as defined in the Constitution and as it developed over the years, is a product of our Federal system and the historic fact that each state is sovereign by its own right. Former Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes states this in most cogent language:

". . . The proposed Federal government was of necessity, in view of the existence of the States and of the sentiment which supported them as autonomous within their spheres, to be one of limited powers . . ."

Obviously an arbiter, an umpire, had to be established to protect each state in its rights and at the same time to prevent the Federal government from collapsing from want of authority. There was great difference of opinion among the Founding Fathers as to how much power was to be delegated to the Federal government. Those who followed the ideas of Alexander Hamilton, James Madison and John Jay favored a powerful Federal government; those who followed the judgment of Thomas Jefferson supported the idea of a weak Federal government with considerable emphasis on states' rights.

Hamilton, in "The Federalist," described the Supreme Court, as it appeared in the Constitution, as follows:

". . . The judiciary, on the contrary, has no influence over either the sword or the purse; no direction either of the strength or of the wealth of the society; and can take no active resolution whatever. It may truly be said to have neither force nor will, but merely judgment; and must ultimately depend upon the aid of the executive arm even for the efficacy of its judgments.

"This simple view of the matter suggests several important consequences. It proves incontestably, that the judiciary is beyond comparison the weakest of the three departments of power; that it can never attack with success either of the other two; and that all possible care is requisite to enable it to defend itself against their attacks. . ."

Hamilton wanted the Court to be more effective and stronger than the Constitution made it. That task fell to John Marshall who accomplished it by a series of fundamental decisions. In these days the Supreme Court is extraordinarily powerful; it exercises a power over both the executive and the legislative branches of government by a veto power, not stipulated in the Constitution but developed in the decisions of John Marshall, the acceptance of which by the people has given the Court a moral force of extraordinary dimensions.

John Marshall was the third Chief Justice of the United States, the first being John Jay. (Rutledge was not confirmed.) Marshall served from 1801 to 1835 which gave him a long tenure during the formative years of our history. Marshall was a believer in strong Federal government, differing from his cousin, Thomas Jefferson, who starting as his political opponent became his personal enemy.

It was the Supreme Court, under the leadership of John Marshall, rather than the Constitution itself, which established the great powers of the Federal government. It was in Marbury vs. Madison that John Marshall leading the entire Court laid down a rule, not explicitly stated in the Constitution, that the Supreme Court had the power to declare an Act of Congress null and void on constitutional grounds. Marshall did not establish a basis in law or in precedent; he rather argued that as the Constitution is the supreme law of the land, whatever is repugnant to the Constitution must be null and void and that there must be an agency of government with power so to declare.

He said: ". . . the particular phraseology of the Constitution of the United States confirms and strengthens the principle, supposed to be essential to all written constitutions, that a law repugnant to the constitution is void, and that courts, as well as other departments, are bound by that instrument." From that day to this, the Court has so held and the people have upheld the Court in that interpretation of the power of the Court.

That Body of Yours

GIRL WITH RHEUMATIC HEART DISEASE

In an extremely encouraging address given by Dr. Harold N. Segall of Montreal at the Industrial Medicine Conference, entitled Rehabilitation of the Cardiac Patient in Industry and in the Home, we read that the career of a girl with rheumatic heart disease and marked narrowing of one of the valves in the heart involves consideration of her fitness for marriage and motherhood. The plans for life of such a girl are drawn on the assumption that she will live the normal span or very little less. From the statistics it has been found that such young women remain free of symptoms of a disabling degree until they reach the early thirties. This appears to be true no matter what kind of work they do and not uncommonly good tennis players are found among them. Congestion of the heart with swelling of the lower limbs tends to appear in the forties or early fifties. Modern methods of treatment, especially with the drugs which drive excess fluid out of the tissues and so reduce swelling, greatly reduce the degree of illness and prolong life at this stage which may continue well into the sixties or seventies.

Dr. Segall says that he would give such a girl the following advice: "Young lady, one of the four valves in your heart is narrowed. This sounds very bad but it is not as bad as it sounds. The body has wonderful powers of adjustment and your body is making the necessary corrective adjustments. You know this because you now feel well. And now is a good time to plan your career so as to conserve and prolong this sense of well-being. You will be well advised to marry at a young age, close to about 20. Until about 30 or 35 your strength will be at its best. By having your children, usually two, in the first years of marriage, you make good use of your best years to rear them. Then when they can do things for themselves and also for you, the adjustments which you may have to make in your thirties, because you will tend to feel tired more readily than before, can be achieved easily and gracefully. Moreover, the life of a wife and mother is a better one for you than that of a career girl in one of the professions or in business. At home you can do your work at your own speed and take rests whenever you please. At work you must punch a clock and conform to rules which are made for stronger members of the group."

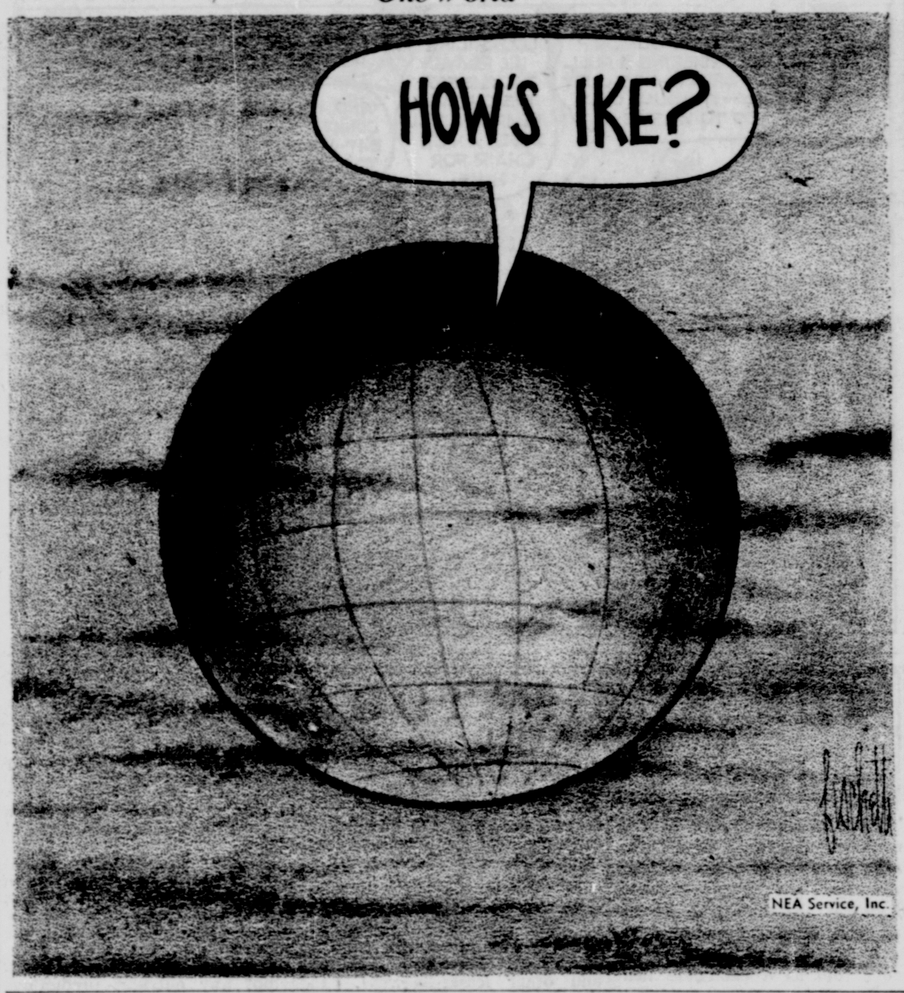

Although modern surgical techniques on correcting defects of the heart valves are becoming increasingly successful, Dr. Segall believes that in such cases as the above girl, operation might be indicated in her early thirties but not until then because even in its present form, the operation involves no greater risk at between 30 and 35 than under 30 years of age.

Larsen's Washington News Notebook

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

Denver — (NEA) — There has been an interesting regressive revolution in aviation.

Remember how those pioneer pilots used to claim that they flew "by the seat of their pants?"

Well, I can report firsthand—more accurately stated as first-seat—that modern flying is right back where these early fliers originally picked it up.

The seat of the pants has returned as the most vital, omnipresent factor in flying in a jet, as any air force "hot pipe" jockey will readily confirm.

This unpremeditated rear-end research project began when I ran into my friend, Lt. Col. Bob Clark, recently in Reno, Nev., and mentioned that I was in a hurry to get to Denver next morning.

He said he had to ferry a T-33 jet trainer back to his home base at Scott Field, Ill., and that I was welcome to ride in the back seat. He had to refuel at Lowery Air Force Base at Denver, anyway.

That is, if I had the necessary Pentagon papers and had taken the special high-altitude physical exam required of all air force jet passengers, he qualified.

I TOLD HIM I HAD the papers and had taken the exam several months ago for a jet trip which never came off.

In light of the flight that physical exam turns out to be a big joke.

They put me in a pressure chamber to make sure that my lungs and stomach could take high altitude. Then they checked my heart to determine that it was ticking in the neighborhood of a normal rate and with life-like gusto.

The laugh, of course, is the fact that they completely ignored that part of my anatomy which suffered the greatest strain from the fast, two-hour ride. Unless they silently approved it from the obvious natural padding it sports.

In preparation for the flight they carefully fit a white helmet to your head and an oxygen mask to your face. Then they adjust a seat-type parachute to you. And that's where the trouble really starts.

Parachutes are made out of nylon and when nylon is packed tightly it's hard. Harder than concrete or diamonds, as a matter of fact.

It took Bob and a mechanic about a half-hour to strap me in, brief me on the various jobs a passenger in a T-33 must perform for the flight, and then to check the fuel tanks, the instruments and go through take-off procedure.

JUST BEFORE WE GOT ready to whisk down the long runway into that old wild blue yonder Bob told me through the intercom to push the button on the lower left side of the cockpit which locks the shoulder harness.

I obeyed with all the swift precision of a trained airman. But then a few experimental squirms told me just what I'd done. I'd reduced my total bodily squirm-range to about one eighth of an inch. Only my legs, arms and head were movable.

At that moment I first became aware of the hard fact that there wasn't the remotest resemblance between packed nylon and foam rubber.

Aside from what it does to your posterior, jet flying is everything they say it is. Smooth, quiet. You don't hear anything except the pilot's conversation through the intercom. The vast, free view through the plexiglass canopy is breathtaking.

THE SENSE OF SPEED on landing and take-off is exhilirating. Actually, the excitement of the whole thing is so intense you're only conscious of your seating situation one-quarter of the time.

And during one of these periods after about an hour out I thought I had the problem licked by sticking one leg far to the right and tightening up a muscle in my left hindquarters. I figured I'd come up with a new development which was pinching off a nerve because the ache was suddenly gone.

When I reported this to Bob he replied:

"Notice that lake about 40 miles in front of us. When we're over that you'll find your development is obsolete."

He was so right.

So They Say..

We hear drums beating about surpluses. We have big surpluses now at the expense of one-third to one-half of our top soil. Unless something is done to conserve our soil, we'll hear other weird noises in the future—the rattling bones of starvation.

Now That Public Knows, Ike May Be Persuaded by Party

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Sept. 29—It may sound paradoxical, but there is some ground for believing that President Eisenhower now may be more readily persuaded to run for a second term than he was before the heart attack came.

This theory was expounded to the writer by a politician of national standing who happens to be a Democrat. It is based on the fact, which my informant knew about, that Mr. Eisenhower has had one or two experiences over the years with what have been called digestive disturbances of more than ordinary severity but which are believed to have made him feel uneasy about accepting a second nomination. One of these occurred while Ike was in military service. It gave him and those who knew about it considerable concern. The medical record says these were not heart attacks, but they were enough to make him a bit dubious about his future health.

THE IMPORTANT point in the theory is that Dwight Eisenhower has been worried over accepting a second term without public knowledge about his possible impairment. Few men in robust health at the age of sixty-four talk about getting old and how they might not be able to accept responsibility in public life which might carry them to the age of seventy. Yet Ike has made several refernces to this without amplification.

With the knowelge that Winston Churchill went back to the post of prime minister in his late 70s and that Adenauer is functioning as chancellor though eighty, it is hardly plausible that Ike, at sixty-four, would have talked publicly about his own health as a possible barrier if he had not been mindful of his previous experience with what he was told were digestive illnesses. With a secret like that on his conscience, he naturally would want the people to know about it before they considered him for a second term.

But now that the heart attack of last weekend has been given the widest publicity, the basic question is out of Ike's hands and off his mind. Do the people want him for a second term despite what they know about his health? It is for the people to answer.

SEN. BARKLEY ran for office in Kentucky at the age of seventy-six after leaving the vice presidency. His age was an issue in the campaign but it didn't prevent his victory at the polls. Sen. Green of Rhode Island, Democrat, now eighty-seven, won relection only last year. Age was also an issue in that campaign.

If the ticket were Eisenhower and Nixon—and up to the time of the President's illness this was accepted as the probable slate and the commentators generally were saying it would be a winner — then the electorate would be in somewhat the same position anyhow but with the added knowledge it has now about the President's health. The voters would know that, in the event anything happened to Mr. Eisenhower during a second term, his successor would be Richard Nixon. If they were willing to accept that setup before the illness—as the public-opinion surveys showed—it will be asked why they wouldn't accept it now?

THE APPRAISAL must then turn on what effect the awareness of the President's heart condition would have on the voters. Would they preferably vote for a robust Democrat who might "rock the boat" and bring on a depression by a reckless attitude toward business? Or would they favor continuance of Ike even with a heart condition that might, if it took a fateful turn, bring Nixon into the White House to continue the Eisenhower policies? The chances are that personalities would not in those circumstances influence the voters as much as would the assurance of a continuity of the Republican administration which had brought them peace and prosperity.

There remains the other question: would Ike himself consent to run and wouldn't the members of his family strongly urge him to retire? But would he be happy to go into retirement? Would the psychological effect of this on an active man be harmful?

The decision most certainly will be made by Ike himself. He is a soldier. All his life he has obeyed the call of duty. A soldier who volunteers to go to war and face death leaves behind as a rule a much younger family than Ike has, but he goes nevertheless and takes the risks because of a sense of duty.

AND WHO is to say that the situation today is any different? More perilous than any "hot war" in history is the "cold war" of today and the duty of any man is to make any sacrifice he can to try to prevent the "cold war" from becoming a nuclear war.

The American people want to have the benefit of Ike's mind and judgment—they are not asking him to engage in physical combat. They accepted four times at the polls the mind and judgment of Franklin D Roosevelt though he was able to walk but a few steps and then only with the aid of braces.

KNOWLEDGE is widespread of the many persons throughout the world active in their professions despite earlier heart attacks. If Ike consents to run, the issue will not be whether he could serve out a full term but whether there was a chance of such signal service to the world as would warrant the risk of continuing him in the Presidency for as long a time as the Lord might spare him. The electorate also is well aware that Presidents have died in office and Vice-Presidents have come in to take hold and continue their predecessor's program without harm to any vital policy of national or international importance.

As the President's recovery and convalescence recede into the background, the sentiment to draft Eisenhower to run again will come into the foreground. What reason, it will be asked, is there for assuming that a man who is planning to serve from now until Jan. 20, 1957—a period of more than fifteen months—would not be able to serve all or the greater part of a second term?

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Rome—It would be hard to imagine more insulting impudence toward the millions of Americans who admired Senator Robert Taft and shared his patriotic principles than the culture fest in Rome which I have been discussing in recent essays. These Americans with few exceptions, finally voted for Eisenhower only to repudiate Truman, his gutter-snipe tactics expressed in the term "give 'em hell" and the diluted patriotism of the Roosevelt-Truman reign.

Ike was not acceptable to real Republicans. The New York Times and Henry Luce began the ballyhoo for Ike. The Times is a Democratic paper and Luce has no known political principles.

Paul Hoffman, now of the Ford Fund for the Republic, was one of many spectacular opportunists in the conspiracy to ride off Taft. Hoffman had spent billions for the glorification of General George Marshall who could not remember where he was when the Pearl Harbor warning was trying to catch up with him and 3,000 American service men were sitting ducks. After Chicago, Hoffman actually horrified Taft's following with an abusive outcry against a citizen incomparably finer than himself which sounded as though it had been written by Truman about General MacArthur.

There is mystery about this culture fest. It did not just happen. It was put over by the American embassy where Luce's wife, Clare, tends bar and the American culturists were all typical of Henry Luce's political associations. Hoffman is a director of Luce's jerked English freak called "Time" and a director as well of the Encyclopedia Britannica and Encyclopedia Britannica films, a propaganda project.

Robert M. Hutchins, like Hoffman, a director of the Ford Fund for the Republic, also is a director of both Britannica propositions and so are William Benton and Chester Bowles, Connecticut politicians, but Democrats and close associates of Luce and his wife. Bowles is a director of the Fund for the Republic. It was Joe McCarthy who personally, knocked Benton out of the Senate with speeches in Bridgeport and Danbury. There has been no more abusive voice than Luce's in the whole grand clamor against the principal opponent of cultivated treason in the government.

So, all of a sudden, we get an attack of culture and the grand lady of the scenario is Luce's wife, a gamin of destiny who revealed her own culture in an unusually smutty Broadway show called "The Women." And Luce, himself, by miraculous coincidence, finds himself on the program for a speech so unimportant that the title was not given. But who is the bull of the woods in this rodeo? It is Paul Hoffman. He never went beyond first year at the University of Chicago where Hutchins was president and Benton is still a director, but he holds more than 30 synthetic or phoney degrees. His selection for this exercise was not only an affront to the Americans whose character was so grossly misrepresented by this political exploit of the American embassy.

In Who's Who, both Hoffman and Hutchins claim that they are still trustees of the Ford Foundation. This is not true because, as Hoffman admitted here, they both got out in 1953 and both are now with Ford's Fund for the Republic. This is a relatively minor layout but a menace nevertheless in the agreed opinion of reputable citizens whose conduct suffers nothing by comparison with theirs.

I asked Mrs. Elena Postios, the secretary of the Italian-American Association, what person picked Luce and Hoffman and why from 160 million Americans as representatives of our culture. She said, "I don't know." Could she name one other American journalist who was suggested when Erwin Canham, of the Christian Science Monitor, was picked? Mrs. Postios said "perhaps" thousands were suggested but she wasn't sure. She definitely did not know who picked Canham, Luce, Hoffman, Eric Johnston or Herbert Agar.

It turns out now that Irving Brown, the fabulous beachcomber of the Dubinsky international political conspiracies, first caught the brass ring in Europe in Hoffman's economic cooperation administration which is still doing business on a reduced scale. The very day Hoffman sounded off in Rome, the Daily Worker in New York praised 19 "awards" by the Fund for the Republic to authors of books and scripts and added: "One can see that some of these works represent the finest thinking of the American people. It is urgent that the public immediately throw its support behind the production of some of these on TV and in the movies."

This is not our embassy. This embassy belongs to Henry Luce and his wife for the promotion of some exceedingly off-color Republicans.

Asks Royall Resign

New York, Sept. 30 (AP)—Resignation of Kenneth C. Royall from a part in the forthcoming White House conference on education is sought by the American Jewish Congress. Congress President Israel Goldstein has written to Gov. Averell C. Harriman assailing the attitude of Royall, chairman of the New York state committee for the conference to be held in Washington Nov. 28. Goldstein's letter made public yesterday, said Royall has spoken in such a way as to make clear that despite the evidence of loss to citizens and to this country through inadequate and unequal opportunities for education, he would pare down, eliminate and cut down the educational opportunities of future citizens."

Typhoon Still Threat

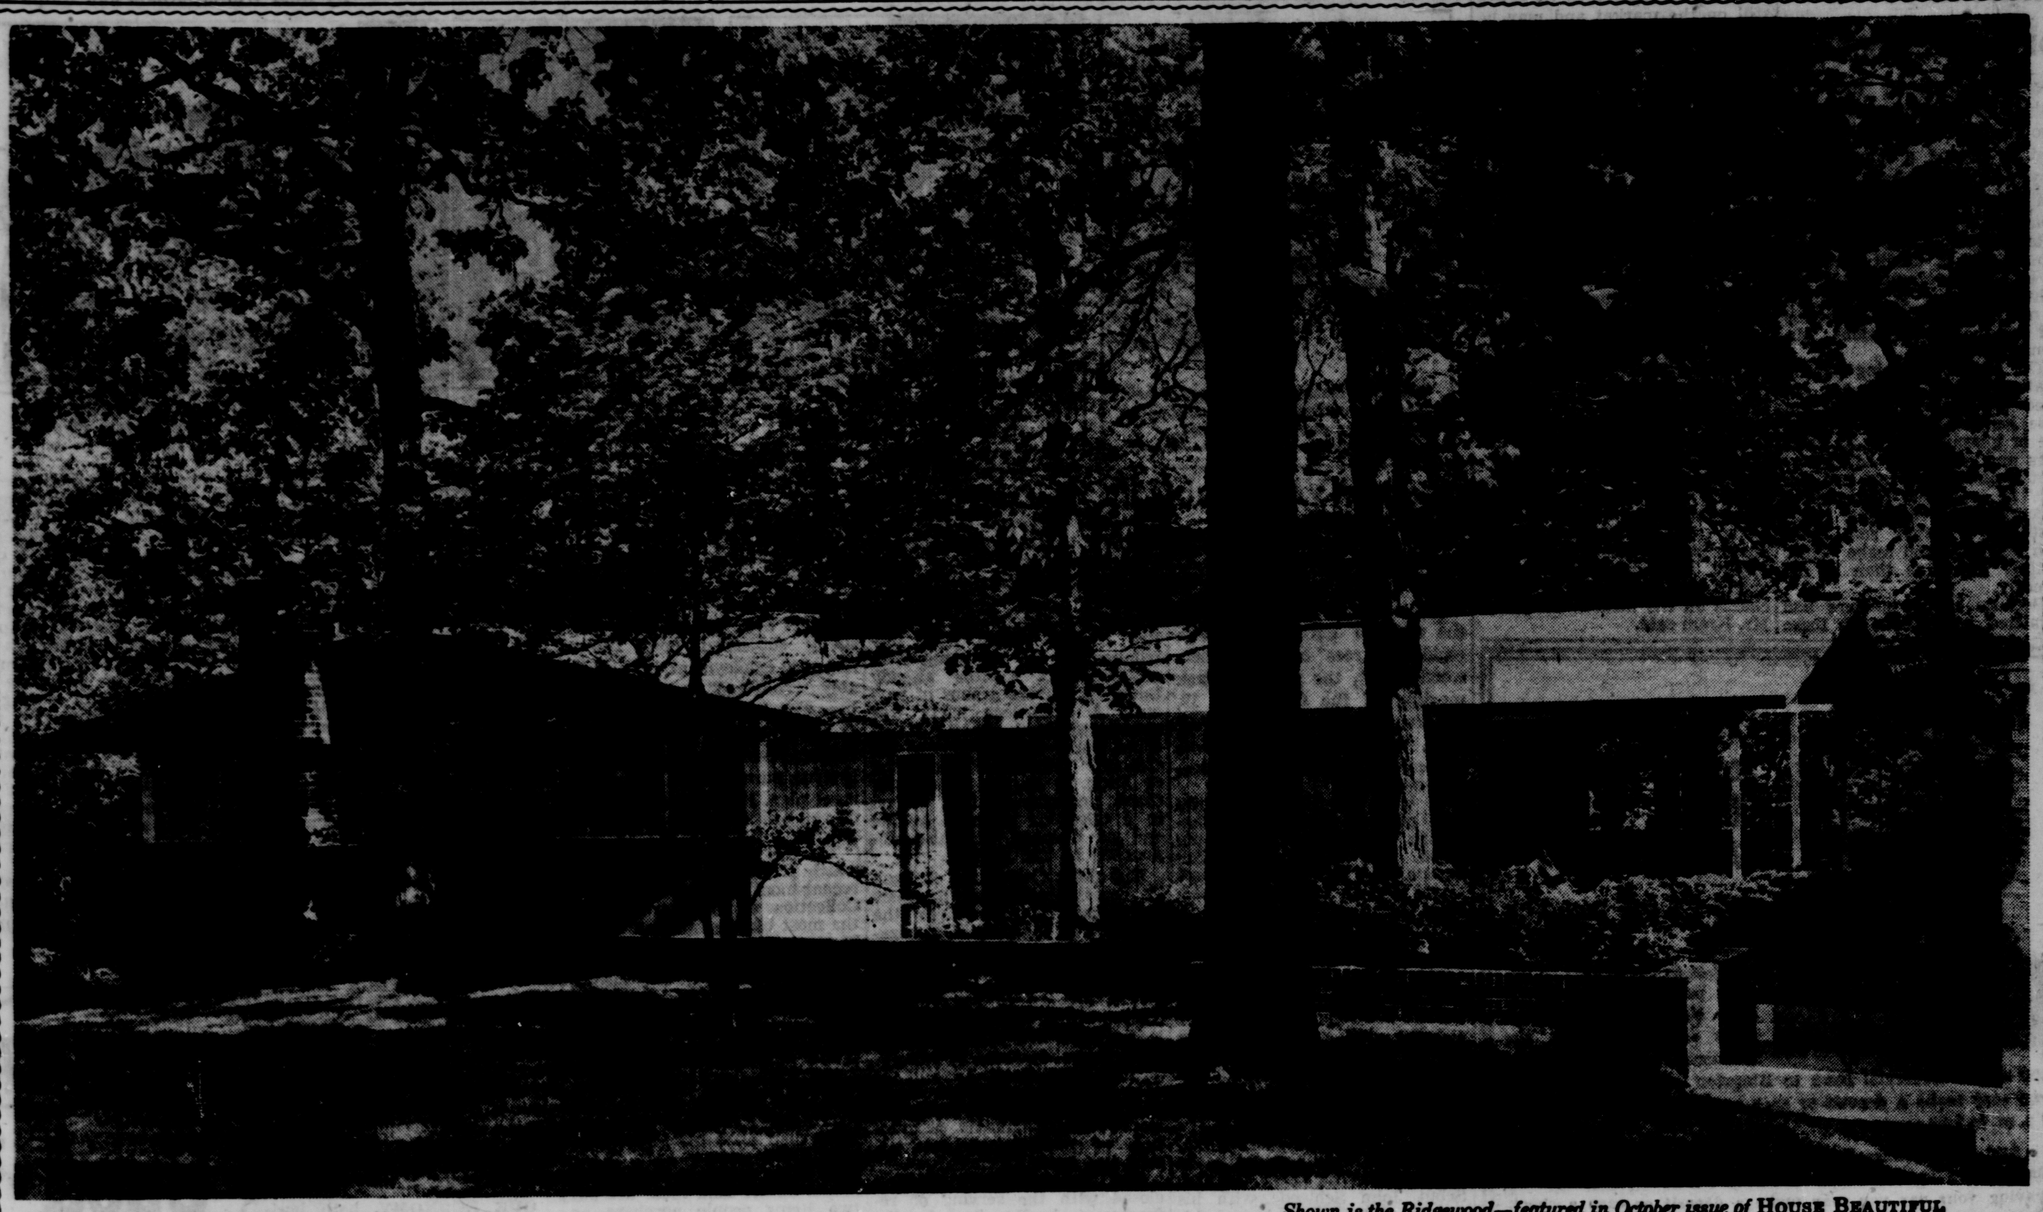

Tokyo, Sept. 30 (AP)—A big typhoon roared up the Sea of Japan today, a little spent after wrecking the southern island of Kyushu but still a serious threat to the northern islands. Police said the storm left 20 dead, 10 missing, 105 injured and 120 ships—mostly fishing craft, lost, in the churning seas. Mountainous Kyushu took some of the wildness from the typhoon, which had blasted Iwo Jima earlier with 172 m.p.h. winds. Weathermen said its maximum gusts were down to about 78 m.p.h.

Advice Is Given For Home Seekers

Recent moves in the real estate market point up two bits of sound advice for those interested in buying a home—don't delay too long and don't overload with installment obligations, Ben Krom, president of Ulster County Real Estate Board, said today.

Imposition of credit curbs by the federal government and the slight tightening of the supply of mortgage money generally lead to those conclusions, Mr. Krom added.

"The Federal Housing Administration a few weeks ago reduced the maximum length of home loans which they will insure or guarantee from 30 to 25 years and raised the down payment requirements by two per cent," he explained. "This means, of course, that the home buyer must put a larger sum down upon purchase and make bigger monthly payments than he did formerly.

"Because many builders had submitted applications to these agencies before the deadline, some houses covered by these are still on the market and may be sold under the more liberal terms in effect before tightening. The supply of them is dwindling, however.

"INDICATION that money available for mortgage loans will become somewhat scarcer than it is now is also a factor pointing toward home purchase now, rather than waiting for several months. During such a trend, home buyers generally must make a larger down payment, pay higher interest rates, and make a greater monthly outlay for mortgage loans," he said.

"Moreover, returns from a recent survey for the Mortgage Council of the National Association of Real Estate Boards show that leaders are becoming more 'selective' in making home loans. In other words, they are scrutinizing the applicants more closely on their credit standing. Applicants with heavy installment obligations are more frequently being rejected. Therefore, it is advisable for potential home buyers to think twice before overloading themselves with purchases on the installment plan," Mr. Krom said.

DANIEL BOONE — By Russ Winterbotham and Ralph Lane

The Kentuckians met the strategy of their foes by countermining the tunneling of the redskins under the stockade.

Rain caused the Indians to give up their attempt to dig into Boonesborough.

On the ninth day, Dan'l Boone's old friend, Simon Kenton, pounded on the gate: "The savages have gone!" he cried.

Reinforcements were near. Boone's garrison of 30 men had fought off nearly 500 redskins and Tories.

Pack 19 VFW Cub Scouts Observe Monthly Theme

With "Robin Hood" relieving the rich to enrich the poor, amid the "trees" of fabled Sherwood forest, the monthly pack meeting of the Cub Pack 19, Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 1386, went into the records as a successful promotion Wednesday evening.

It was the Bonomo family who planned the theme-of-the-month presentation of Robin Hood, and it was the Cub Scouts, led by Webelos Scout David O'Neil as Robin Hood, who portrayed the legends of the merry men of Sherwood who allegedly championed the cause of the "under dogs."

Den 2, under the direction of Den Chiefs David Eighmey and Daniel Devine presented the opening flag ceremony. Then came a Bobcat ceremony inducting Edward Hoffman into membership of Pack 19. The new cub scout's mother presented him with his Bobcat pin.

Cub Scout John Bittner and his parents were honored as he received his Wolf badge, and Cub Scout John Schleede with his family was presented with his Lion badge. Both presentations were made through the medium of a candle-board ceremony.

A PROJECTED TRIP to the Central Fire Station as the guests of Fire Chief James Brett and the participation in a home inspection relative to fire prevention was revealed to the Cub Scouts as part of the October program of the pack.

The monthly awards for Pack 19 included: Den 1, Betty Eighmey den mother: Oscar Bollin, silver arrow, John Schleede, Lion badge; Den 2, Lucille Bonomo den mother: Silver arrow each to Kerry Covey, John Fisk and William Wiegert; Den 3, Lillian Rittie den mother: Ronald Rittie, silver arrow and Denner's stripe; David Godbey, gold and silver arrow; John Bittner, Wolf badge and gold arrow; Gregory Munson, silver arrow; Paul Geary, gold arrow; Michael Bonomo, assistant Denner's stripe.

Planning sheets for the entire 1955-56 season were distributed to the gathering with at least six months already taken by various groups of parents. A Halloween party was announced for the month of October, under the direction of the Connelly family. Participation of Pack 19 in the Community Chest program on Oct. 5 and in a television program at the end of October was also announced to the parents.

The Pack Committee of Pack 19 revealed plans at the parent's meeting to enlarge the facilities of the pack. Organization of another den of Cub Scouts is underway in the Bloomington-Creek Locks area, and a den-full of boys in the Kingston area is waiting the selection of a den mother, said a pack committeeman. It was indicated that Pack 19 will be able to service 48 boys, when the necessary adult leadership can be found—mostly a question of finding den mothers, said the committeeman.

The October pack meeting closed with the serving of refreshments by Den 3, under the direction of Den Chiefs Frank Rittie and James Connelly.

Fire Destroys Car

A 1941 sedan in an East Kingston junkyard was destroyed by fire shortly before 9 a. m. yesterday, it was reported by Chief James Costello of the East Kingston Fire Department. The junkyard is located at the end of Railroad avenue across from Brigham's Garage. Chief Costello said the department's pumper was summoned too late to extinguish the fire but stood by to protect dwellings in the vicinity.

BABSON on BUSINESS

Babson Park, Mass., Sept. 30 —If you're an average American, this last year has been an unusually successful one. You've had good employment, have probably "collected" more money than ever before in your life, and you've bought a lot of things, including several of the more costly items purchased on the installment plan. For your own safety, do you owe too many people too much?

There is a boom of a new sort which has been shaping up in recent months, a bad debt boom. Collection agencies are having the most business they have had in many months, with increases in their business of from 30 per cent to 100 per cent. This means, of course, that a great many people are not paying their bills. As a matter of fact, the American Collectors Association estimates that about 10 million families, or one in every five, are over their heads in debt. Do you realize that Americans today owe more than $12.5 billions on car-installment loans; that mortgage debts are close to the $125 billion mark? And these are but two items people purchase on time while working shorter hours.

Why are people so deeply in debt in such good times? The collection agency will tell you that the credit delinquent is not usually unemployed. The difficulty is that he is increasing his debt while working fewer hours. He may be earning $4,000 per pear, but due to shorter hours prices have gone up and he is spending at the rate of $5,000. He buys $300 items on $5-down bait. He doesn't want to miss a good thing. So, before he knows it he may be overloaded with monthly installment payments.

OF COURSE, the more you buy, up to your ability to pay, the better business is. But watch out. Periodically I make a Babsonpoll of Business Conditions, I ask people like you what they think about different things. My latest poll reveals that 69 per cent of those polled express definite confidence in the future of business. Only 2 per cent feel that general business prospects are poor. Now when people have confidence in the future, they spend which should be to the good if they will match it by work.

I have found that when all the world begins rushing in one direction, it is time to start looking the other way. Ever since World War 2, while business has been booming, there has been raised almost constantly one skeptical question, "How long will boom time last?" Every dip in business has been viewed as the possible start of a new depression. Since the last dip in 1953-1954, a kind of "optimism unlimited" has set in. There seems to be a belief that we never can build too many houses or automobiles. Perhaps such a time is many years ahead, but for the good of your family and your community you should avoid getting into too much debt while working shorter hours.

OUR ECONOMY, both business and industry, has expanded and we have the fullest employment ever. Your cash income is probably also the highest ever. While all this is true, it is not necessarily good in the long run if prices climb correspondingly. Only 15 short years ago your dollar brought you twice as much as it does now. Remember when you paid $800-$1,000 for a new Ford car? One reason for today's conditions is that you have worked shorter hours and borrowed more money. I am not advising against more installment purchases; but I do appeal to you to work harder and longer to produce enough to match your increased borrowings.

The trouble is that too few people really care what is happening now. They say that future generations will have to liquidate our present Government Debt. This is true regarding the big Federal Debt, but it has nothing to do with your personal debts. You must pay these up yourself. Let us remember that with the material prosperity which we inherit there goes a responsibility to our children and our community to leave our country financially strong for them. Let us be fair to those who will follow us, that they may enjoy the standarad of living we know. Let us not fall short of this obligation, but meet our borrowing with increased production so as to hold up the purchasing power of our dollar.

After you have used classified ads in the Freeman, and discovered their success, you will use them all the time. Phone 5000 today.

I have my savings account with the RONDOUT NATIONAL BANK . . . and I'll tell you why

It is so convenient to deposit part of my pay check each Friday when I finish work — as you know, the Rondout National Bank is the only commercial bank in Kingston where Friday you may make a deposit or cash a check at any time from 9 a. m. to 7:30 p. m.

And when transacting business at the Rondout National Bank there is no trouble to find a place to park—without leaving your car you may make a deposit or cash a check at the drive in tellers window or if you prefer banking inside, use their convenient customer parking lot.

And while making my savings account deposit I also pay my Christmas Club, make a payment on my car loan, and deposit the balance in my checking account.

Believe me, there is nothing like having every banking service available where you maintain a savings account—and no other bank offers more complete and convenient banking service than the —

Shokan, Sept. 29 — Patrick Kelly, Inwood, L. I., resident who has a leave of absence from his duties with the IRT railway system, is staying at the K. Loos summer home on the Ridge road. Patrick and Tom Hallenbeck of Woodland are working on the foundation for a bungalow which the former is building on his lot in the west end.

Jane Austen and Grace Shumway, retired Kingston school teachers, were callers in the hub of the reservoir country Monday. The two women are this week going on a motor trip to the Adirondacks and other upstate sections.

Mrs. Walter Zanis and small daughter of Kentucky are spending a few days at the home of Mrs. Zanis' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Ruckert.

Mr. and Mrs. William Carter of Old Hurley were recent callers in the village center.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Krott, long time residents of the Ashokan mountain road neighborhood, observed their 40th wedding anniversary, Tuesday, Sept. 27.

Dora Cohen of Kingston and former Ashokan resident, has been spending several days with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Elefant. Mrs. Cohen before moving to Kingston was in the store business here for many years.

Richard Jordan of New York and Woodstock was a Shokan caller last week.

Lettie Smith, well known Highland resident, was in Shokan Sunday. She is the widow of James H. Smith, a Civil War soldier from Ulster county.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Rubin are reported to have rented their house along the north side of Route 28 for the fall and winter months.

Lewis Hallenbeck and sons are hauling oak logs through the village from south of the reservoir to their Woodland Valley sawmill.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Bridge Requires A Little Thought

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

One of the important things about playing bridge well is the willingness to do a little thinking. It isn't hard to think, but most players don't make the effort. For example, the chances are that most players would make the same mistake East did on today's hand.

South ruffed the opening club lead and drew four rounds of trumps. He next led the king of diamonds, and East had to win with the ace. East now led the king of hearts and thereby muffed the defense. If West overtook with the ace of hearts, the defenders would make only two tricks in the suit.

If West, instead, played low, he would have to win the second heart with his ace and then shift to another suit. Then declarer would discard the rest of his hearts on dummy's good diamonds.

East was on the right track when he decided to lead hearts. It was clear that his side could take only one diamond, no tricks in the black suits, and therefore needed three hearts to defeat the contract.

There weren't going to be three heart tricks unless West had the ace of hearts. Therefore it wasn't necessary for East to lead his king. He should have begun by leading his low heart instead of the king just to guard against the actual doubleton heart in the West hand. West would take the ace of hearts and return the suit, whereupon the three heart tricks would defeat the contract.

President Could Dominate Convention Even if He Doesn't Run

GOP Candidate Would Need Ike's Sanction

Washington, Sept. 30 (AP)—Even though he doesn't run again, President Eisenhower will be in a position to dominate the Republican convention next year and perhaps handpick the GOP presidential nominee, if he so chooses.

As matters now stand, a candidate seeking the Republican nomination with Eisenhower's opposition would be tilting hopelessly with windmills. But the man given the nod by the President would have an advantage so great that it would appear unassailable.

IN THE WEEKS ahead, assuming the President has a normal recovery as it appears he will, the professional politicians will be watching to see:

1. What Eisenhower's decision will be on running again.
2. If he doesn't run, whom will he support as the man to carry on the program he has launched.

Eisenhower's close friends in Denver say the best bet is the President will finish out his term and then retire to his Gettysburg farm, making himself available as an "elder statesman."

But some Republican leaders still are hopeful the President will run, and they point to opinions by heart specialists that after his convalescence the President should be able to live a normal life.

THE FLAW in these hopes is that no one can say the life of a president—with the tremendous pressures involved — is a "normal life." The Republican optimism about Eisenhower running again may well be a case of whistling in the dark.

In all the confusion, there are some certainties: The Republicans will depend on Eisenhower in the 1956 campaign in one way or another. If they can't have the man himself as their candidate, then they'll run on his record, program and policies.

BUT THIS MEANS coming up with a nominee who supports the Eisenhower policies and who is supported in turn by Eisenhower. Already the names of Vice President Richard Nixon (age 42), Secretary of the Treasury George Humphrey (65), Milton Eisenhower (the President's brother) (56), Gov. Goodwin Knight of California (58) and others are being mentioned as possible candidates.

The President chose Nixon as his running mate in 1952. He gave Nixon a place in the inner councils of the executive branch of government which enhanced his prestige and gave him valuable administrative experience.

BUT, WHEN Eisenhowher chose Nixon as his running mate, did he intend that Nixon should be the next GOP candidate? Eisenhower hasn't said as much and until he does, the matter remains in doubt.

It could be that the President would choose to take a "hands off" attitude and let all comers fight it out in the convention without his influence being used to tilt the result one way or another.

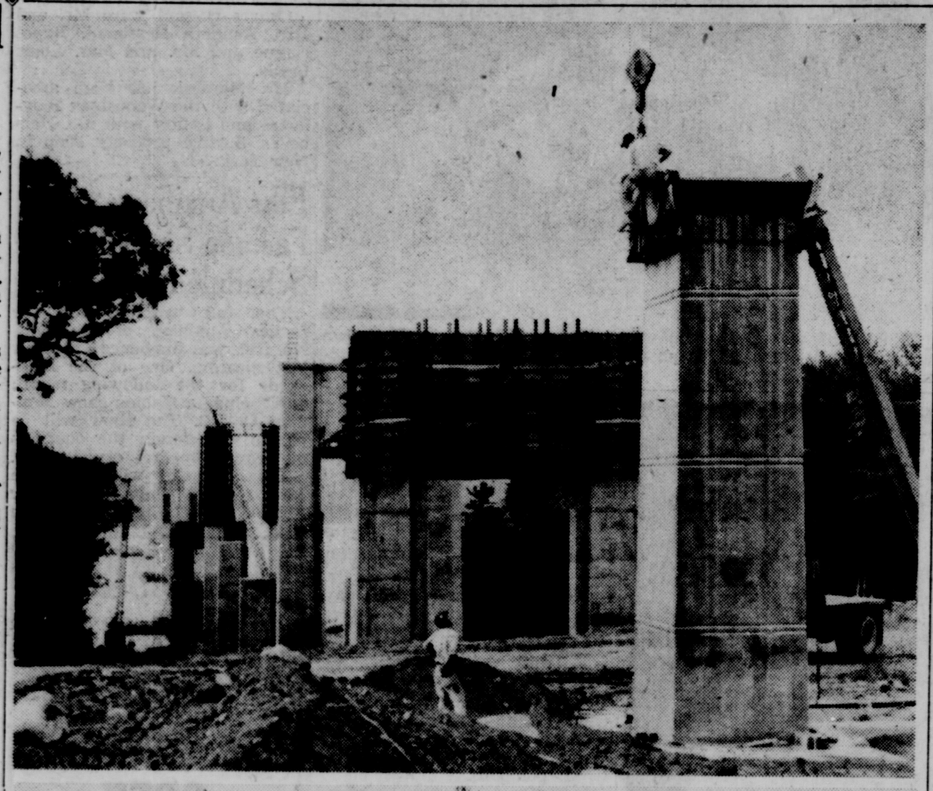

But in the end, the Republicans will have to name an "Ike man" if they are to exploit fully the idea that they are pushing forward with the Eisenhower program.

Sultan Would

the Imperial Palace before El Hajoui's flight.

FRENCH OFFICIALS refused to disclose the letter's provisions but a reliable source said the sultan listed these conditions for his retirement:

1. The French government would have to guarantee that Ben Youssef would not return to the throne.
2. The sultan's powers would be delegated to a member of his own family, the Alouite. This would destroy Premier Faure's plan for a three-man regency council on which Ben Youssef would be represented by Si Bekkai, former pasha of Sefrou. This plan has aroused strong opposition from French colonists and their friends in Paris, who support Moulay Arafa.
3. Friends and supporters of the sultan would be protected against any punishment.

Supporters of Moulay Arafa claimed he had won a victory with the letter in that his removal would at least be delayed at least until a reply was received from Coty.

Doctor Wouldn't

newsmen by White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty.

THERE ARE even those who speculate that the President will not take kindly, once he has been given a fill-in on Washington maneuvers of the past few days, the celerity with which some people in his administration explored ways for delegating presidential authority to others.

They point out that the haste to determine how presidential authority could be transferred was unnecessary at a time when no urgent decisions were pending.

Meanwhile the President, who will be 65 on Oct. 14, showed such excellent recovery from his heart attack of last Saturday that doctors discontinued routine use of the oxygen tent in his case.

And they decided he is well enough to initial a couple of government documents, possibly as early as today.

APPROVAL of these documents, lists of foreign service officer assignments, will be the first step on the still hazardous road to recovery.

For, as Dr. Paul Dudley White, Boston heart specialist, figures it, in any case of a coronary thrombosis, you "keep your fingers crossed" during the first two weeks.

Nevertheless, the 9 p. m. (MST) bulletin from the President's bedside on the eighth floor of the army's Fitzsimons Hospital said:

"The President had another satisfactory day without complications. The routine use of the oxygen tent has been discontinued. Tonight, for the first time, it is planned to permit the President to sleep without the tent." This was the first time the doctors felt it was safe to discard the oxygen tent.

WHITE HOUSE press secretary James C. Hagerty was asked at one news conference whether the progress the President has made meant that the question of possible delegation of powers has been "put on ice."

"I don't know about ice," he said with a laugh, "but you certainly can say it has gotten a lot cooler." And he added that, barring unforeseeable complications, "I do think you would be justified in writing that it is unlikely that there will be any need for delegation of powers."

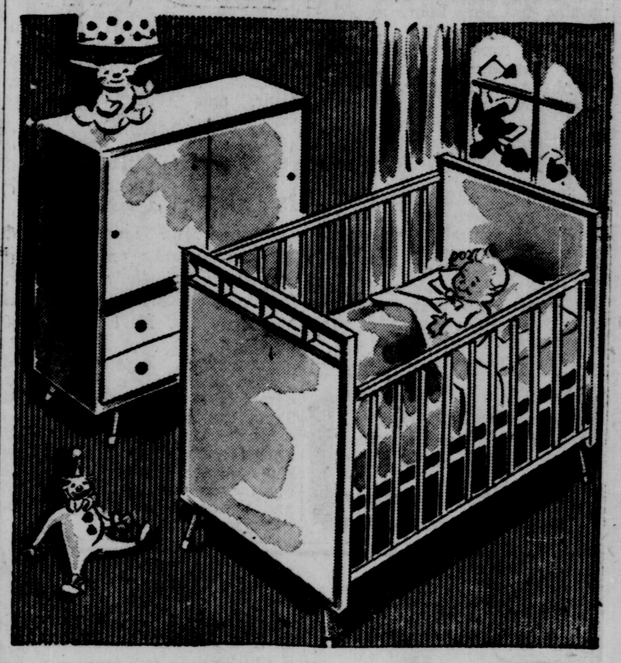

Knicks Buy Dukes

New York, Sept. 30 (AP)—Walter Dukes, seven foot, 1953 All-America basketball star, today was sold to the New York Knickerbockers by the Harlem Globetrotters for a "substantial" but undisclosed sum. The deal was closed by Ned Irish, executive vice president of Madison Square Garden, and Abe Saperstein, owner of the famed Negro team. Dukes, who led Seton Hall to the National Invitation tournament championship in 1955, was the Knickerbocker's first draft pick in 1953 but he signed with the Globetrotters for a salary estimated at between $18,000 and $25,000.

President Could Dominate Convention Even if He Doesn't Run

GOP Candidate Would Need Ike's Sanction

Washington, Sept. 30 (AP)—Even though he doesn't run again, President Eisenhower will be in a position to dominate the Republican convention next year and perhaps handpick the GOP presidential nominee, if he so chooses.

As matters now stand, a candidate seeking the Republican nomination with Eisenhower's opposition would be tilting hopelessly with windmills. But the man given the nod by the President would have an advantage so great that it would appear unassailable.

IN THE WEEKS ahead, assuming the President has a normal recovery as it appears he will, the professional politicians will be watching to see:

1. What Eisenhower's decision will be on running again.
2. If he doesn't run, whom will he support as the man to carry on the program he has launched.

Eisenhower's close friends in Denver say the best bet is the President will finish out his term and then retire to his Gettysburg farm, making himself available as an "elder statesman."

But some Republican leaders still are hopeful the President will run, and they point to opinions by heart specialists that after his convalescence the President should be able to live a normal life.

THE FLAW in these hopes is that no one can say the life of a president—with the tremendous pressures involved — is a "normal life." The Republican optimism about Eisenhower running again may well be a case of whistling in the dark.

In all the confusion, there are some certainties: The Republicans will depend on Eisenhower in the 1956 campaign in one way or another. If they can't have the man himself as their candidate, then they'll run on his record, program and policies.

BUT THIS MEANS coming up with a nominee who supports the Eisenhower policies and who is supported in turn by Eisenhower. Already the names of Vice President Richard Nixon (age 42), Secretary of the Treasury George Humphrey (65), Milton Eisenhower (the President's brother) (56), Gov. Goodwin Knight of California (58) and others are being mentioned as possible candidates.

The President chose Nixon as his running mate in 1952. He gave Nixon a place in the inner councils of the executive branch of government which enhanced his prestige and gave him valuable administrative experience.

BUT, WHEN Eisenhowher chose Nixon as his running mate, did he intend that Nixon should be the next GOP candidate? Eisenhower hasn't said as much and until he does, the matter remains in doubt.

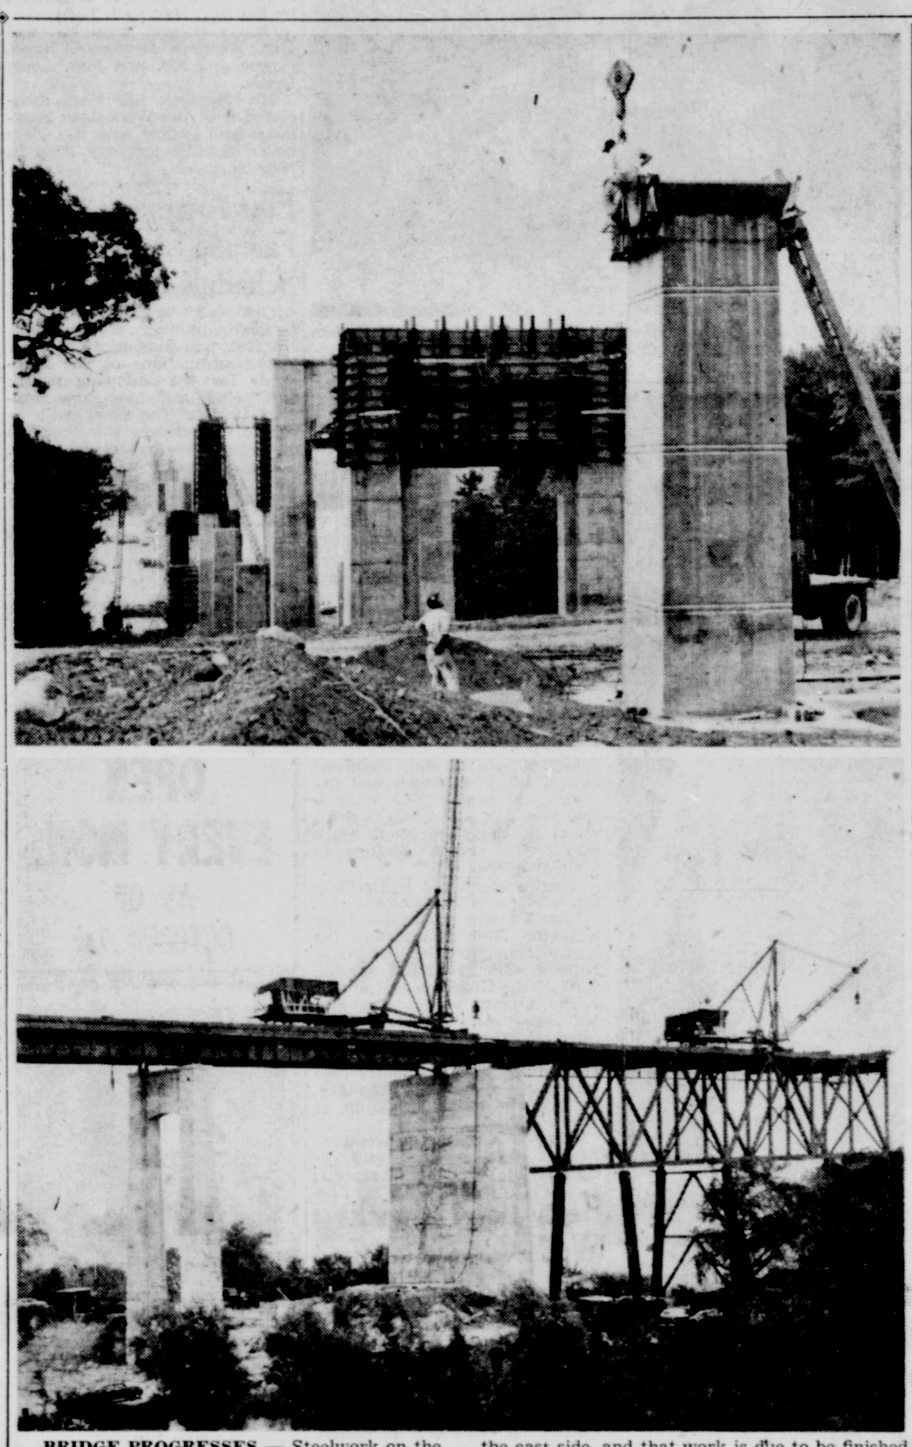

It could be that the President would choose to take a "hands off" attitude and let all comers fight it out in the convention without his influence being used to tilt the result one way or another.

But in the end, the Republicans will have to name an "Ike man" if they are to exploit fully the idea that they are pushing forward with the Eisenhower program.

President Enjoys Brahms, Bach Music

Denver, Sept. 29 (AP)—President Eisenhower's illness brought to light that he likes symphonic music—particularly the works of Bach and Brahms—and the writings of Sheakespeare.

It also served to underscore that he loves western stories and relishes a good "whodunit."

The President's tastes in the fields of music and reading were discussed yesterday by James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, in telling newsmen how the ailing Chief Executive is passing the long hours at Fitzsimons Army Hospital.

In the music field, Hagerty said Eisenhower particularly asked for recordings of the symphony works of Brahms and Bach.

Although Hagerty said the President always has had a deep interest in such music, it had not been generally known.

Nor had there been any public indication that he enjoys the plays of Shakespeare, for which he apparently also asked. It long has been common knowledge, on the other hand, that he gets a kick out of westerns and mystery stories.

The selections played for the President included soft chamber music and some old favorites.

Among the numbers were De Bussy's "Clair De Lune," "Serene" by Drigo, "Festival," "Flirtation Waltz," "In the Still of the Night," "Star Dust," "Moonlight and Roses," "By a Sleepy Lagoon," "Indian Summer," and "Evening Song."

Those selections were recorded by the Melachrino Strings Orchestra.

Included among others the President heard were these numbers by Marek Webber and his orchestra:

"Caucasian Love Song," "L'Amour, Toujour, L'Amour," "Songs My Mother Taught Me," and a medley from "The Student Prince."

Recordings by Al Goodwin and his orchestra included:

"One Alone," "Time on My Hands," "Deep in My Heart, Dear," and "Will You Remember?"

One hundred and thirty guests witnessed the marriage of Miss Patricia Lee Shultis, daughter of Mrs. Harold Shultis of Woodstock, to Robert Edward Milliken, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Milliken of Kingston at the Woodstock Methodist Church, Sunday, Sept. 25 at 3 p. m.

The Rev. Garnett Wilder, pastor of the church, performed the double ring ceremony.

Mrs. Richard Jeffrey was at the organ.

The bride wore an antique taffeta gown trimmed with lace. Her tiara was made of seed pearls and rhinestones with French illusion veiling. A white orchid on a lace covered Bible was carried.

The maid of honor was the sister of the groom, Miss Jean Milliken. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Edward Snyder of Bearsville, and Miss Karen Byrne of Kingston. The color theme of the bridal party was gold and emerald green.

William Burgess of Bearsville was best man, assisted by ushers James Kinns and Robert Hastie, both of Woodstock.

A reception was held at the home of the groom's parents.

Miss Shultis is a graduate of Kingston High School and the Queens Beauty Institute and was employed prior to her marriage by the Peggy Beauty Shop in Woodstock.

The groom is a graduate of Kingston High and Loomis Academy in Connecticut. He is employed as assistant manager of a thruway service station. The couple will reside in Kingston upon their return from Florida.

President Enjoys Brahms, Bach Music

Denver, Sept. 29 (AP)—President Eisenhower's illness brought to light that he likes symphonic music—particularly the works of Bach and Brahms—and the writings of Sheakespeare.

It also served to underscore that he loves western stories and relishes a good "whodunit."

The President's tastes in the fields of music and reading were discussed yesterday by James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, in telling newsmen how the ailing Chief Executive is passing the long hours at Fitzsimons Army Hospital.

In the music field, Hagerty said Eisenhower particularly asked for recordings of the symphony works of Brahms and Bach.

Although Hagerty said the President always has had a deep interest in such music, it had not been generally known.

Nor had there been any public indication that he enjoys the plays of Shakespeare, for which he apparently also asked. It long has been common knowledge, on the other hand, that he gets a kick out of westerns and mystery stories.

The selections played for the President included soft chamber music and some old favorites.

Among the numbers were De Bussy's "Clair De Lune," "Serene" by Drigo, "Festival," "Flirtation Waltz," "In the Still of the Night," "Star Dust," "Moonlight and Roses," "By a Sleepy Lagoon," "Indian Summer," and "Evening Song."

Those selections were recorded by the Melachrino Strings Orchestra.

Included among others the President heard were these numbers by Marek Webber and his orchestra:

"Caucasian Love Song," "L'Amour, Toujour, L'Amour," "Songs My Mother Taught Me," and a medley from "The Student Prince."

Recordings by Al Goodwin and his orchestra included:

"One Alone," "Time on My Hands," "Deep in My Heart, Dear," and "Will You Remember?"

Woodstock Wedding For Pat Shultis

One hundred and thirty guests witnessed the marriage of Miss Patricia Lee Shultis, daughter of Mrs. Harold Shultis of Woodstock, to Robert Edward Milliken, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Milliken of Kingston at the Woodstock Methodist Church, Sunday, Sept. 25 at 3 p. m.

The Rev. Garnett Wilder, pastor of the church, performed the double ring ceremony.

Mrs. Richard Jeffrey was at the organ.

The bride wore an antique taffeta gown trimmed with lace. Her tiara was made of seed pearls and rhinestones with French illusion veiling. A white orchid on a lace covered Bible was carried.

The maid of honor was the sister of the groom, Miss Jean Milliken. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Edward Snyder of Bearsville, and Miss Karen Byrne of Kingston. The color theme of the bridal party was gold and emerald green.

William Burgess of Bearsville was best man, assisted by ushers James Kinns and Robert Hastie, both of Woodstock.

A reception was held at the home of the groom's parents.

Miss Shultis is a graduate of Kingston High School and the Queens Beauty Institute and was employed prior to her marriage by the Peggy Beauty Shop in Woodstock.

The groom is a graduate of Kingston High and Loomis Academy in Connecticut. He is employed as assistant manager of a thruway service station. The couple will reside in Kingston upon their return from Florida.

Chrisey-Griffin Nuptials Held

The marriage of Miss Betty Jean Chrisey, daughter of Mrs. Pearl Chrisey, 155 Washington avenue, to Lee Edward Griffin, son of Mrs. A. E. Vose, Sr., Lincoln, Me., took place Friday, 7 p. m., Sept. 9 at the Evangelican Lutheran Church of the Redeemer.

The Rev. David C. Gaise officiated.

The bride wore a street length winter white faille gown with matching hat and black accessories. She wore a corsage of white pompons.

Mrs. Bruce Griffin, sister-in-law of the bridegroom was the matron of honor. She wore a teal blue silk street length dress with matching hat and black accessories and a corsage of pink pompons.

The best man was Bruce Griffin, brother of the groom.

Miss Chrisey graduated from Kingston High School and the Benedictine Hospital School of Nursing. She is on the nursing staff of the Kingston Hospital.

The groom is a graduate of Mattanawcook Academy in Lincoln, Me. He has completed two years of service with the army and plans to enter the University of Maine in February. At present, he is employed at Electrol, Inc.

After a wedding journey to New York, the couple will reside at 19 Van Deusen street.

Betty Lou Halwick Weds George Sanos

Miss Betty Lou Halwick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. August Halwick, was united in marriage to George Sanos, Sunday, Sept. 11, 9:30 a. m. at the Dutch Reformed Church in Kingston.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Arthur E. Oudemool.

After a wedding reception, the couple left for the Jersey shore. They will reside at 303 Foxhall avenue upon their return.

The pioneer housewife colored her threads for weaving with dyes made from the barks or roots of various plants.

Pamela Clark Is Bride of Jan Marasek

Miss Pamela Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Huntwright Clark of New York, was married Sunday, Sept. 25 to Jan Marasek, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Marasek of Eddyville at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Herbert of Woodstock. Mrs. Herbert was the matron of honor and Mr. Herbert served as best man.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Harvey I. Todd.

Others present were Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Ressignol, Rauol Hague and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Lewis.

Mr. Marasek has been associated with the Woodstock Playhouse and is now with Mr. Herbert's theatre property shop in New York.

B'nai B'rith Holds Membership Dinner

Mrs. Meyer Mehlman, guest speaker for the B'nai B'rith Membership dinner held at Cuneo's Wednesday night, outlined the various activities of the organization throughout the world. She highlighted such projects as volunteer work in the TB Hospital, tumor, cerebral palsy clinics of Kingston, Mrs. Mehlman, who is past president of the Washington Heights Chapter and a member of the executive committee of the American Civic Affairs organization, also said that B'nai B'rith efforts founded the TB Hospital in Denver and the Leo N. Levi Memorial Hospital in Hot Springs, Arkansas.

B'nai B'rith is also responsible for the founding of many orphan homes throughout the country, the newest of which is the Children's Hospital in Israel.

In ending her speech, Mrs. Mehlman stressed that B'nai B'rith is a service organization and that by serving this group we are helping to make America a better place in which to live.

New members were inducted during a very impressive candlelight ceremony.

A short business meeting was held.

Good Taste Today

(Author of Etiquette, Children Are People, etc.)

RETIRED DOCTOR'S TITLE

"Is it proper to introduce a 'Dr.' who is now retired as Dr. Jones, or does he become Mr. Jones? A friend of ours has recently retired from the medical profession and a discussion arose as to whether or not he is still called Dr. or whether this title is used only for a practicing psysician."

His title has been earned for life. He is never called anything else!

Second Engagement

Dear Mrs. Post: My daughter was engaged a year ago. At that time my husband and I gave a large reception at the country club in honor of her engagement. Soon afterwards, however, the engagement was broken. My daughter is now going with another young man. In the event that she should become engaged again, would it be in good taste for us to give a second party for her, or would it be best to simply announce it in the newspaper without any fanfare.

Answer: Your second choice is best.

Jewelry for Mourning

Dear Mrs. Post: Are pearls the only earring and necklace suitable with mourning clothes? I don't mean crepe veil mourning but black clothes unrelieved with the usual color. Would diamonds be permissable? What if a pin had some colored stones in it? And what about a watch that has some rubies with the dimonds?

Answer: It is not considered necessary for those who go in mourning to discard all of their utility jewelry and buy items of gunmetal or other substances. If the earrings—no matter what—have always been worn by this person, she may continue to wear them. The same is true of her watch and of her rings. She should, however, avoid unessential and conspicuous jewelry.

Smog Cancer Studied

San Francisco, Sept. 30 (AP)—New suspicion was directed toward smog today as a factor in lung cancer. A top researcher reported he had produced lung malignancies in mice by forcing the animals to breathe synthetic smog. This researcher, Dr. Paul Kotin of the University of Southern California, previously produced experimental skin cancer in mice with hydrocarbons taken from smoggy air. The new results of this work, reported to the California Division of the American Cancer Society, fall short of incriminating smog as the actual cause of human lung cancer. But some day, Dr. Kotin said, polluted air may be tagged as one of the chief causes.

Home for the Aged Donation Day Tea Planned October 27

Mrs. Gerard Betz of 152 Pearl street, will serve as general chairman for the annual Donation Day Tea and Fair sponsored by the board of managers, Home for the Aged at 80 Washington avenue and scheduled to take place Thursday afternoon, Oct. 27.

Committees and plans were announced following a regular meeting of the managers Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Betz who is president of the board, conducted the meeting.

No admission will be charged and the public is invited to attend. As in the past, proceeds from the fair will be used for the greater comfort and happinss of the guests at the Home.

Committees appointed for the event follow:

Handmade articles—Mrs. C. V. Gunther, chairman; and the Mmes. Clyde E. Wonderly Sr., Harold Loughran and Miss Jane Austen.

Food—Mrs. Edward DeWitt, chairman; the Mmes. Leonard Flicker, Richard E. Thibaut Sr., Jack Gill, and Viola Babcock.

Tea Table—Mrs. Thomas Reynolds, chairman; the Mmes. N. Levan Haver, Fred Schwenk, Frank Prior, Henry L. Bibby, and William H. Brigham.

Donations — Mrs. Leonard Flicker and Mrs. Reynolds B. Carr.

Publicity — Mrs. George M. Hard.

In making her announcement, Mrs. Betz recalled the "wonderful generosity" shown by the public last year when the proceeds of the fair enabled the managers to provide draperies in the guests' rooms and a television set. These items, she said were decided upon following a poll of the 36 residents at the Home.

For the benefit of new managers, the president explained that all cash donations were given to the board of trustees for the maintenance of the Home, while proceeds from the booths were used in the Good Cheer fund for the residents. Dues from the associate members are also used for the Good Cheer fund, she said.

The associate membership now numbers about 125 residents in the county. Those elected to the board of managers, are selected from this group. Mrs. Betz pointed out that the average age of 36 residents at the Home, is now 85 years and the managers were being called upon more and more to provide addional items. "We must add to our associate list as well as do everything possible to make a financial success of our Donation Day, if we are to continue our Good Cheer work at its highest level," she said.

The Home for the Aged is a self-sustaining institution receiving no financial aid from the state. Its finances are supervised by a board of 24 trustees, comprising well known men throughout the county. Alfred Schmid is president of the board. The housekeeping affairs of the Home are supervised by the 24 women comprising the board of managers.

An enviable reputation throughout the state has been enjoyed by the local Home, which is annually inspected by the State Department of Social Welfare. This department has described the local Home as one of the three best operated in the state.

The Home provides for respectable persons who are in limited financial circumstances. The admission fee is $750. To qualify, an applicant must have been a resident of Ulster county for five years previous to the time of making application for admittance.

Donations received annually on the special day set aside for this purpose are very important to the maintenance of the institution and Mr. Schmid joined with Mrs. Betz in the hope that "the public will once again respond generously."

Recently elected to associate membership are the Mmes. Conrad Gross, Charles Terwilliger, Nathan Sutton, A. C. Thiel, Vincent Connelly, S. J. Hasbrouck, all of this city; and the Mmes. Franklin Weisgerber of New Paltz, and Jerome Hurd, Clintondale.

CHAIRMEN OF COMMITTEES for Donation Day Tea and Fair at the Home for the Aged, sponsored by the Board of Managers, are seated (l-r) Mrs. Thomas Reynolds, tea table; Mrs. Gerard Betz, president and general chairman; Mrs. C. V. Gunther, vice-president and in charge of handmade articles. Standing, Mrs. George Hard, publicity; Mrs. Howard St. John, thrift; Mrs. Edward DeWitt, food and Mrs. Leonard Flicker, cash donations. Blind Man Indicted

New York, Sept. 30 (AP)—A Brooklyn federal grand jury has indicted an 89-year-old blind ex-convict on charges of forging his dead wife's name to her Social Security checks for more than 4½ years. The jury yesterday accused Giovanni Gangi, now in Queen General Hospital, of collecting some $2,500 on Social Security payments after his wife died in February, 1951. Indicted with Gangi was his brother-in-law, Ignazio Triola, 55, of (34-17 88th street) Corona, Queens, a brother of the dead woman. Gangi, who lost his sight in October, 1953, claimed he notified Social Security officials of his wife's death and was told he was entitled to collect her checks even after her death. The Social Security office said it has no record of such notification and contends it heard about the woman's death by accident.

Musicians Sought

The United States Military Academy Band at West Point is in need of musicians who must be able to play the saxophone, clarinet or harp. Those interested will be given an audition by the band master and if found qualified will be given a letter of acceptance which will authorize the Recruiting Service to enlist them for assignment at West Point. For further information contact the Army Recruiting Station, 3rd Floor, City Hall on Mondays and Thursdays from 10 a. m. to 3 p. m.

Virginia Hornbeck Is Wed at St. Joseph's

Miss Virginia Hornbeck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hornbeck, 50 Elizabeth street, became the bride of Leonard Nicholas Avery, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roswell Avery of Connelly, at St. Joseph's Church, Sunday, Sept. 25 at 3 p. m. The Rev. James V. Keating performed the ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and she wore a gown of lace over satin and carried a prayer book with an orchid and cascading roses. Her finger tip veil was gathered to a pill box of pearls and sequins.

Mrs. John Weishaupt, sister of the bride, was the matron of honor. Edgar Maurer was best man and the ushers included Daniel Raichle and John Weishaupt.

A reception for the immediate family followed the ceremony. It was held at the Casablanca Restaurant.

The bride is a graduate of St. Ursula's Academy and the groom graduated from Kingston High School. Mr. Avery is employed at IBM.

B'nai B'rith Holds Membership Dinner

Mrs. Meyer Mehlman, guest speaker for the B'nai B'rith Membership dinner held at Cuneo's Wednesday night, outlined the various activities of the organization throughout the world. She highlighted such projects as volunteer work in the TB Hospital, tumor, cerebral palsy clinics of Kingston, Mrs. Mehlman, who is past president of the Washington Heights Chapter and a member of the executive committee of the American Civic Affairs organization, also said that B'nai B'rith efforts founded the TB Hospital in Denver and the Leo N. Levi Memorial Hospital in Hot Springs, Arkansas.

B'nai B'rith is also responsible for the founding of many orphan homes throughout the country, the newest of which is the Children's Hospital in Israel.

In ending her speech, Mrs. Mehlman stressed that B'nai B'rith is a service organization and that by serving this group we are helping to make America a better place in which to live.

New members were inducted during a very impressive candlelight ceremony.

A short business meeting was held.

Home for the Aged Donation Day Tea Planned October 27

Mrs. Gerard Betz of 152 Pearl street, will serve as general chairman for the annual Donation Day Tea and Fair sponsored by the board of managers, Home for the Aged at 80 Washington avenue and scheduled to take place Thursday afternoon, Oct. 27.

Committees and plans were announced following a regular meeting of the managers Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Betz who is president of the board, conducted the meeting.

No admission will be charged and the public is invited to attend. As in the past, proceeds from the fair will be used for the greater comfort and happinss of the guests at the Home.

Committees appointed for the event follow:

Food—Mrs. Edward DeWitt, chairman; the Mmes. Leonard Flicker, Richard E. Thibaut Sr., Jack Gill, and Viola Babcock.

Tea Table—Mrs. Thomas Reynolds, chairman; the Mmes. N. Levan Haver, Fred Schwenk, Frank Prior, Henry L. Bibby, and William H. Brigham.

Donations — Mrs. Leonard Flicker and Mrs. Reynolds B. Carr.

Publicity — Mrs. George M. Hard.

In making her announcement, Mrs. Betz recalled the "wonderful generosity" shown by the public last year when the proceeds of the fair enabled the managers to provide draperies in the guests' rooms and a television set. These items, she said were decided upon following a poll of the 36 residents at the Home.

For the benefit of new managers, the president explained that all cash donations were given to the board of trustees for the maintenance of the Home, while proceeds from the booths were used in the Good Cheer fund for the residents. Dues from the associate members are also used for the Good Cheer fund, she said.

The associate membership now numbers about 125 residents in the county. Those elected to the board of managers, are selected from this group, Mrs. Betz pointed out that the average age of 36 residents at the Home, is now 85 years and the managers were being called upon more and more to provide addional items. "We must add to our associate list as well as do everything possible to make a financial success of our Donation Day, if we are to continue our Good Cheer work at its highest level," she said.

The Home for the Aged is a self-sustaining institution receiving no financial aid from the state. Its finances are supervised by a board of 24 trustees, comprising well known men throughout the county. Alfred Schmid is president of the board. The housekeeping affairs of the Home are supervised by the 24 women comprising the board of managers.

An enviable reputation throughout the state has been enjoyed by the local Home, which is annually inspected by the State Department of Social Welfare. This department has described the local Home as one of the three best operated in the state.

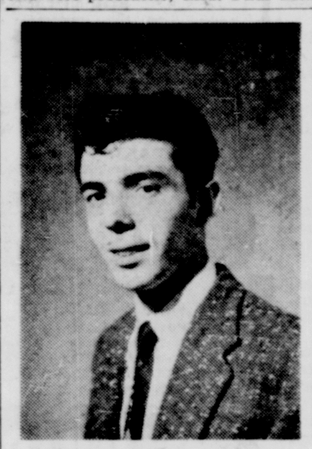

The Home provides for respectable persons who are in limited financial circumstances. The admission fee is $750. To qualify, an applicant must have been a resident of Ulster county for five years previous to the time of making application for admittance.

Donations received annually on the special day set aside for this purpose are very important to the maintenance of the institution and Mr. Schmid joined with Mrs. Betz in the hope that "the public will once again respond generously."

Recently elected to associate membership are the Mmes. Conrad Gross, Charles Terwilliger, Nathan Sutton, A. C. Thiel, Vincent Connelly, S. J. Hasbrouck, all of this city; and the Mmes. Franklin Weisgerber of New Paltz, and Jerome Hurd, Clintondale.

CHAIRMEN OF COMMITTEES for Donation Day Tea and Fair at the Home for the Aged, sponsored by the Board of Managers, are seated (l-r) Mrs. Thomas Reynolds, tea table; Mrs. Gerard Betz, president and general chairman; Mrs. C. V. Gunther, vice-president and in charge of handmade articles. Standing, Mrs. George Hard, publicity; Mrs. Howard St. John, thrift; Mrs. Edward DeWitt, food and Mrs. Leonard Flicker, cash donations. RETIRED DOCTOR'S TITLE

"Is it proper to introduce a 'Dr.' who is now retired as Dr. Jones, or does he become Mr. Jones? A friend of ours has recently retired from the medical profession and a discussion arose as to whether or not he is still called Dr. or whether this title is used only for a practicing psysician."

His title has been earned for life. He is never called anything else!

Second Engagement

Dear Mrs. Post: My daughter was engaged a year ago. At that time my husband and I gave a large reception at the country club in honor of her engagement. Soon afterwards, however, the engagement was broken. My daughter is now going with another young man. In the event that she should become engaged again, would it be in good taste for us to give a second party for her, or would it be best to simply announce it in the newspaper without any fanfare.

Answer: Your second choice is best.

Jewelry for Mourning

Dear Mrs. Post: Are pearls the only earring and necklace suitable with mourning clothes? I don't mean crepe veil mourning but black clothes unrelieved with the usual color. Would diamonds be permissable? What if a pin had some colored stones in it? And what about a watch that has some rubies with the dimonds?

Answer: It is not considered necessary for those who go in mourning to discard all of their utility jewelry and buy items of gunmetal or other substances. If the earrings—no matter what—have always been worn by this person, she may continue to wear them. The same is true of her watch and of her rings. She should, however, avoid unessential and conspicuous jewelry.

Smog Cancer Studied

San Francisco, Sept. 30 (AP)—New suspicion was directed toward smog today as a factor in lung cancer. A top researcher reported he had produced lung malignancies in mice by forcing the animals to breathe synthetic smog. This researcher, Dr. Paul Kotin of the University of Southern California, previously produced experimental skin cancer in mice with hydrocarbons taken from smoggy air. The new results of this work, reported to the California Division of the American Cancer Society, fall short of incriminating smog as the actual cause of human lung cancer. But some day, Dr. Kotin said, polluted air may be tagged as one of the chief causes.

Blind Man Indicted

New York, Sept. 30 (AP) — A Brooklyn federal grand jury has indicted an 89-year-old blind ex-convict on charges of forging his dead wife's name to her Social Security checks for more than 4½ years. The jury yesterday accused Giovanni Gangi, now in Queen General Hospital, of collecting some $2,500 on Social Security payments after his wife died in February, 1951. Indicted with Gangi was his brother-in-law, Ignazio Triola, 55, of (34-17 88th street) Corona, Queens, a brother of the dead woman. Gangi, who lost his sight in October, 1953, claimed he notified Social Security officials of his wife's death and was told he was entitled to collect her checks even after her death. The Social Security office said it has no record of such notification and contends it heard about the woman's death by accident.

Yanks Go With Turley Today

Brooklyn, Sept. 30 (AP)—Crafty old Casey Stengel led his high and mighty but crippled New York Yankees into Ebbets Field today poised and prepared to polish off the frustrated Brooklyn Dodgers in quick order.

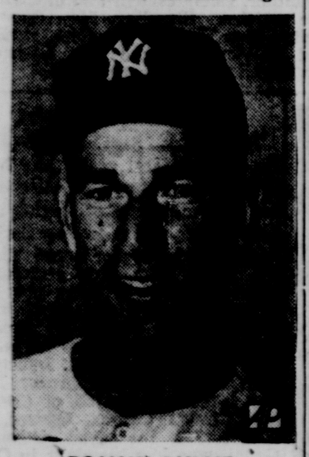

Despite the disability of Mickey Mantle and Hank Bauer, two of his leading guns, the grizzled manager was confident his American League champions would sweep the World Series in four straight or, at worst, in five games. That means Casey don't expect the series to return to the Stadium where the Yankees took the Dodgers into camp in the first two games.

BAUER'S INJURY came as the Dodgers completed a double play in the first inning. Roy Campanella tossed him out at second as Gil McDougald fanned. Bauer, trying to evade the tag, pulled a muscle in his right thigh which forced his exit two innings later. Mantle is still plagued by the torn muscle in his right thigh.

In contrast to Wednesday's defeat at the hands of Whitey Ford, yesterday's loss to Tommy Byrne left the Dodgers stunned.

They could understand losing to one lefthander but to be beaten by two southpaws in succession was more than they could take. It was something that hadn't happened all year.

To make matters worse, Byrne held their fearsome right-

TOMMY BYRNE

handed power to five hits as he became the first lefthander to go the distance and beat the Dodgers in more than a year. Joe Nuxhall of Cincinnati did it at Ebbets Field on Sept. 16, 1954.

Byrne, the comeback man of the year, fanned six including the dangerous Duke Snider with a man on base in the eighth and Gil Hodges for the last out in the ninth.

The former wild man was considered all washed up a couple of years ago when he failed to stick with such poor clubs as the St. Louis Browns and Washington Senators. A 20-victory season at Seattle in the Pacific Coast League brought him back to the Yankees, who discarded him because of lack of control in 1951.

THE BRONX BOMBERS who used the home run to bludgeon the Dodgers into submission in the opener, did it another way yesterday—with the big inning. They collected only eight hits off four pitchers, but they put together four singles after two were out in the big fourth to score all their runs.

Billy Loes was shelled from the mound in this inning, going the way of Don Newcombe the day before. The bullpen came through in fine style by not permitting a run after that. Don Bessent, Karl Spooner and Clem Labine allowed only one hit through the last 4 1/3 innings. Spooner, the southpaw speedballer, struck out five and Labine one which, added to Loes' five, made it 11 Yankees in all to go down swinging.

The odds-makers apparently are in agreement with Stengel since they made the Yankees a prohibitive 5 to 2 favorite to win their 17th series and sixth straight against the Dodgers. Not since 1921 has a team, after losing the first two games, gone on to win the title. That year the New York Giants did it, conquering the Yankees. But that was in best five-of-nine games series. Never has it been achieved since the present four-of-seven system was restored the following year.

"I KNOW THOSE fellows have a good club," Stengel said last night, several hours after the Yankees have whipped the Dodgers 4-2 following their first game 6-5 victory. "But we got a better one. I also know that two of my power guys will be missing—maybe for the rest of the series—but I've got some pretty good fellows on the bench, too."

Having turned back the winless Brooks with two lefthanders in the Stadium, Stengel gave the third game assignment to Bullet Bob Turley, the righthanded ace who never before has appeared in a series game.

Walter Alston, who saw his two top righthanders blasted off the hill on successive days, switched to a lefthander, Johnny Podres. By coincidence, today happens to be Podres' 23rd birthday. The youngster made one World Series appearance and yielded five runs in less than three innings, losing to the Yankees in 1953.

PODRES FINISHED the season with a 10-10 record but pitched his last complete game on June 14. He failed to finish his last 12 straight starts. Turley, the big man in the trade with Baltimore last winter, wound up with a 17-13 record during the regular season after a brilliant start.

The weatherman, exceedingly cooperative up to now, has forecast occasional showers in the morning, clearing during the early afternoon. The temperature was expected to remain in the 70's with winds up to 20-25 miles per hour.

The injury to Bauer forced Stengel to make a change in his lineup for today's game. Bob Cerv, who replaced Bauer, yesterday, was the new starting centerfielder with Elston Howard in Bauer's place in right and Irv Noren in left. Against a lefthander, Bill Skowron replaced Joe Collins at first. Alston also made a change, starting Sandy Amoros in left and shifting Junior Gilliam to second base supplanting Don Zimmer because the Yanks started a righthander.

Baseball History Says Yes

Brooks Could Still Win The Record Books Say

Brooklyn, Sept. 30 (AP)—All is not lost for the Dodgers—yet.

Way back yonder in 1921, when an all-New York series was shiny and brand new, the Giants lost their first two to the Yankees but bounced back to win the best-of-nine set 5-3. If it had been played under modern rules, best-of-seven, the Giants would have won 4-3.

They played the entire series in the Polo Grounds because Yankee Stadium hadn't been built. The Yanks had men to scare you in those days, too. Men like Babe Ruth in left field, Bob Meusel in right and pitchers like Carl Mays, Waite Hoyt and Bob Shawkey.

THEN THERE WAS 1925 when Pittsburgh, trailing 3-1 in games, rallied to sweep three straight over Washington in a best-of-seven series. That had happened only once before in 1903 when the Boston Red Sox, also trailing 3-1, beat Pittsburgh but it was a best-of-nine competition.

As recently as 1953, the last previous Dodger-Yank series, Brooklyn did manage to tie it up at 2-2 after losing the first two at the Stadium. But it didn't do much good. The Yanks breezed home in six, thumping Johnny Podres and beating Clem Labine on relief.

This and Data On the Series

Brooklyn, Sept. 30 (AP)—Figuring the series:

If you've got any buttons wagered in an inning pool, the fourth inning looks like a shoo-in. Not only have more runs (6) already been scored in this frame in the '55 classic, but in World Series history the fourth inning has been the biggest run-producer with 269. The seventh inning is next with 258 runs, followered by the first with 254.

BOB TURLEY finished the regular campaign with four straight victories. The Yankee fireballer has not lost since the White Sox beat him 3-2 on Aug. 28. With Baltimore in 1954, Turley won five of his last six games.

If anyone is wondering whether the Dodgers still would have a chance even if they blow today's game, a single line in the record book under "winning series after losing first three games" reads simply "never accomplished."

BROOKLYN relief pitchers Don Bessent, Clem Labine and Karl Spooner have given up only two hits in 6 2/3 innings while hurling shutout ball.

The Yankees' Gil McDougald has a .500 average—in strikeouts. He's fanned four times in eight at bats.

ROY CAMPANELLA of the Brooks and Irv Noren of the Yankees are the only regulars who have yet to get their first hit of the series. Campy has failed in eight official trips and Noren in seven.

The Yanks' 4-2 victory yesterday was the same score by which they knocked off the Dodgers in the second game of the 1953 series. In that one, Ed Lopat bested Preacher Roe.

Patterson Stops Whitlock in 3rd

San Francisco, Sept. 30 (AP)—Floyd Patterson, 175½, Brooklyn, felled Dave Whitlock, 181, San Francisco, midway in the third round of a scheduled 10 last night.

Patterson, making his first appearance here, decked the local boy twice in the second round for 8 and 9 counts.

When Whitlock dropped in the third round—Referee Jack Silver stopped the slaughter without a count.

Reese Praises Berra as Foes' Top Performer

Brooklyn, Sept. 30 (AP)—Who's the big man on the New York Yankees?

Why, Yogi Berra, if you want to accept the opinion of Brooklyn shortstop Pee Wee Reese,

"He's the ball club," declared the Brook captain today. "He makes it. He's trying to beat you in a million ways and he does it, too.

"He even tries to talk you out of the ball game.

"You get up to the plate and Yogi will say: 'Gee, it's kinda hard to see the ball today, ain't it?'

"He's trying to plant that idea in your head, so maybe you'll really think it's hard to see the ball."

WITH THE righthander pitching against them (Bob Turley) and playing in friendly Ebbets Field, the Brooks have been installed as favorites to win the third game. The professional odds makers call it 11-10 Brooklyn, although the Yanks now are 5-2 favorites to take the series.

Hank Bauer pulled a thigh muscle in yesterday's 4-2 victory over the Dodgers and had to retire in the third inning.

Without Bauer in the lineup, the Yanks would be short two-thirds of their regular outfield.

Even Irv Noren, the third member of the regulars, has a swollen and painful right knee.

The Brooks' veteran relief catcher, Dixie Howell, had an explanation for their miserable showing.

"We caught the Yanks hot," he said, "just when they were playing their best ball. We were like that, too, during the season. But our streak ended and so will theirs."

Today is Brook starter Johnny Podres' 23rd birthday, and he said he is confident he can come through.

"My arm feels fine," he observed. "There's nothing wrong with me at all. I'm as ready as I'll ever be."

Before he was forced to retire, Bauer amused himself kidding Dodger right fielder Carl Furillo, who has been complaining about a cold.

"Please stay out of right field," cracked Bauer. "You've got the place full of germs."

Alston was his usual philosophical self.

"I feel as good as anyone can after losing two," he said with a wry smile. "But they've still got to beat us two more."

Power Failure Halts Trotters

Saratoga Springs, Sept. 30 (AP)—A power failure darkened Saratoga Raceway for an hour last night but a number of die-hard harness racing fans sat it out in bright moonlight until racing was resumed. Lights also went out in a section of the city.

Four races had been completed and the horses were scoring for the fifth when the track lights went out. The horses were returned to the barns. Pari-mutuel clerks reported they cashed and even sold some tickets by candlelight.

Philadelphia, Sept. 30 (AP)—Unbeaten Jimmy Soo of Philadelphia won his 28th straight last night by coming off the floor in the sixth round to take a unanimous decision from Charley Slaughter, 133, Westfield, N. J., in their eight-round feature bout at the Plaza.

It was the first professional fight in Pennsyvania since Gov. George M. Leader slapped a suspension on the sport following the Julio Mederos-Harold Johnson fiasco here May 6.

Soo, 135½, outboxed Slaughter except for the sixth round when he went down for an eight count.

Yanks Go With Turley Today

Brooklyn, Sept. 30 (AP)—Crafty old Casey Stengel led his high and mighty but crippled New York Yankees into Ebbets Field today poised and prepared to polish off the frustrated Brooklyn Dodgers in quick order.

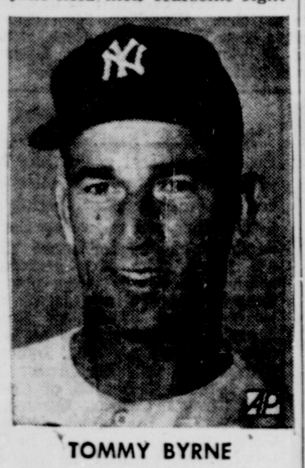

Despite the disability of Mickey Mantle and Hank Bauer, two of his leading guns, the grizzled manager was confident his American League champions would sweep the World Series in four straight or, at worst, in five games. That means Casey don't expect the series to return to the Stadium where the Yankees took the Dodgers into camp in the first two games.

BAUER'S INJURY came as the Dodgers completed a double play in the first inning. Roy Campanella tossed him out at second as Gil McDougald fanned. Bauer, trying to evade the tag, pulled a muscle in his right thigh which forced his exit two innings later. Mantle is still plagued by the torn muscle in his right thigh.

In contrast to Wednesday's defeat at the hands of Whitey Ford, yesterday's loss to Tommy Byrne left the Dodgers stunned.

They could understand losing to one lefthander but to be beaten by two southpaws in succession was more than they could take. It was something that hadn't happened all year.

To make matters worse, Byrne held their fearsome right-

TOMMY BYRNE

handed power to five hits as he became the first lefthander to go the distance and beat the Dodgers in more than a year. Joe Nuxhall of Cincinnati did it at Ebbets Field on Sept. 16, 1954.

Byrne, the comeback man of the year, fanned six including the dangerous Duke Snider with a man on base in the eighth and Gil Hodges for the last out in the ninth.

The former wild man was considered all washed up a couple of years ago when he failed to stick with such poor clubs as the St. Louis Browns and Washington Senators. A 20-victory season at Seattle in the Pacific Coast League brought him back to the Yankees, who discarded him because of lack of control in 1951.

THE BRONX BOMBERS who used the home run to bludgeon the Dodgers into submission in the opener, did it another way yesterday—with the big inning. They collected only eight hits off four pitchers, but they put together four singles after two were out in the big fourth to score all their runs.

Billy Loes was shelled from the mound in this inning, going the way of Don Newcombe the day before. The bullpen came through in fine style by not permitting a run after that. Don Bessent, Karl Spooner and Clem Labine allowed only one hit through the last 4 1/3 innings. Spooner, the southpaw speedballer, struck out five and Labine one which, added to Loes' five, made it 11 Yankees in all to go down swinging.

The odds-makers apparently are in agreement with Stengel since they made the Yankees a prohibitive 5 to 2 favorite to win their 17th series and sixth straight against the Dodgers. Not since 1921 has a team, after losing the first two games, gone on to win the title. That year the New York Giants did it, conquering the Yankees. But that was in best five-of-nine games series. Never has it been achieved since the present four-of-seven system was restored the following year.

"I KNOW THOSE fellows have a good club," Stengel said last night, several hours after the Yankees have whipped the Dodgers 4-2 following their first game 6-5 victory. "But we got a better one. I also know that two of my power guys will be missing—maybe for the rest of the series—but I've got some pretty good fellows on the bench, too."

Having turned back the winless Brooks with two lefthanders in the Stadium, Stengel gave the third game assignment to Bullet Bob Turley, the righthanded ace who never before has appeared in a series game.

Walter Alston, who saw his two top righthanders blasted off the hill on successive days, switched to a lefthander, Johnny Podres. By coincidence, today happens to be Podres' 23rd birthday. The youngster made one World Series appearance and yielded five runs in less than three innings, losing to the Yankees in 1953.

PODRES FINISHED the season with a 10-10 record but pitched his last complete game on June 14. He failed to finish his last 12 straight starts. Turley, the big man in the trade with Baltimore last winter, wound up with a 17-13 record during the regular season after a brilliant start.

The weatherman, exceedingly cooperative up to now, has forecast occasional showers in the morning, clearing during the early afternoon. The temperature was expected to remain in the 70's with winds up to 20-25 miles per hour.

The injury to Bauer forced Stengel to make a change in his lineup for today's game. Bob Cerv, who replaced Bauer yesterday, was the new starting centerfielder with Elston Howard in Bauer's place in right and Irv Noren in left. Against a lefthander, Bill Skowron replaced Joe Collins at first. Alston also made a change, starting Sandy Amoros in left and shifting Junior Gilliam to second base supplanting Don Zimmer because the Yanks started a righthander.

Baseball History Says Yes

Brooks Could Still Win The Record Books Say

Brooklyn, Sept. 30 (AP)—All is not lost for the Dodgers—yet.

Way back yonder in 1921, when an all-New York series was shiny and brand new, the Giants lost their first two to the Yankees but bounced back to win the best-of-nine set 5-3. If it had been played under modern rules, best-of-seven, the Giants would have won 4-3.

They played the entire series in the Polo Grounds because Yankee Stadium hadn't been built. The Yanks had men to scare you in those days, too. Men like Babe Ruth in left field, Bob Meusel in right and pitchers like Carl Mays, Waite Hoyt and Bob Shawkey.

THEN THERE WAS 1925 when Pittsburgh, trailing 3-1 in games, rallied to sweep three straight over Washington in a best-of-seven series. That had happened only once before in 1903 when the Boston Red Sox, also trailing 3-1, beat Pittsburgh but it was a best-of-nine competition.

As recently as 1953, the last previous Dodger-Yank series, Brooklyn did manage to tie it up at 2-2 after losing the first two at the Stadium. But it didn't do much good. The Yanks breezed home in six, thumping Johnny Podres and beating Clem Labine on relief.

This and Data On the Series

Brooklyn, Sept. 30 (AP)—Figuring the series:

If you've got any buttons wagered in an inning pool, the fourth inning looks like a shoo-in. Not only have more runs (6) already been scored in this frame in the '55 classic, but in World Series history the fourth inning has been the biggest run-producer with 269. The seventh inning is next with 258 runs, followered by the first with 254.

BOB TURLEY finished the regular campaign with four straight victories. The Yankee fireballer has not lost since the White Sox beat him 3-2 on Aug. 28. With Baltimore in 1954, Turley won five of his last six games.

If anyone is wondering whether the Dodgers still would have a chance even if they blow today's game, a single line in the record book under "winning series after losing first three games" reads simply "never accomplished."

BROOKLYN relief pitchers Don Bessent, Clem Labine and Karl Spooner have given up only two hits in 6 2/3 innings while hurling shutout ball.

The Yankees' Gil McDougald has a .500 average—in strike-outs. He's fanned four times in eight at bats.

ROY CAMPANELLA of the Brooks and Irv Noren of the Yankees are the only regulars who have yet to get their first hit of the series. Campy has failed in eight official trips and Noren in seven.

The Yanks' 4-2 victory yesterday was the same score by which they knocked off the Dodgers in the second game of the 1953 series. In that one, Ed Lopat bested Preacher Roe.

Alston was his usual philosophical self.

"I feel as good as anyone can after losing two," he said with a wry smile. "But they've still got to beat us two more."

Power Failure Halts Trotters

Saratoga Springs, Sept. 30 (AP)—A power failure darkened Saratoga Raceway for an hour last night but a number of die-hard harness racing fans sat it out in bright moonlight until racing was resumed. Lights also went out in a section of the city.

Four races had been completed and the horses were scoring for the fifth when the track lights went out. The horses were returned to the barns. Pari-mutuel clerks reported they cashed and even sold some tickets by candlelight.

Okay So Far

Baton Rouge, La. (NEA)—O. K. Ferguson, Louisiana State fullback, lived up to his name in the opener against Kentucky with 5.2 rushing average.

Soo Captures 28th Straight

Philadelphia, Sept. 30 (AP)—Unbeaten Jimmy Soo of Philadelphia won his 28th straight last night by coming off the floor in the sixth round to take a unanimous decision from Charley Slaughter, 133, Westfield, N. J., in their eight-round feature bout at the Plaza.

It was the first professional fight in Pennsyvania since Gov. George M. Leader slapped a suspension on the sport following the Julio Mederos-Harold Johnson fiasco here May 6.

Soo, 135½, outboxed Slaughter except for the sixth round when he went down for an eight count.

Texas Backs to Test Ranking Football Powers in Big Games

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
(The Associated Press)

Texas, the home of fabulous football backs, sends three of its upper-bracket performers into major games this week-end and if they're as good as their billings—and the figures—say, they're likely to create quite a disturbance in the college rankings.

Tonight (Friday), Joe Clements, the tall University of Texas sophomore, matches his passes against the running of Southern California's Jon Arnett. Tomorrow it's Baylor and Bobby Jones against top-ranked Maryland in the big night game and Texas Christian's Jim Swink against defending champion Arkansas in a highly important Southwest Conference tussle.

ALTHOUGH Texas has only split even in two games Clements' pitching arm has produced 299 yards and four touchdowns and has made him the leading ground-gainer in major college football so far this season. Arnett and his USC mates, who have run up big scores in two games, haven't found a place among the statistical leaders.

Quarterback Jones, the key man in Baylor's attack, will be opposed by another fine quarterback in Maryland's Frank Tamburello.

The Bears' hopes are pinned mainly on the possibility that Maryland will suffer a letdown after beating UCLA last week and vaulting into the No. 1 place in the Associated Press poll rankings.

Swink, currently the nation's No. 1 ball carrier, likely will be hard pressed to hold that ranking when tenth-rated TCU bumps into Arkansas at Fayetteville, Ark.

THESE AREN'T necessarily the biggest games—even involving Texas teams—on an unusually hefty early-season slate. For instance, Southern Methodist, still well regarded despite a loss to Notre Dame, bumps into second-ranked Georgia Tech and Rice takes on Louisiana State in intersectional games.

Michigan, rated second in the AP poll after an impressive opening victory over Missouri, faces sophomore-loaded Michigan State. Notre Dame (No. 4) encounters Indiana. Oklahoma and Army, fifth and sixth in the poll rankings, take on a pair of the East's toughest teams, Pittsburgh and Penn State. Seventh-rated UCLA (first a week ago) meets Washington State.

The television game of the week pits Ohio State and Howard Cassaday against Stanford and its passing combination of Jerry Gustafson and John Stewart.

SPORTS

Forst Packers and Rapp's Express of Kingston are off to fast starts in the Hudson Valley bowling league, while Jones Dairy's revamped Whiz Kid movement finds itself in a precarious position.

Expected to challenge for the league title, the Dairymen are now four games behind the league-leading Mardi-Bobs of Poughkeepsie and nothing less than a sustained spurt on the part of Johnny Ferraro and company will prevent the Bobs from gaining an insurmountable lead.

The Packers will be solid threats throughout the season. Rapp's and the other Kingston entries will knock down their share of victories. But if Jones Dairy is to make hay, it will have to be at the expense of the outside teams. They will find little consoaltion in the rough intra-city competition where "beat Jones Dairy" is as much a passion as "beat the Yankees" in the American League.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

Early season bowling reports are littered with typical secretarial mistakes. Among the more common:

1. Failure to list full name of bowler who leads the league.
2. Failure to correctly add totals, team and individual and to show wins and losses for each team.
3. Failure to show name of team and when a squad is sponsored that's an incredible omission. Often scores are reported without one boxscore showing the league's name.
4. Failing to post scores in central post office before 5 a. m. so that delivery to sports department before 9 a. m. is assured.

This is constructive criticism and not directed at any particular person. But since most bowling secretaries are paid by the league they should be held responsible for reporting the scores correctly and on time for publication.

• Splits and Misses:

Jerry Oster's 197 HVBL average indicates the Detroit lad is beginning to find the range. . . . Frank Greco's 201 average for the champion Ellenville Shanahans proves the young veteran is one of the most solid tenpin performers in the area . . . But Johnny Ferraro, like Ben Hogan, is always the man to beat. . . . It seems implausible that at this stage of the going, the HVBL should be operating with two unsponsored teams, both in Poughkeepsie, incidentally, which boasts more leagues than any city between Albany and New York . . . American Bowling Congress has just released the list of national calendar year scoring leaders for the 1954-55 season which ended on July 30: 5-man team series, Budweisers of St. Louis, 3565; 5-man team, one game, Regent Steel, Cleveland, 1269; high individual series, Ted Scudder, Milwaukee, 826. . . . ABC records show that it's easier to bowl a perfect 300 game, once a bowler has made 11 consecutive strikes and needs just one more, than it is to bowl a 299 or 298 game. Since 1908 when the Congress began an award program for high scores, there have been 4766 perfect games, 2644 of 299 and only 1945 games of 298.

Hoople Chides KHS Rooters But Won't Bet Dime on Port

By MAJOR AMOS B. HOOPLE

Zounds! Those dratted upsets!

Last week I fell victim to four of the most uncanny kinds of turn-about in high school football annals. Only three of my seven forecasts proved correct.

Something must be done to remedy this sad situation. Therefore, I have decided to junk the method conceived by those ignorant scoundrels, Profs. Wolfgang McGinty and Manchester Zlobotny.

AFTER A WEEK of strenuous study in my mountain retreat back of Woodstock, I have come up with a new formula for forecasting. Not wishing to run the risk of further embarrassment, I shall not reveal the equation until it has been tested under fire.

Those infernal Kingston High rooters have incurred the wrath of Hoople!

I was sojourning along the northern extremities of Wall street last Friday afternoon, at peace with the world. As I approached a certain soda establishment frequented by the younger set, I was shocked to see myself hanging in effigy from a lamppost opposite the entrance. Such esclandre!

EVIDENTLY the local football fanatics were irked by my prediction that CBA would send their favorites down to defeat. As luck would have it, the Kingston pigskinners emerged victorious.

This week, again, your prognosticator guarantees no success for the Kingstonians. Again, I say, they will be beaten. Port Jervis possesses an operative known as "The Barrel." Said Barrel, methinks, will roll over the Maroon uniforms in fine fashion.

Saugerties' Sawyers will keep buzzing with a win over Tannersville.

Saturday night won't be a happy one in Highland. The Highlanders, poor devils, are stepping out of their class with Nyack. Their long victory string will be brought to an inglorious end.

NEW PALTZ is also due to get beat. Pine Plains will rebound from their shellacking at Saugerties' hands and win.

As to my new system, the old Romans would have said "finis coronat opus!"

Herewith is presented the end of said work:

Port Jervis 21, Kingston 20.
Poughkeepsie 33, Newburgh 7.
Saugerties 13, Tannersville 6.
Nyack 19, Highland 13.
Pine Plains 19, New Paltz 14.

On the national scene you can expect the upset of upsets. Aye, Pittsburgh will defeat mighty Oklahoma, 21-20. No other football expert would dare pick this kind of stunner.

Other upsets of a milder nature are: Southern Methodist to nose out Georgia Tech 20-14, and Oregon to dump Washington, 14 to 7.

Army 33, Penn State 20
Yale 19, Brown 13
Cornell 20, Colgate 13
Maryland 14, Baylor 7
Pittsburgh 21 Oklahoma 20
Kentucky 32, Villanova 6

Peerless Prognosticator

Illinois 20, Iowa State 7
Notre Dame 21, Indiana 14
Wisconsin 14, Iowa 7
Colorado 33, Kansas 13
Kansas State 20, Nebraska 7
Michigan 20, Mich. State 14
Purdue 14, Minnesota 7

The Old Boy Himself

Ohio State 27, Stanford 13
Alabama 14, Vanderbilt 7
Tex. Christian 21, Arkansas 13
Florida 27, Auburn 13
Tennessee 14, Duke 7
Sou. Methodist 20, Ga. Tech 14
La. State 20, Rice 14
South Carolina 14, Navy 7
California 19, Penn 7
Oregon 14, Washington 7
UCLA 27, Wash. State 0

Stewart's 494 Leads Telcos

R. Stewart was No. 1 kegler in the Telco League last night with a 494 cluster on lines of 149, 157 and 188.

L. Herrick posted 423, W. Johnson 430, Warren Vogt 440, T. Barten 434, B. Henry 486, W. Meyers 429, Fred Linnartz 441, Tom Cragan 412, Ken Hopper 401, Bill Glaser 433, M. Armstrong 404, W. Terwilliger 418, Bill Maisenhelder 451.

Installation No. 1 took the team honors with 769 and 2188.

Chapman Hits 487 in Pioneer

Mabel Chapman put together games of 161, 169 and 157 to lead the Pioneer Women with 487 last night.

Loretta Sismilich shot 402, Ethel Henderson 459, Carol Marks 438, Ann Bailer 419, Stella Schrowang 394, Marge Burns 396.

Cedar Rest 0, Carnright's Dairy 3; Lincoln Park Inn 0, Alpine 3; Worf's 1, DeLuca's 2.

Mexico City Would Welcome Bums—O'Dwyer

New York, Sept. 30 (AP)—Ex-mayor William O'Dwyer says his adopted Mexico City would welcome the Dodgers baseball team if it has to move from Brooklyn.

O'Dwyer reports "there are interests in Mexico City who are anxious to have the Dodgers locate there if plans for a new ball park in or near Brooklyn fall through."

O'Dwyer, former U. S. Ambassador to Mexico, brought up the subject during a news interview at Idlewild Airport yesterday.

O'DWYER SAID he flew here from Mexico City principally to handle legal business, including the Dodger situation, and he plans to talk with Dodger president Walter F. O'Malley.

O'Dwyer said he plans to remain here about 10 days. "I love New York and I'll always come back to it," he declared. "But my home is now in Mexico. . . . My health is very good there."

Speiser-Troy Tonight's Bout

Washington, Sept. 30 (AP)—Tonight's television fight fare matches Chuck Speiser, latest of the Michigan State boxing products, and Willie Troy, 23-year-old light-heavyweight veteran Washington.

Speiser, two-time NCAA light-heavy titlist, is under the direction of Pat Knowles of Chicago, who promoted Chuck Davey, a former popular welterweight who also attended Michigan State.

IN 18 PROFESSIONAL bouts, Speiser has been a winner 15 times. He recently was released from a tour of military duty and has fought five times since, winning four by knockouts and losing to Willie Pastrano of New Orleans.

Troy once fought a draw with Pastrano. He has been up consistently among the top ten in his division.

Tonight's fight, set for 10 rounds, begins at 9 p. m., Eastern Standard Time. It will be televised nationally over the NBC.

Ruzzo Hits 626 Series In Major

Joe Ruzzo unloaded a 626 triple to shade Jackie Ferraro by two sticks for individual scoring honors in the Ferraro Major last night.

Ruzzo put together lines of 198, 179 and 249. Ferraro posted 182, 209, 233 for 624.

KEN JOSEPH powered 200-212-600; Randy Kelder 224-606. Petersen Construction's 1035 and Gov. Clinton Market's 2861 were top team efforts.

The scores:

Capri Restaurant (3) — Joe Ruzzo 626, Charles Manfro 203-555, Ken Joseph 600; 893-880-1003-2776.

Nadler Motors (1) — Larry Weishaupt 216-209-583, Bob Petersen 534, Fred Rice 203-563, John Ferraro 528; 894-928-909-2731.

Petersen Construction (2)—George Shufeldt 210-201-560, Frank Leskie 209-213-548, John Schatzel 224-569, Harold Broskie 200-550, Larry Petersen 220-585; 848-1035-925-2808.

Hercules (2) — Cliff Davis 526, B. Birchall 204-202-591, Vern Van Dusen 220-200-587, Bill Murray 233-202-593; 946-961-914-2821.

Ford Blasts Ryder Pros For Bypassing $15G Event

Huntington, Sept. 30 (AP)—Doug Ford, National PGA titleholder who held the lead with a 68 at the start of the second round of the $15,000 Long Island Open golf championship, today criticized fellow members of the Ryder Cup team for passing up the event.

"We have only three Ryder Cup nominees in this event," said Ford, winner of the All-American at Tam-O-Shanter and the $43,000 sponsors events in addition to the PGA. "Of course, a lot of these fellows are not so rugged as others, being on the nervous side, but I feel that the sponsors of a $15,000 tournament should get all of the stars in action, not just a few of the so-called hotshots."

IN ADDITION to Ford, the Ryder Cup nominees engaged in the tourney are Marty Furgol, who had 70, and Tommy Bolt, whose card showed 72.

"Dr. Cary Middlecoff in my opinion, is a nervous type of player, who requires a lot of rest between tournaments and is justified taking a rest," explained Ford.

"But there is no excuse for most of the better players not backed by local institutions," continued Doug. "After all, if we didn't get the backing of the local people in these tournaments, there would be little money for us players to try for."

As play went into the second round of the 72-hole play over the par 70, 6,550-yard Huntington Crescent Club course, Ford was a stroke in front of Al Brosch, veteran from the Cherry Valley Club of Garden City. And Billy Maxwell, former National Amateur titleholder from Odessa, Tex.

Yonkers Feature To Ensign Lad

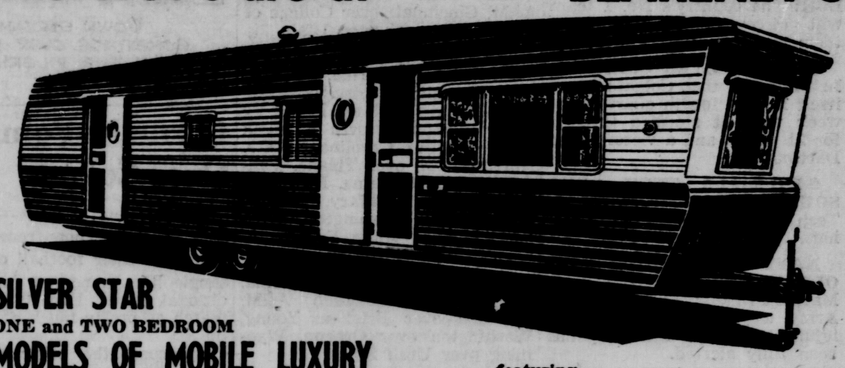

Yonkers, Sept. 30 (AP)—Ensign Lad, driven by Clint Hodgins, scored a neck victory in the Yorktown Pace at Yonkers Raceway last night.

The 4-year-old horse covered the mile in 2:04 1/5 and returned $8.50 and $4.20 and $2.20.

Second was Eastern Shore, handled by John Thomas. Third was Bertram Hanover, with Billy Haughton at the reins.

They will find little consoaltion in the rough intra-city competition where "beat Jones Dairy" is as much a passion as "beat the Yankees" in the American League.

● Flotsam and Jetsam:

Early season bowling reports are littered with typical secretarial mistakes. Among the more common:

1. Failure to list full name of bowler who leads the league.
2. Failure to correctly add totals, team and individual and to show wins and losses for each team.
3. Failure to show name of team and when a squad is sponsored that's an incredible omission. Often scores are reported without one boxscore showing the league's name.
4. Failing to post scores in central post office before 5 a. m. so that delivery to sports department before 9 a. m. is assured.

This is constructive criticism and not directed at any particular person. But since most bowling secretaries are paid by the league they should be held responsible for reporting the scores correctly and on time for publication.

● Splits and Misses:

Jerry Oster's 197 HVBL average indicates the Detroit lad is beginning to find the range. . . . Frank Greco's 201 average for the champion Ellenville Shanahans proves the young veteran is one of the most solid tenpin performers in the area . . . But Johnny Ferraro, like Ben Hogan, is always the man to beat. . . . It seems implausible that at this stage of the going, the HVBL should be operating with two unsponsored teams, both in Poughkeepsie, incidentally, which boasts more leagues than any city between Albany and New York . . . American Bowling Congress has just released the list of national calendar year scoring leaders for the 1954-55 season which ended on July 30: 5-man team series, Budweisers of St. Louis, 3565; 5-man team, one game, Regent Steel, Cleveland, 1269; high individual series, Ted Scudder, Milwaukee, 826. . . . ABC records show that it's easier to bowl a perfect 300 game, once a bowler has made 11 consecutive strikes and needs just one more, than it is to bowl a 299 or 298 game. Since 1908 when the Congress began an award program for high scores, there have been 4766 perfect games, 2644 of 299 and only 1945 games of 298.

Hoople Chides KHS Rooters But Won't Bet Dime on Port

By MAJOR AMOS B. HOOPLE

Zounds! Those dratted upsets!

Last week I fell victim to four of the most uncanny kinds of turn-about in high school football annals. Only three of my seven forecasts proved correct.

Something must be done to remedy this sad situation. Therefore, I have decided to junk the method conceived by those ignorant scoundrels, Profs. Wolfgang McGinty and Manchester Zlobotny.

AFTER A WEEK of strenuous study in my mountain retreat back of Woodstock, I have come up with a new formula for forecasting. Not wishing to run the risk of further embarrassment, I shall not reveal the equation until it has been tested under fire.

Those infernal Kingston High rooters have incurred the wrath of Hoople!

I was sojourning along the northern extremities of Wall street last Friday afternoon, at peace with the world. As I approached a certain soda establishment frequented by the younger set, I was shocked to see myself hanging in effigy from a lamppost opposite the entrance. Such esclandre!

EVIDENTLY the local football fanatics were irked by my prediction that CBA would send their favorites down to defeat. As luck would have it, the Kingston pigskinners emerged victorious.

This week, again, your prognosticator guarantees no success for the Kingstonians. Again, I say, they will be beaten. Port Jervis possesses an operative known as "The Barrel." Said Barrel, methinks, will roll over the Maroon uniforms in fine fashion.

Poughkeepsie confounded me by upsetting Beacon. So this week, the charges of Sam Kalloch will drub weak Newburgh.

Saugerties' Sawyers will keep buzzing with a win over Tannersville.

Saturday night won't be a happy one in Highland. The Highlanders, poor devils, are stepping out of their class with Nyack. Their long victory string will be brought to an inglorious end.

NEW PALTZ is also due to get beat. Pine Plains will rebound from their shellacking at Saugerties' hands and win.

As to my new system, the old Romans would have said "finis coronat opus!"

Herewith is presented the end of said work:

Port Jervis 21, Kingston 20.
Poughkeepsie 33, Newburgh 7.
Saugerties 13, Tannersville 6.
Nyack 19, Highland 13.
Pine Plains 19, New Paltz 14.

On the national scene you can expect the upset of upsets. Aye, Pittsburgh will defeat mighty Oklahoma, 21-20. No other football expert would dare pick this kind of stunner.

Other upsets of a milder nature are: Southern Methodist to nose out Georgia Tech 20-14, and Oregon to dump Washington, 14 to 7.

Army 33, Penn State 20
Yale 19, Brown 13
Cornell 20, Colgate 13
Maryland 14, Baylor 7
Pittsburgh 21 Oklahoma 20
Kentucky 32, Villanova 6

Peerless Prognosticator

Illinois 20, Iowa State 7
Notre Dame 21, Indiana 14
Wisconsin 14, Iowa 7
Colorado 33, Kansas 13
Kansas State 20, Nebraska 7
Michigan 20, Mich. State 14
Purdue 14, Minnesota 7

The Old Boy Himself

Ohio State 27, Stanford 13
Alabama 14, Vanderbilt 7
Tex. Christian 21, Arkansas 13
Florida 27, Auburn 13
Tennessee 14, Duke 7
Sou. Methodist 20, Ga. Tech 14
La. State 20, Rice 14
South Carolina 14, Navy 7
California 19, Penn 7
Oregon 14, Washington 7
UCLA 27, Wash. State 0

Stewart's 494 Leads Telcos

R. Stewart was No. 1 kegler in the Telco League last night with a 494 cluster on lines of 149, 157 and 188.

Mexico City Would Welcome Bums—O'Dwyer

New York, Sept. 30 (AP)—Ex-mayor William O'Dwyer says his adopted Mexico City would welcome the Dodgers baseball team if it has to move from Brooklyn.

O'Dwyer reports "there are interests in Mexico City who are anxious to have the Dodgers locate there if plans for a new ball park in or near Brooklyn fall through."

O'Dwyer, former U. S. Ambassador to Mexico, brought up the subject during a news interview at Idlewild Airport yesterday.

O'DWYER SAID he flew here from Mexico City principally to handle legal business, including the Dodger situation, and he plans to talk with Dodger president Walter F. O'Malley.

O'Dwyer said he plans to remain here about 10 days. "I love New York and I'll always come back to it," he declared. "But my home is now in Mexico. . . . My health is very good there."

Speiser-Troy Tonight's Bout

Washington, Sept. 30 (AP)—Tonight's television fight fare matches Chuck Speiser, latest of the Michigan State boxing products, and Willie Troy, 23-year-old light-heavyweight veteran Washington.

Speiser, two-time NCAA light-heavy titlist, is under the direction of Pat Knowles of Chicago, who promoted Chuck Davey, a former popular welterweight who also attended Michigan State.

IN 18 PROFESSIONAL bouts, Speiser has been a winner 15 times. He recently was released from a tour of military duty and has fought five times since, winning four by knockouts and losing to Willie Pastrano of New Orleans.

Troy once fought a draw with Pastrano. He has been up consistently among the top ten in his division.

Tonight's fight, set for 10 rounds, begins at 9 p. m., Eastern Standard Time. It will be televised nationally over the NBC.

Ruzzo Hits 626 Series In Major

Joe Ruzzo unloaded a 626 triple to shade Jackie Ferraro by two sticks for individual scoring honors in the Ferraro Major last night.

Ruzzo put together lines of 198, 179 and 249. Ferraro posted 182, 209, 233 for 624.

KEN JOSEPH powered 200-212-600; Randy Kelder 224-606. Petersen Construction's 1035 and Gov. Clinton Market's 2861 were top team efforts.

Ford Blasts Ryder Pros For Bypassing $15G Event

Huntington, Sept. 30 (AP)—Doug Ford, National PGA titleholder who held the lead with a 68 at the start of the second round of the $15,000 Long Island Open golf championship, today criticized fellow members of the Ryder Cup team for passing up the event.

"We have only three Ryder Cup nominees in this event," said Ford, winner of the All-American at Tam-O-Shanter and the $43,000 sponsors events in addition to the PGA. "Of course, a lot of these fellows are not so rugged as others, being on the nervous side, but I feel that the sponsors of a $15,000 tournament should get all of the stars in action, not just a few of the so-called hotshots."

IN ADDITION to Ford, the Ryder Cup nominees engaged in the tourney are Marty Furgol, who had 70, and Tommy Bolt, whose card showed 72.

"Dr. Cary Middlecoff in my opinion, is a nervous type of player, who requires a lot of rest between tournaments and is justified taking a rest," explained Ford.

"But there is no excuse for most of the better players not backed by local institutions," continued Doug. "After all, if we didn't get the backing of the local people in these tournaments, there would be little money for us players to try for."

As play went into the second round of the 72-hole play over the par 70, 6,550-yard Huntington Crescent Club course, Ford was a stroke in front of Al Brosch, veteran from the Cherry Valley Club of Garden City. And Billy Maxwell, former National Amateur titleholder from Odessa, Tex.

Yonkers Feature To Ensign Lad

Yonkers, Sept. 30 (AP)—Ensign Lad, driven by Clint Hodgins, scored a neck victory in the Yorktown Pace at Yonkers Raceway last night.

The 4-year-old horse covered the mile in 2:04 1/5 and returned $8.50 and $4.20 and $2.20.

Second was Eastern Shore, handled by John Thomas. Third was Bertram Hanover, with Billy Haughton at the reins.

AP's Pick of the Week, Oklahoma Over Pitt

New York, Sept. 29 (AP)—Everyone says pitching contributes 80 per cent to the success of a team in baseball's World Series. The winners pitched you in last week's football forecast came to .796 with 39 correct guesses and 10 losses.

Here are this week's picks:

OKLAHOMA OVER PITTSBURGH: The Sooners didn't exactly sparkle last weekend and Pitt did, but Oklahoma is a strong favorite to extend college football's longest current winning streak to 21 games.

ARMY OVER PENN STATE: Lenny Moore is an established backfield star for Penn State and Don Holleder still is a question mark at quarterback for Army but the Cadets get the nod.

IOWA OVER WISCONSIN: The day's upset special.

MARYLAND OVER BAYLOR: The country's No. 1 team will discover that they grow them rough and ready in Texas.

COLGATE OVER CORNELL: In the belief that Colgate found itself in that fourth quarter last week when it stormed through for 21 points and a victory over Dartmouth.

GEORGIA TECH OVER SOUTHERN METHODIST: — Tech has won the last four meetings.

NAVY OVER SOUTH CAROLINA: South Carolina, with Mackie Prickett the hero, spilled Army a year ago. Prickett is injured this year and Navy has been fully alerted.

MICHIGAN OVER MICHIGAN STATE: Ron Kramer, Michigan's great end, is riding the glory road.

OHIO STATE OVER STANFORD: Your weekly TV morsel. The Buckeyes can't go to the Rose Bowl this season so they will make a "show" of this game.

NOTRE DAME OVER INDIANA: The Irish by two touchdowns.

DUKE OVER TENNESSEE: Duke gets a lot of revenge here.

Cornell 1-Point Over Colgate

Ithaca, Sept. 30 (AP)—Cornell and Colgate, come-from-behind outfits in their football openers, tangle here tomorrow in a traditional game. Experts rate the match as pretty much of a toss-up.

Syracuse, the other member of the upstate Big Three, has an open date.

The teams seem to be well matched but Cornell is figured a one-point favorite. Both made all their conversion attemps last week so the edge appears technical.

COLGATE'S . RED . Raiders turned on a spectacular spurt last Saturday to edge Dartmouth 21-20. The Big Red also came from behind to defeat a scrappy Lehigh team 14-6. Both teams did all their scoring in the last period.

The game may develop into a show between two flashy quarterbacks. Cornell's Billy De Graaf, a slow starter last year, has improved greatly. Colgate's Guy Martin pitched the three scoring passes to halfback Jack Call last week.

Both teams have speedy backfields and rebuilt lines. To get by the Big Red, Colgate may need a stronger defensive wall and a better pass defense.

Larvae Do Damage

Adult moths do not eat woolens, furs and other fabrics, as popularly supposed. They do, however lay their eggs in such materials and the fabric provides the larvae with their food supply.

DATED SEPTEMBER 14th, 1955.

AN ORDINANCE AUTHORIZING THE PURCHASE OF FIRE TRUCKS FOR THE CITY OF KINGSTON, NEW YORK, AT A TOTAL ESTIMATED COST OF $35,300.00, AND AUTHORIZING THE ISSUANCE OF $33,500.00 SERIAL BONDS OF SAID CITY AND THE ISSUANCE OF A $1,800.00 CAPITAL NOTE OF SAID CITY TO PAY THE COST THEREOF.

BE IT ORDAINED, by the Common Council of the City of Kingston, Ulster County, New York, as follows:

SECTION 1. The purchase of two fire trucks for the City of Kingston, New York, is hereby authorized, at an estimated cost of $17,650.00 each.

SECTION 2. The total estimated cost of the aforesaid object or purpose is $35,300.00, and the plan of financing thereof is as follows:

a) From the issuance of a $1,800.00 capital note of said City, which is hereby authorized to be issued, and all further powers in connection with the details and sale of said capital note are hereby delegated to the City Treasurer of said City of Kingston, New York, in conformity with law; and

b) From the issuance of $33,500.00 serial bonds of said City, hereinafter authorized.

SECTION 3. To pay part of the cost of the aforesaid object or purpose, there are hereby authorized to be issued $33,500.00 serial bonds of said City, pursuant to the provisions of the Local Finance Law.

SECTION 4. The faith and credit of said City of Kingston, Ulster County, New York, are hereby irrevocably pledged to the payment of the principal of and interest on such bonds and capital note as the same respectively become due and payable. An annual appropriation shall be made in each year sufficient to pay the principal of and interest on such bonds and capital note becoming due and payable in such year.

SECTION 5. It is hereby determined that subdivision 27 of paragraph a of Section 11.00 of the Local Finance Law applies to the aforesaid object or purpose, and that the period of probable usefulness thereof is ten years.

SECTION 6. The aforesaid capital note, in the amount of $1,800.00 will be issued and sold prior to the issuance of such bonds or bond anticipation notes.

SECTION 7. The validity of such obligations may be contested only if:

1) Such obligations are authorized for an object or purpose for which said City of Kingston is not authorized to expend money, or

2) The provisions of law which should be complied with at the date of publication of this ordinance are not substantially complied with,

and an action, suit or proceeding contesting such validity is commenced within twenty days after the date of such publication, or

3) Such obligations are authorized in violation of the provisions of the Constitution.

SECTION 8. This ordinance, which takes effect immediately, shall be published in full, after approval by the Mayor, in THE KINGSTON DAILY FREEMAN and in the KINGSTON ULSTER PRESS, the official newspapers of said City, together with a Clerk's certificate in substantial conformity with Section 81.00 of the Local Finance Law.

AP's Pick of the Week, Oklahoma Over Pitt

New York, Sept. 29 (AP)—Everyone says pitching contributes 80 per cent to the success of a team in baseball's World Series. The winners pitched you in last week's football forecast came to .796 with 39 correct guesses and 10 losses.

Here are this week's picks:

OKLAHOMA OVER PITTSBURGH: The Sooners didn't exactly sparkle last weekend and Pitt did, but Oklahoma is a strong favorite to extend college football's longest current winning streak to 21 games.

ARMY OVER PENN STATE: Lenny Moore is an established backfield star for Penn State and Don Holleder still is a question mark at quarterback for Army but the Cadets get the nod.

IOWA OVER WISCONSIN: The day's upset special.

MARYLAND OVER BAYLOR: The country's No. 1 team will discover that they grow them rough and ready in Texas.

COLGATE OVER CORNELL: In the belief that Colgate found itself in that fourth quarter last week when it stormed through for 21 points and a victory over Dartmouth.

GEORGIA TECH OVER SOUTHERN METHODIST: — Tech has won the last four meetings.

NAVY OVER SOUTH CAROLINA: South Carolina, with Mackie Prickett the hero, spilled Army a year ago. Prickett is injured this year and Navy has been fully alerted.

MICHIGAN OVER MICHIGAN STATE: Ron Kramer, Michigan's great end, is riding the glory road.

OHIO STATE OVER STANFORD: Your weekly TV morsel. The Buckeyes can't go to the Rose Bowl this season so they will make a "show" of this game.

NOTRE DAME OVER INDIANA: The Irish by two touchdowns.

DUKE OVER TENNESSEE: Duke gets a lot of revenge here.

EAST

Holy Cross over Dartmouth, Harvard over Massachusetts, Princeton over Columbia, Yale over Brown, Boston University over Connecticut.

MIDWEST

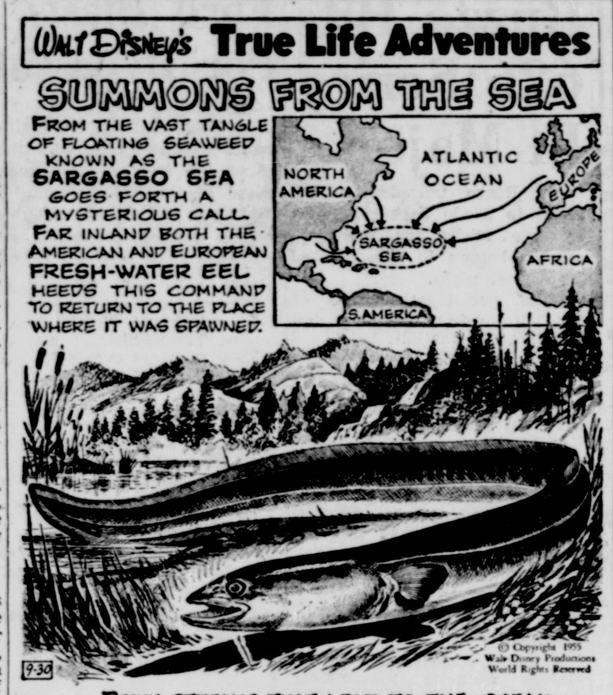

Colorado over Kansas, Illinois over Iowa State, Kansas State over Nebraska, Marquette over Tulsa, Purdue over Minnesota, Texas Tech over Oklahoma A&M, Cincinnati over College of Pacific, Missouri over Utah.

SOUTH

Auburn over Florida, Clemson over Georgia, Mississippi State over Memphis State, Kentucky over Villanova, North Carolina over North Carolina State, Northwestern over Tulane, Vanderbilt over Alabama, Richmond over Virginia Military, Virginia over George Washington, West Virginia over Wake Forest.

FAR WEST

California over Pennsylvania, Denver over Colorado A&M, Montana over Brigham Young, Washington over Oregon, Wyoming over Utah State.

Cornell 1-Point Over Colgate

Ithaca, Sept. 30 (AP)—Cornell and Colgate, come-from-behind outfits in their football openers, tangle here tomorrow in a traditional game. Experts rate the match as pretty much of a toss-up.

Syracuse, the other member of the upstate Big Three, has an open date.

The teams seem to be well matched but Cornell is figured a one-point favorite. Both made all their conversion attemps last week so the edge appears technical.

COLGATE'S . RED . Raiders turned on a spectacular spurt last Saturday to edge Dartmouth 21-20. The Big Red also came from behind to defeat a scrappy Lehigh team 14-6. Both teams did all their scoring in the last period.

The game may develop into a show between two flashy quarterbacks. Cornell's Billy De Graaf, a slow starter last year, has improved greatly. Colgate's Guy Martin pitched the three scoring passes to halfback Jack Call last week.

Both teams have speedy backfields and rebuilt lines. To get by the Big Red, Colgate may need a stronger defensive wall and a better pass defense.

Larvae Do Damage

Adult moths do not eat woolens, furs and other fabrics, as popularly supposed. They do, however lay their eggs in such materials and the fabric provides the larvae with their food supply.

LEGAL NOTICE

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the ordinance published herewith has been adopted by the Common Council of the City of Kingston, Ulster County, New York, on the 14th day of Sept., 1955, and the validity of the obligations authorized by such ordinance may be hereafter contested only if such obligations were authorized for an object or purpose for which said City is not authorized to expend money, or if the provisions of law which should have been complied with as of the date of publication of this notice were not substantially complied with, and an action, suit or proceeding contesting such validity is commenced within twenty days after the date of publication of this notice, or such obligations were authorized in violation of the provisions of the Constitution.

Dated: Kingston, New York,
Sept. 15th, 1955.

BERNHARDT S. KRAMER,
City Clerk

BOND ORDINANCE

DATED SEPTEMBER 14th, 1955.

AN ORDINANCE AUTHORIZING THE PURCHASE OF FIRE TRUCKS FOR THE CITY OF KINGSTON, NEW YORK, AT A TOTAL ESTIMATED COST OF $35,300.00, AND AUTHORIZING THE ISSUANCE OF $33,500.00 SERIAL BONDS OF SAID CITY AND THE ISSUANCE OF A $1,800.00 CAPITAL NOTE OF SAID CITY TO PAY THE COST THEREOF.

BE IT ORDAINED, by the Common Council of the City of Kingston, Ulster County, New York, as follows:

SECTION 1. The purchase of two fire trucks for the City of Kingston, New York, is hereby authorized, at an estimated cost of $17,650.00 each.

SECTION 2. The total estimated cost of the aforesaid object or purpose is $35,300.00, and the plan of financing thereof is as follows:

a) From the issuance of a $1,800.00 capital note of said City, which is hereby authorized to be issued, and all further powers in connection with the details and sale of said capital note are hereby delegated to the City Treasurer of said City of Kingston, New York, in conformity with law; and

b) From the issuance of $33,500.00 serial bonds of said City, hereinafter authorized.

SECTION 3. To pay part of the cost of the aforesaid object or purpose, there are hereby authorized to be issued $33,500.00 serial bonds of said City, pursuant to the provisions of the Local Finance Law.

SECTION 4. The faith and credit of said City of Kingston, Ulster County, New York, are hereby irrevocably pledged to the payment of the principal of and interest on such bonds and capital note as the same respectively become due and payable. An annual appropriation shall be made in each year sufficient to pay the principal of and interest on such bonds and capital note becoming due and payable in such year.

SECTION 5. It is hereby determined that subdivision 27 of paragraph a of Section 11.00 of the Local Finance Law applies to the aforesaid object or purpose, and that the period of probable usefulness thereof is ten years.

SECTION 6. The aforesaid capital note, in the amount of $1,800.00 will be issued and sold prior to the issuance of such bonds or bond anticipation notes.

SECTION 7. The validity of such obligations may be contested only if:

1) Such obligations are authorized for an object or purpose for which said City of Kingston is not authorized to expend money, or

2) The provisions of law which should be complied with at the date of publication of this ordinance are not substantially complied with,

and an action, suit or proceeding contesting such validity is commenced within twenty days after the date of such publication, or

3) Such obligations are authorized in violation of the provisions of the Constitution.

SECTION 8. This ordinance, which takes effect immediately, shall be published in full, after approval by the Mayor, in THE KINGSTON DAILY FREEMAN and in the KINGSTON ULSTER PRESS, the official newspapers of said City, together with a Clerk's certificate in substantial conformity with Section 81.00 of the Local Finance Law.

STATE OF NEW YORK, COUNTY COURT—COUNTY OF ULSTER

LEWIS DU BOIS and PEARL MARKLE DU BOIS, Plaintiffs, against GEORGE JOHNSON and ANDREW DUNNIGAN, if living, and all devisees, distributees and heirs-at-law of the said George Johnson and Andrew Dunnigan, if they be deceased, and also all persons who, by purchase or inheritance or otherwise, have or claim to have an interest in the premises described in the complaint herein, derived through the said George Johnson or Andrew Dunnigan or through their devisees, distributees or heirs-at-law, or through any of them, which devisees, distributees, heirs-at-law and other persons, if any there be, and their names are unknown to plaintiffs, and all persons who have or make any claim whatever as executors or administrators of any person who may be deceased and who, if living, would have any interest in the premises described in the complaint herein, derived through the said George Johnson and Andrew Dunnigan or their devisees, distributees, or heirs-at-law, which persons, if any there be, and their names are unknown to plaintiffs, Defendants.

TO THE ABOVE NAMED DEFENDANTS:

YOU ARE HEREBY SUMMONED to answer the complaint in this action, and to serve a copy of your answer, or, if the complaint is not served with this summons, to serve a notice of appearance, on the plaintiff's attorney within twenty days after the service of this summons, exclusive of the day of service. In case of your failure to appear or answer, judgment will be taken against you by default for the relief demanded in the complaint.

Dated: Kingston, New York, July 28th, 1955.

TO THE ABOVE NAMED DEFENDANTS IN THIS ACTION:

The foregoing summons is served upon you by publication pursuant to an order of the Hon. John M. Cashin, Judge of the County Court, County of Ulster, dated the 23rd day of August, 1955, and filed with the complaint in the office of the Clerk of the County of Ulster at Kingston, New York on the 24th day of August, 1955.

This action is brought pursuant to Article 15 of the Real Property Law of the State of New York to compel the determination of claims to the real property described below:

ALL THAT PIECE OR PARCEL OF LAND, lying and being in the town of Hurley, County of Ulster and State of New York, described as follows:—1 Acre, more or less, described as Brushlot, Hurley, bounded North by Whiteport Road, East and South by Kemble, West by Dunnigan, against which the words "Johnson, George Heirs" appear on the assessment roll of the Town of Hurley for the year 1941.

Being the same premises conveyed by Albert W. Cashdollar, County Treasurer of the County of Ulster, to Lewis Du Bois and Pearl Markle by deed dated January 6, 1944, and recorded in the Ulster County Clerk's Office January 7, 1944, in Liber 638 of Deeds at page 513.

ALSO, ALL THAT PIECE OR PARCEL OF LAND, lying and being in the town of Hurley, County of Ulster and State of New York, described as follows:—1 Acre, more or less, described as Brushlot, Hurley, bounded North by Whiteport Road, East by Johnson, South and West by Kemble, against which the words "Dunnigan, Andrew Heirs" appear on the assessment roll of the Town of Hurley for the year 1941.

Being the same premises conveyed by Albert W. Cashdollar, County Treasurer of the County of Ulster, to Lewis Du Bois and Pearl Markle by deed dated January 6, 1944, and recorded in the Ulster County Clerk's Office January 7, 1944, in Liber 638 of Deeds at page 512.

Dated: August 24th, 1955.

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 30 (AP)—Frank J. Colligan of Albany, chief building guard at the state capitol, has been appointed to an $11,500-a-year post in the State Public Works Department. John W. Johnson, department superintendent, announced yesterday that Colligan would be, effective tomorrow, assistant superintendent of operations and maintenance for buildings and grounds. Colligan, a state employe for 25 years, succeeds Charles E. Walsh Jr. The department said Walsh "has been relieved of his duties" as of today. Walsh was appointed in 1947, during the administration of former Republican Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

They'll visit the local and long distance switchboards at which 83,000 calls are handled each day, and will actually see some of the nearly 300 Kingston operators completing calls to Kingston telephones and to far-flung sections of the country. The itinerary also includes a stop at the second floor lounge where telephone girls rest on their relief periods, and a visit to the cafeteria.

Moving downstairs to the first floor the guests will see the American Telephone and Telegraph Company test room where a check is maintained on all long distance lines out of Kingston, and where television programs for this area are monitored before they are seen on local TV receivers.

Several exhibits throughout the building will better acquaint visitors with the safety-mindedness of the telephone company and will furnish them additional facts about the telephone business. Telephone tools, parts of the telephone, tubes and cable exhibits are included.

An additional feature will be a free demonstration call for every 75th person who tours the building. An information folder about telephone service in Kingston will be distributed to everyone.

To call attention to the diamond jubilee observance of Kingston telephone service, the telephone company has window exhibits at the Kingston Chamber of Commerce office, Myers Electric on Broadway and at the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation office.

Lots of Water Used

Washington, Sept. 30 (AP) — America's pulp and paper industry last year used about 3,800,000,000 gallons of water a day, the geological survey says. The amount is described as about 10 times as much as Philadelphia uses. The survey's report on use and reuse of water by U. S. paper manufacturers, released yesterday, is the first of a series on industrial water requirements. Citing the pulp and paper industry's huge demand for water, the survey said about 20 gallons of water were needed to produce enough paper for one copy of a typical Sunday newspaper.

Pressure Off Market

New York, Sept. 30 (AP)—The pressure was off the stock market today. Market analysts saw no strong pressure on prices either way, barring some drastic new event similar to President Eisenhower's illness which caused Monday's frantic sell-off. Wall Street took a breather yesterday as profit-taking moved in after two days of recovery which had regained about 43 per cent of the estimated drop in quoted values of securities on Monday.

Two Held in Baby's Death

New Orleans, Sept. 30 (AP)—A step-brother and sister were held for investigation of murder today after an abandoned baby they admitted was theirs died of exposure and ant bites. The 2-day-old boy was found in a sewer catch basin swarming with red ants. Its cries attracted a passer-by who summoned police. The infant died in a hospital less than a half-hour after 24-year-old Mary Louise White admitted abandoning it, Police Capt. William Dowie reported.

Held on Check Charge

Andrew J. Kabatar, 34, of Wharton, N. J., was arrested Thursday afternoon in the town of Ulster by County Ihvestigator Arthur H. Brown on a warrant charging the issuance of fraudulent checks. Arraigned before Justice of the Peace Edward Brodsky of Rosendale, Kabatar paid a $25 fine and made full restitution of $75.18.

Dewey Appointee Goes

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 30 (AP)—Frank J. Colligan of Albany, chief building guard at the state capitol, has been appointed to an $11,500-a-year post in the State Public Works Department. John W. Johnson, department superintendent, announced yesterday that Colligan would be, effective tomorrow, assistant superintendent of operations and maintenance for buildings and grounds. Colligan, a state employe for 25 years, succeeds Charles E. Walsh Jr. The department said Walsh "has been relieved of his duties" as of today. Walsh was appointed in 1947, during the administration of former Republican Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

They'll visit the local and long distance switchboards at which 83,000 calls are handled each day, and will actually see some of the nearly 300 Kingston operators completing calls to Kingston telephones and to far-flung sections of the country. The itinerary also includes a stop at the second floor lounge where telephone girls rest on their relief periods, and a visit to the cafeteria.

Moving downstairs to the first floor the guests will see the American Telephone and Telegraph Company test room where a check is maintained on all long distance lines out of Kingston, and where television programs for this area are monitored before they are seen on local TV receivers.

Several exhibits throughout the building will better acquaint visitors with the safety-mindedness of the telephone company and will furnish them additional facts about the telephone business. Telephone tools, parts of the telephone, tubes and cable exhibits are included.

An additional feature will be a free demonstration call for every 75th person who tours the building. An information folder about telephone service in Kingston will be distributed to everyone.

To call attention to the diamond jubilee observance of Kingston telephone service, the telephone company has window exhibits at the Kingston Chamber of Commerce office, Myers Electric on Broadway and at the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation office.

Lots of Water Used

Washington, Sept. 30 (AP) — America's pulp and paper industry last year used about 3,800,000,000 gallons of water a day, the geological survey says. The amount is described as about 10 times as much as Philadelphia uses. The survey's report on use and reuse of water by U. S. paper manufacturers, released yesterday, is the first of a series on industrial water requirements. Citing the pulp and paper industry's huge demand for water, the survey said about 20 gallons of water were needed to produce enough paper for one copy of a typical Sunday newspaper.

Pressure Off Market

New York, Sept. 30 (AP)—The pressure was off the stock market today. Market analysts saw no strong pressure on prices either way, barring some drastic new event similar to President Eisenhower's illness which caused Monday's frantic sell-off. Wall Street took a breather yesterday as profit-taking moved in after two days of recovery which had regained about 43 per cent of the estimated drop in quoted values of securities on Monday.

Two Held in Baby's Death

New Orleans, Sept. 30 (AP)—A step-brother and sister were held for investigation of murder today after an abandoned baby they admitted was theirs died of exposure and ant bites. The 2-day-old boy was found in a sewer catch basin swarming with red ants. Its cries attracted a passer-by who summoned police. The infant died in a hospital less than a half-hour after 24-year-old Mary Louise White admitted abandoning it, Police Capt. William Dowie reported.

Held on Check Charge

Andrew J. Kabatar, 34, of Wharton, N. J., was arrested Thursday afternoon in the town of Ulster by County Investigator Arthur H. Brown on a warrant charging the issuance of fraudulent checks. Arraigned before Justice of the Peace Edward Brodsky of Rosendale, Kabatar paid a $25 fine and made full restitution of $75.18.

Weather Forecast

NEW YORK CITY and vicinity — Considerable cloudiness this afternoon and tonight with chance of some showers. Highest today around 70. Little change in temperature tonight with lowest near 60. Saturday partly cloudy and a little cooler, highest 65 to 70. Moderate to fresh southerly winds this afternoon and tonight, becoming moderate northerly on Saturday.

Outlook—Sunday, some cloudiness, cool, chance of showers; Monday, fair with seasonable temperatures.

EASTERN New York—Cloudy and windy with showers today, ending by this evening and followed by partial clearing and cooler tonight. High today from the 60s to the low 70s. Low tonight in the 40s, except 35 to 40 in the extreme north. Partly cloudy and cooler tomorrow, the high ranging from in the 50s to the low 60s.

Railroad Retirement

A representative of the Railroad Retirement Board will be at the New York Central Freight Station, 545 Broadway, ground floor, between the hours of 10 a. m. and 4 p. m. on Wednesday, Oct. 12 for the purpose of assisting the railroad worker, his wife, widow or survivors in retirement and survivor problems and answering any inquires which they may have in connection with the Railroad Retirement and Railroad Unemployment Insurance Acts.

Justice Located

Wells, N. Y., Sept. 30 (AP)—A peace justice who disappeared from this Hamilton county hamlet last Saturday has been located in Las Vegas, Nev., his wife reported to state police last night. Mrs. William Vonderheide told troopers at the Mayfield substation she had just received a telephone call from a Las Vegas welfare agency saying her husband was there. Vonderheide "apparently blacked out" Saturday after leaving his job at a Wells lumber company, his wife said.

Lodge to Marry

New York, Sept. 30 (AP) — A marriage license was obtained yesterday by Henry S. Lodge, son of ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., and Eleanor T. Ziegler of New York. The couple plan to wed Oct. 8 in St. Thomas Roman Catholic Church here. The bridegroom-to-be, 25, a banker, resides at 275 Hale street, Beverly, Mass. Miss Ziegler, 19, a native of Utica, N. Y., is the daughter of Frederick J. and Alice Cantwell Ziegler. The elder Lodge is chief U. S. delegate to the United Nations.

CUB PACK 9—The assembly room of the Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Redeemer was transformed into a Sherwood Forest on Sept. 26, when Robin Hood and his band of merry bowmen gathered together for an evening of fun and frolic. The archers, otherwise known as Cub Pack 9, were well represented in their games and contests by such notables as Little John, Will Stutely, the minstrel Alan a Dale. Will Scarlet, Friar Tuck, and Sir Richard of the Lea, in addition to the King's Foresters and Knights of Nottingham.

Den 4 called the meeting to order, with Billy Reynolds and Raymond Krom conducting the opening ceremony. Dressed in their colorful costumes of the forest, the four dens demonstrated the results of much research concerning the legendary outlaw who robbed from the rich to give to the poor.

With Dads Andrew Gilday and John Mattice acting as scorekeepers, the archers two by two stepped to the line, drew their bows, and sped their arrows to the mark amid wild cheering.

The prize was carried off by Den 3, with Dens 2 and 4 tied for second place.

Another contest which aroused much interest was the art exhibit of scenes of Robin Hood drawn by the Cubs. Mrs. Robert Tremper and J. Wesley Drake, district commissioner of the Southern District, served as judges. First prize was awarded to Stephen Paul; second prize to Karl Tienken, and third prize to Billy Daum.

Robin Hood himself, alias Cubmaster Bob Elliott, welcomed a new member and his family into the band when he awarded a Bobcat pin and red feather to Henry Houghtaling. Other awards were as follows: Wolf badges to Andrew Gilday, Robert Mearlow, Bruce Smalling and Kenneth White; gold arrows on wolf badges to Gerard Buboltz, Andrew Gilday, John McCullough and Maris Tirums; and silver arrow on wolf badge to Gerard Buboltz. Alfred Finley and Robert Maerlow each received denner's stripes, and John McCullough, an assistant denner's stripe.

As Robin Hood left the scene, another famous character joined the group, Friar Tuck, otherwise known as Bob Tremper, Scoutmaster of Troop 11, made a surprise appearance to award the contest prizes. He led the large assemblage in songs and merrymaking.

Mrs. Carmen Boomhower, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. William Daum, served on the ideas committee.

Den exhibits included Robin Hood marionettes, a model castle with clay figures, and a variety of accessories to the costumes made by the Cubs and their mothers.

During the parents meeting, Mrs. Robert Marlow, new Den Mother of Den 4, St. Remy, was introduced. An invitation from Scout Executive George V. Dennis was extended by letter to all Scouts and their families to attend the Kingston Area Community Chest kick-off at Kingston High School on Wednesday evening, Oct. 5, a 7:30 p. m.

Other items discussed included the Scout insurance plan, possible good-will projects for the pack, and plans for future meetings. Mrs. Gottfried Berger, chairman of the ideas committee for October, announced a Halloween party to be held on Oct. 24. Refreshments ended the festivities of Sherwood Forest, with Den 4 serving as hosts.

Cub Scouts of Pack 7 opened their formal fall program with a covered dish supper in St. John's Hall. Many parents and friends were in attendance. The committee in charge included Mrs. Robert Peebles, chairman; Mrs. Robert ploss, Mrs. John Bechtold, Mrs. Lester Markle, Mrs. Harold Smith and Mrs. John Raskoskie.

IN KEEPING WITH the theme for the month, Robin Hood, the cubs performed many feats of skill under the direction of Vernon Beesmer and Vincent McDermott.

During a short parents meeting plans were made to start a food basket to circulate throughout the pack and to conduct a cake sale.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Adams and Mr. and Mrs. Chester Joy were appointed to take charge of the October Pack meeting with Bee Keepers as the theme.

DR. ROBERT PLOSS, assistant cubmaster welcomed Jeffry Scott into the pack. A transfer from Poughkeepsie, Bobby Ploss was awarded Denner stripes and a gold arrow for his Lion badge and Danny Ryan received assistant Denner stripes. The next meeting will be held on Oct. 24.

Suggest Drunk Clinic

Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 30 (AP)—A group of University of Rochester sociologists has has recommended that the city establish a treatment center for the chronic police court drunk. The sociologists, headed by Dr. C. Wayne Gordon and Dr. David Pittman, conducted an 18-month study of alcoholism under a $9,000 grant from the New York State Mental Health Commission. In a report before a Rochester Chamber of Commerce meeting yesterday, they proposed that the city set up a center aimed at treating and rehabilitating the chronic drunk.

The committee in charge included Mrs. Robert Peebles, chairman; Mrs. Robert ploss, Mrs. John Bechtold, Mrs. Lester Markle, Mrs. Harold Smith and Mrs. John Raskoskie.

IN KEEPING WITH the theme for the month, Robin Hood, the cubs performed many feats of skill under the direction of Vernon Beesmer and Vincent McDermott.

During a short parents meeting plans were made to start a food basket to circulate throughout the pack and to conduct a cake sale.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Adams and Mr. and Mrs. Chester Joy were appointed to take charge of the October Pack meeting with Bee Keepers as the theme.

DR. ROBERT PLOSS, assistant cubmaster welcomed Jeffry Scott into the pack. A transfer from Poughkeepsie, Bobby Ploss was awarded Denner stripes and a gold arrow for his Lion badge and Danny Ryan received assistant Denner stripes. The next meeting will be held on Oct. 24.

Suggest Drunk Clinic

Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 30 (AP)—A group of University of Rochester sociologists has has recommended that the city establish a treatment center for the chronic police court drunk. The sociologists, headed by Dr. C. Wayne Gordon and Dr. David Pittman, conducted an 18-month study of alcoholism under a $9,000 grant from the New York State Mental Health Commission. In a report before a Rochester Chamber of Commerce meeting yesterday, they proposed that the city set up a center aimed at treating and rehabilitating the chronic drunk.
